

War Veterans of Stirling And Rawdon Honoured At Reception

Silver Plaques And Pens Presented To Veterans By Reeves of Municipalities

War Veterans of World War II from Stirling Village and Rawdon Township were welcomed home at a joint reception held on Stirling Fair Grounds on Monday. A heavy downpour of rain interrupted the program during the afternoon but failed to dampen the festivities.

The programme opened with a parade of Veterans, Girl Guides, Wolf Cubs, and Brownies, headed by Stirling Citizens' Band, from the High School Grounds. On their arrival at the grounds they were greeted by a large crowd of citizens of the community and were officially welcomed by R. A. Patterson, Chairman.

Fred Wilson, M.P.P.

Speaker

Fred Wilson, M.P.P. for West Hastings, was the speaker, and said in part:

"Almost 14 months have passed since victory in Europe was gained and the final struggle was dramatically ended last August. Whatever has happened since or whatever may happen in the future it is well to remember what might be happening now if we had been defeated. Imagine our position today if our enemies had won. There are no words that can describe adequately the suffering and calamities that would be afflicting us now. Instead of being wretched slaves without a country, without freedom and without hope, we are living today in Canada free and safe with probably the best living conditions in the whole world, because we had men such as these to put on the uniform of the King and offer their all in every theater of the war.

"After the Flag Waving and Cheers, Parades and Official Welcomes are over, let us make sure Canada is a better place in which to live. Let us see that these men are re-established in civilian life.

No Government can do all to rehabilitate, they set up machinery, but the real responsibility rests with every individual in every community in which they live.

Any person who helps to reestablish one of these boys will not only be helping the veteran but will also be the richer himself for having done so."

In closing Mr. Wilson urged his hearers to make sure they were worthy of those who will never return.

Honour Those Who Fell

The names of those who paid the Supreme Sacrifice from Stirling, were read by H. R. Tompkins, and those from Rawdon by Deputy Reeve, Wilfred Spencer, followed by two minutes silence. The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by W.O. 2 J. B. Furnish, of RCAF Station, Trenton.

Following are the names of those who fell:

Among the war brides expected to dock at Halifax today aboard the S. S. Queen Mary, is Mrs. Anita Herrington, wife of Pte. Herrington, of Springbrook.

Receives Posthumous Award

At a special ceremony at the office of the American Consul-General, Toronto, on Tuesday, Robert, seven-year-old son of Mrs. A. Martin, Teddington Park Blvd., Toronto, and the late Major Ivan H. Martin, was presented with the distinguished Service Cross (posthumous) an American Award won by his father at St. Lambert. The citation was read by the Consul-General, A. C. Frost, and was over the signature of Lieut.-Gen. W. B. Smith, U.S.A., Chief of Staff for General Eisenhower.

Major Martin's citation read in part: "Major Ivan H. Martin, Company B, Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, Canadian Army, for extraordinary heroism in action from 18 to 21 August, 1944. In the course of operations in the fanatically defended town of St. Lambert, Major Martin displayed the highest degree of personal heroism. Both during the initial attack on the city and later during the defensive operations when his command was continually harassed by vicious and counter attacks by the enemy, he constantly appeared at the scene of the thickest fighting. He offered his men a magnificent example which inspired them to hold their positions against the strongest efforts for a numerically superior enemy, and his conduct was consistent with the finest military traditions."

ODDFELLOWS HOLD DECORATION DAY

Stirling cemetery was a profusion of blooms on Sunday afternoon as Stirling Oddfellows paid their annual floral tribute to those of their number who have finished their work on earth.

One of the hottest days of the year saw a goodly number of Oddfellows march from the lodgeroom on Front St. to the cemetery behind the Stirling Citizen's Band. Bro. E. Carlisle acted as Marshal. A brief stop was made at the Cenotaph, where Bro. Harry Hulin placed a wreath, in honour of those who lost their lives in the two great wars, followed by a moment's silence.

On their arrival at the cemetery, the brethren were greeted by a large number of citizens of Stirling and the surrounding district, who had gathered to witness the impressive ceremony. A circle was formed around a flag and as the name of each departed brother was read by Bro. E. Carlisle, a member stepped from the circle and deposited his bouquet of flowers at the base of the flag. At the conclusion of this part of the ceremony, the flowers were placed on the individual graves.

The decoration charge was given by Acting Noble Grand H. R. Tompkins and Bro. Geo. Weaver as chaplain.

Appointment of 3 New Teachers Confirmed By Board of Education

Two Vacancies At The High School And One At Public School Have Been Filled

The appointment of three new teachers, two on the High School Staff and one on the Public School Staff, was confirmed by the Board of Education at its regular meeting held on Friday last.

Reporting for the teachers' committee, Mr. C. I. Hutton stated two new teachers had been engaged for the High School, John Munro, replacing Mr. Paul, at a salary, of $2200 and D. Garrison, replacing Miss Playle, at a salary of $1800. Other members of the staff reengaged were J. L. Good, principal $2900; Miss B. Linnen, French and Home Economics, $2100; and Miss Armour, Latin and History $1900.

One new appointment had been made to the Public School Staff, Miss J. Nephew, of Finch, Ont., at a salary of $1300, to replace Miss Armstrong who had resigned. The remainder of the staff would be the same as last year stated Mr. Hutton.

The report of the committee was adopted on motion of Messrs. J. B. Belshaw and N. E. Eggleton.

Principal J. L. Good of the High School reported the exams over and quite satisfactory. The upper school results would not be known until later. He reported the need of a fying cabinet for the lady teachers; teachers' desks, and cupboards for the girls' gym costumes. These matters were referred to the property committee.

Mr. Good was authorized to interview the prospective Grade IX pupils and visit the pupils' projects during the summer vacation.

Mr. Belshaw reported for the property committee and pointed out that the school garden needed attention. He was authorized to interview the caretaker regarding the matter.

R. A. Patterson, chairman of Finance, presented the following accounts for payment.

Munro Clan Gathers

The annual gathering of the Munro Clan was held at Silver Lake on Monday, with members of the clan being present from St. Catharines, Waterford, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Norwood, Stirling, Madoc, Maberly, Perth and Ottawa. A feature of the day's program was an address by Mr. John Munro, of Waterford, on the original Munro Clan Chieftain's Castle, near Inverness, Scotland, which he visited while serving with the armed forces overseas.

Those attending from Stirling were Mr. and Mrs. L. Munro and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Munro and son, Wayne.

Trebles Tourney At Local Greens

Twenty Rinks Compete In Draw—Rouleau's Rink Get High Honours Of The Day

With ideal weather conditions prevailing, Stirling Lawn Bowling Club held its annual Men's Trebles' Tournament yesterday afternoon and evening. A full double draw, 20 rinks, was in competition including five from Belleville, four from Campbellford, two from Kingston, four from Stirling and one each from Havelock, Hastings, Madoc, Port Hope and Brighton. Three 12 end games were played, with a maximum of 15 points allowed, and some exceptionally keen bowling was witnessed.

A hot supper was served by the ladies of the Stirling Club.

First honours went to a Kingston rink of H. Neville, E. Arnel, and Paul Rouleau, with three wins and a score of 44 plus 12. Each member of the winning rink received a saniboy. Second prize was won by a Campbellford rink of D. Bennett, L. Glover and A. Meyers, with 3 wins and a score of 42 plus 3. Electric lamps were given as prizes. Third prize, consisting of Baby Ben Clocks, also went to a Campbellford rink of J. Linton, J. Archer and Mr. Armitage, with a score of 40 plus 9. Honours for two wins and fourth prize went to a Belleville rink of G. Hyde, Price and A. Watkins. Bill folds were given as prizes. Honours for one win were taken by a local rink of Wm. Reynolds, R. Hermiston and A. Livingstone, who received silver relish dishes for prizes.

BOWLING NOTES

Two rinks of Stirling bowlers attended the Men's Doubles Tournament in Belleville, on Monday with A. Livingstone and W. T. Elliott winning the prize for one win. The other rink consisted of F. R. Mallory and R. E. Fox.

Provincial Subsidy of One Mill On The General Rate Makes Actual Levy 44 M.

The tax rate for the current year for the village of Stirling was struck at 45 mills at the regular meeting of Council held in the Council Chambers, on Friday evening with the Provincial Subsidy of one mill on general expenses deducted the actual levy on the Village Assessment will be 44 mills—the same as last year.

The various departments of the Village business were discussed in detail by members of the council, showing the Village finances in good condition.

In striking the rate there was a decrease of 2.1 mills in the school levy also slight decreases in hydrant rentals, Board of Health, and debentures. The County Rate shows an increase of half a mill while a levy of 2 mills was made to cover the cost of the presentation to the returned men.

A comparative table of the mill rate for 1945 and 1946 is as follows:

	Mills	Mills
	1945	1946
County Rate	7.60	8.10
Schools	12.10	10.00
Library	1.00	1.00

TAX RATE THE SAME

Good news for the property owners of the Village is contained in the announcement of current year's tax rate at 44 mills. This is the same as last year, in spite of the two mill special levy to cover the cost of the presentation to the returned men of the Village.

Analysis of the 44 mill rate shows half a mill increase in the county rate and decreases of 2.10 in the school levy, due to a smaller requisition by the Board of Education. .05 mills for hydrant rentals; .20 mills for Board of Health; .15 mills for debentures; while the levy for street lighting, library, and the general rate remains the same, in spite of the upward trend in salaries and other costs.

This is no mean accomplishment by the village fathers and when one considers the small proportion of the taxes collected over which Council has direct control, and the many calls upon the treasury, its members have done exceedingly well.

— V —

TIME TO CHECK-UP

The News-Argus believes it would be well for the Village authorities to give consideration to the checking of speed friends who are acquiring the habit of speeding through this Village at the same rate as though they were out on an open stretch of highway.

The highways leading into the Village are all down grade and no doubt this fact alone accounts for a good deal of traffic reaching the intersection at the corner of North and Front streets at such a high rate of speed. There may be some excuse for strangers who are unfamiliar with the existing conditions, but the worst offenders are truckers and motorists who are through the village frequently and something should be done to put a stop to this practice in the interests of the general safety of the citizens of the village.

— V —

CUT THOSE WEEDS

Now is the time to make a clean-up of the noxious weeds. Under the provisions of the weed Control Act, all noxious weeds must be destroyed as often as it is necessary to prevent the seed maturing. If the owners of property do not cut the weeds, the municipalities have the right to have them cut and charge the cost of the work against the respective properties.

The streets committee of the Village Council arranges to have the weeds along the streets cut and the citizens should follow their example. The same applies to the surrounding rural parts. What undoubtedly constitutes a menace to those farmers who are making an honest effort to keep their farms clean is the crop of weeds found on vacant lots and roadsides and on neighbouring farms, whose owners are careless about such things. Everyone should co-operate and do his bit in the war against weeds.

— V —

DON'T FEAR TO PRAISE

How is it that words of praise are so grudgingly spoken, and so few persons are found in the retail trade of that desirable commodity?

Fault-finders are everywhere. You run against them at each street corner. They are as plentiful as thorns on a rosebush, and quite as disagreeable to come in contact with. Bloodletting and leaving a scar seems to be their chief vocation in life; and their greatest joy is found in pointing out the typographical error in the paper, or in directing the attention of the audience to the false notes in the songs or the ungrammatical expressions in the speaker's language.

It is only by praise that the best can be produced from a man. An ounce of praise will produce better results than a pound of blame. Many a boy would have become a brilliant success in life had a word of praise been given at the proper time.

WATCH FOR POISON IVY

The season for outdoor recreation has arrived. People will find their pleasures in field and wood; by the lake and river, after a long winter of indoor living. With the pleasures of the open air, come certain dangers also.

Poison ivy can add considerably to the trials of outdoor life, especially if children are present, as their tender skin is more susceptible to infection. Various remedies are suggested for its treatment, some being more effective in certain cases. The ever-useful epsom salts applied in solution have stood the test of time for many people. A new treatment, said to have given relief to some victims is that of rubbing the affected parts with the inside of a banana skin. The main object in the treatment seems to isolate the infection by applying an antiseptic to the surrounding area, thereby preventing its spread.

Of prime importance also is the taking of every precaution to avoid the troublesome weed. Everyone ought to be able to recognize poison ivy, which might be met with anywhere in the out-of-doors. It closely resembles the Virginia Creeper, and is to be found in clumps on the ground, or climbing trees and fences. Any creeper having leaves in groups of three should be avoided until definitely identified.

A summer's outing can be marred for anyone by poisoning. It leaves a predisposition in many of its victims for years after, so that even a drive through an area where poison ivy grows can result in a painful flare-up of the distressing irritation. The first thing to do on finding oneself to have come in contact with it is to thoroughly wash the hands with strong laundry soap, for anything touched becomes a potential carrier. The next thing is to apply treatment as promptly as possible.

— V —

With the local haying season now in full swing, many farmers are having difficulty in procuring the necessary labour to harvest the crop. In past years some of the local citizens have helped their farmer friends on half holidays and in the evenings and there is no doubt but that any assistance given will be greatly appreciated.

Schoolboy Boners

Nero was a cruel tyranny who would torture his poor subjects by playing the fiddle to them.

Joan of Arc was burned because they thought she was a witchess, but centuries after she was beautified by the Pope.

Cromwell's real failure was that he thought Englishmen better than they really were, but before he died he did he found out his mistake.

In the reign of George the Third people were beginning to think more about farming. A plain farmer named Bakewell taught the people how to improve the breeds of sheep so that many more legs of mutton could be got off a sheep than ever before. As there was more meat there were more people to eat it, and the population became a great deal larger.

The difference between a king and a president is that a king is the son of his father, but a president isn't. Martin Luther died a horrible death. He was excommunicated by a bull.

King Richard was captured and put in prison by the German Emperor, but the English people were very fond of their ruler, so they boiled him out.

Raleigh died in James I's reign and started smoking.

They gave William IV a lovely funeral. It took six men to carry the beer.

The Battle of Trafalgar was fought on sea, therefore it is sometimes called Waterloo.

PAY TRIBUTE TO BRIGHTON PAPER AT BANQUET

Continuing their pleasant custom established a year ago, Brighton Chamber of Commerce held a testimonial dinner on Monday evening, June 24th, at Presqu'le Hotel, as a tribute to The Brighton Ensign on the occasion of its seventy-fifth anniversary year. Around a hundred persons were seated at the numerous tables in the spacious dining room and enjoyed the excellent dinner.

Uncle Hy Says

There's a smell to the water that one must dislike, it's really too hot to think of a hike, and everyone's lazy, and good reason why, for now come the dog days, the month of July.

The big ones now drowse on the bed of the lake, and the deeper the better, no bait will they take, the partidge are walking their young on the sly, for this now is summer, the month of July.

And Towser, poor Towser is now much disturbed, the Dog Star is roaming, unmuzzled, uncurbed, and if Towser should bite, all good intentions believe, he'll chance being shot, in the month of July.

Haggerty directed the singing of some fine gospel hymns. Rev. W. H. Walker offered prayer and welcomed the Young People to the Church. Mr. Alex McCurdy told the story of how the hymn "The Ninety and Nine" came to be written and then the hymn was sung by the congregation. The Misses Jean Haggerty, Joyce Wallace and Margaret Haggerty contributed a song. The address was given by Arthur Wilson on "Making the Most of Me."

Despite the intense heat a large congregation gathered in Fuller United Church on Sunday afternoon when an Honour Roll was unveiled to serve as a record of those men from the community who served in the forces. Mr. Kenneth Stewart conducted the service. Mrs. James Wilson presided at the organ and the choir offered appropriate music.

Mr. Bill Rollins, Toronto, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brough.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Vanderwater for dinner at Moira on Sunday.

Mr. Gerald Donnan is visiting at his uncle's, Mr. James Chambers, of Whitby.

Dominion Day guests of Sarah and Arthur Wilson were Mrs. Annie Bates, Mrs. Ross McNavy, Ruth and Keith of Avondale.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart spent Thursday at Gelert the guests of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Schrader and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell McCurdy, of Coneseon, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Post, of Belleville, Mr. John McCurdy, of Coneseon, were Dominion Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy McCurdy.

Master Stewart Bailey, Toronto, is spending his summer holidays with Mr. Ben Brough.

Mrs. Foster Wilson, spent the Dominion Day holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barlow.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy McCurdy, Joan and Don were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Pulver, of Gore.

Brigadier R. A. Macfarlane, D.S.O.

1946 Stylemaster Sedan Makes First Trans-Canada Trip to Win Todd Medal for Brig. R. A. Macfarlane

DOWN "CANADA'S MAIN STREET"—The Trans-Canada Highway, which links province to province, from sea to sea, and opens the way to a great new era of tourist travel.

NEARING THE END OF THE TRAIL—J. V. Johnson and George Warren of the Victoria Automobile Club, meet Brigadier Macfarlane and his Chevrolet a few miles outside Victoria and escort him into the City.

THROUGH THE ROCKIES—The Chevrolet spent thrilling hours skirting sheer precipices and climbing high mountain roads before it encountered this quiet little valley in Canada's Rocky Range.

THE AWARD—Winning of the Todd Medal, offered in 1912, became possible with completion of the Trans-Canada Highway. It is now awarded to Brig. R. A. Macfarlane for the first authenticated journey from Louisbourg, Cape Breton, to Victoria, B.C., over a specified all-Canadian route.

THE PACIFIC!—After 4,743 miles of rapid, trouble-free driving, Brigadier Macfarlane and his co-driver dip the front wheels of their Chevrolet in the Pacific Ocean—to win the A. E. Todd Gold Medal.

Rolling along "Canada's Main Street"—the Trans-Canada Highway—from coast to coast, Brigadier R. A. Macfarlane, D.S.O., at the wheel of a new 1946 Chevrolet Sedan, has just completed the first ocean-to-ocean automobile trip without leaving Canadian soil.

To win the A. E. Todd Gold Medal—offered in 1912 by the Mayor of Victoria—Brig. Macfarlane left Louisbourg, Nova Scotia, with the salt of the Atlantic on his rear wheels, and after nine days of driving he arrived in Victoria, Vancouver Island, B.C., and dipped his front wheels in the Pacific, having covered

4,743 MILES

The Chevrolet used was a stock 1946 model powered with a standard six-cylinder valve-in-head engine. It was selected by Brig. Macfarlane—who held the responsible posts of Director of Mechanization and Deputy Master-General of Ordnance, at Defence Headquarters, Ottawa—because he is convinced that a "sturdy, light, economical passenger car is ideal for the average Canadian citizen." With his extensive experience of army vehicles, on the testing grounds and on active service in two wars, Brig. Macfarlane made the new Chevrolet his choice for his history-making trip—another "first" for Chevrolet!

GENERAL MOTORS PRODUCTS OF CANADA LIMITED OSHAWA, ONTARIO

Background of Budget

While it is a peacetime budget, yet it is interpreted on Parliament Hill that it contains "hints" of unsettled conditions both at home and abroad so that some of the costs may not recur on similar scale in subsequent years, though Canada is now more prosperous and more further along road of re-employment and reconversion than was anticipated last Autumn when previous budget presented. With ordinary expenditures and others chargeable to demobilization and reconversion involving an expected outlay of $2,769 million, total revenues of $2,510 million, and a reduction of revenues from taxes by about $254 million in a full year under economic conditions similar to those at present, the forecast of a budget deficit for current year of roughly $260 million is significant, especially since it is likely that the deficit may be about $300 million for the current year.

However, it is most significant that nearly 99 per cent of expenditures will be covered from revenues and this means a more rapid approach to the balancing of the budget than it had been expected to be possible only some months ago in the best informed sources in Ottawa.

A rather gloomy note in the budget is envisaged along Parliament Hill in fact that the budget obviously indicates that it cannot be based on the assumption of a general Dominion-Provincial agreement still being reached soon because there is a strong opinion here that the differences are far too great not only between some provinces and the Dominion but also between some provinces and other provinces "to permit of reconciliation at an early date." Indeed, it is emphasized the budget was prepared on assumption that no new general tax agreement could be made shortly.

British Canadian Agreement

"A number of important considerations have now arisen which must be come a matter of reference to the Canadian Government and the United Kingdom Government," said in part Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. James A. MacKinnon, in telling the House of Commons about the delay in British Canadian wheat contracts being signed. "As soon as these matters have been dealt with by the respective governments, negotiations will be resumed in respect of the terms of the proposed contract." He revealed that "substantial" progress had been made on the terms of the agreement in face of the "difficulties" involved in placing the sale of a large volume of wheat on a contract basis for an extended period.

Meanwhile, it can be reported that talks between officials of the Canadian Government and a British delegation, held in Ottawa for the purpose it is said, of entering into a long-term contract for wheat, while these did not end in the actual signing of a contract, yet the story heard on Parliament Hill that one would be signed seemed to be backed up by an assertion of a British spokesman when he said "for it would be suicide for us both if we didn't." This same spokesman flatly contradicted rumor that the United Kingdom would act as Canada's broker on the foreign market selling wheat from Canada under the world price, with the added note that Britain is purchasing wheat from Canada, at $1.55 a bushel and the world price is better than $2.00. Before the war Britain's wheat imports were over 200,000,000 bushels, including about 85,000,000 bushels from Canada, but during the war Britain imported an annual 205,000,000 bushels, with estimates being that the same would continue in post-war years. He also hinted that the agreement with Canada may not be "an exclusive" contract so that Britain may continue to buy wherever supplies could be obtained.

French-Canadians in High Posts

The charges made by Hon. Alexander Tache, speaker of the Quebec Legislature, that "there is not a single French-Canadian out of 25 Deputy Ministers in Ottawa" may be a correct "technical" statement, yet it is emphasized in this capital that, at least, six French-Canadians occupy posts as high as Deputy Ministers such as Gustave Lanctot, Dominion Archivist; Edmond Cloutier, King's Printer; Felix Desrochers, Librarian of Parliament; Jules Castonguay, Chief Electoral Officer of Canada; Paul Leduc, Registrar of the Supreme Court of Canada, and Arthur Thivierge, Civil Service Commissioner. In other words, at least six French-Canadians do hold posts as high as Deputy Ministers or equivalent to same.

Important Statement

"If it is to be the last of the contention that the constitution of this nation cannot be amended in respect of national affairs unless the proposal be subjected to the veto of the great powers who sit in the provincial capitals, then I think this a happy day for Canada," said in part in Parliament, Hon. Louis St. Laurent in discussing the measure to amend the British North America Act with respect to readjustment of the representation in the House of Commons. "This veto business is something which is proving very difficult in the assembly of the United Nations, and if this assembly of the representatives of the Canadian people we can down it forever we shall be performing a service to the Canadian nation."

Farm Wages

It is reported in Ottawa that the average wages of male farm help per day as at May 15, 1946, with board was $2.73 in 1944, $2.04 in 1945, and 3.25 in 1946 and such average wages per month was $61.88, $66.88 and 71.36 in 1944, 1945 and 1946 respectively.

Financial Aid to Operators

In reply to the request for information as to how many Alberta coal mine operators have sought financial aid from Federal Government agencies in order to increase production, Reconstruction Minister Howe has disclosed in Ottawa that the number of coal mine operators in Alberta who have or still are receiving financial aid is 71 and there are nine in British Columbia. "No financial assistants have been refused to any coal mine operator where in the opinion of the emergency coal production board or coal control such assistance would have aided the overall situation," he said.

Said in The Capital

"My family and I planned so happily to make our first visit to Canada immediately after the war, and when the word came to us last July that we were being sent to Canada, our excitement was intense," said in an address in Ottawa Viscountess Alexander, wife of Canada's Governor General. "It seems to me a matter of personal interest that there should be more than just learning a few words of the other's language, whether it is French or English," declared Chief Justice Thibault of the Supreme Court of Canada in the course of a talk in this capital. "It must say it is a deplorable thing that there should be among us a lack of unity when all admit that it is of the highest importance." "A thorough medical checkup is essential because criminality is a disease of the mind which must be treated separately," explained in Ottawa on Mr. Justice J. Archambault in an address on the Borstal system for delinquents amongst boys and girls. "The approach of the church to the question of beverage alcohol has been too emotional and fanatical," said in this capital Rev. Albert Johnson, educational secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation. "It must be scientific."

Weekly Wind-Up

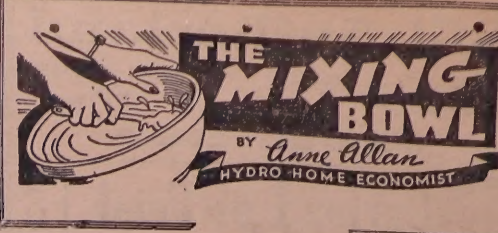

In regard to the widespread claims about nail shortages in Canada, it is stated that in Ottawa that this is not due to production faults since it is now at the highest peak with between 103,000 and 105,000 100-pound kegs rolling off production lines every month. The shortages are blamed here on the building boom along J. H. Campbell, public relations manager of the C.P.R. told the Senate Tourist Committee that this railway intends to continue its long-range programme in tourist advertising by trying to diffuse the tourist traffic over the widest possible area throughout the year. Plans to give veterans top priority in purchasing farm machinery and surplus war assets through regular retail channels have been placed before the Veterans Committee of Parliament by J. S. Crawford, farm equipment chief of the Veterans' Land Act. A member of Parliament has protested in the House of Commons against "encroachment" of staff employees of the House on office space and quarters originally occupied and destined for members of Parliament. The vote in Parliament in favor of the plan of the Government for increasing membership of the House of Commons from 245 to 255 was 107-22 though the vote only came after four amendments to the proposal were rejected. Under this new plan of representation, which will be in effect before the next general election in Canada, Quebec would get 8 more seats, British Columbia 2 more, and Ontario and Nova Scotia one each with Prince Edward Island, Yukon, Alberta and New Brunswick remaining unchanged and Manitoba as well as Saskatchewan losing a seat. There were 4,964 army court-martial convictions for desertion in Canada from Jan. 1, 1945 to May 1, 1946, this being revealed in Ottawa by Defence Minister Douglas Abbott.

Hello Homemakers! The teacher at the red schoolhouse may be on holidays, but mother has her hands full. Mother is a great psychologist and guardian of children whether they are playing indoors or outside. During their freedom outdoors children must be warned of countless things they cannot do. Three of the most important things children must not do are:

1. Children must not fire air rifles at the glass and porcelain insulators on hydro and telephone lines. These glass knobs may be broken by stones thrown by thoughtless children. To make repairs requires expense and time.
2. Children should never climb hydro poles or electric standards.
3. Flying a kite made with wire is dangerous. If it becomes tangled in high voltage wires, the electric current may burn the playful child. He may never get a strapping for this kind of misbehavior because the terrible electric shock may confine him to bed during his whole vacation. You may have another way of teaching him how and where to play, but please don't forget the danger of wire kites, broken electric fixtures and bare electric wires.

And now to answer your requests:

HOW MAY STRAWBERRIES BE CANNED TO PREVENT FLOATING AND TO RETAIN THEIR ORIGINAL COLOR?

By pre-cooking for five minutes in a syrup, then allowing the berries to stand in the syrup for a few hours before packing in jars and processing. After canning, store jars in a dark place to retain color of berries.

HOW LONG SHOULD JARS BE BOILED TO STERILIZE THEM?

We recommend washing jars in hot suds. Rinse jars thoroughly, place in a pan of clear water with folded cloth in bottom of pan, set on electric element and boil for at least 15 minutes.

MAY FRUIT BE CANNED SUCCESSFULLY WITHOUT SUGAR?

Yes, by using water in place of syrup.

IN THE HOT WATER BATH METHOD OF PROCESSING IS IT ALL RIGHT TO ALLOW JARS TO COOL IN THE WATER?

No. The product will be overcooked and certain types of spoilage may develop due to slow cooling.

IF A JAR DOES NOT SEAL AND MUST BE REPROCESSED DOES IT HAVE TO BE PROCESSED THE FULL LENGTH OF TIME?

Just what should be done with the unsealed jar will depend upon the cause. If the cap or lid is at fault and the product is a fruit, simply replace cap or lid with new one and process in water bath until product reaches boiling point. If it is a non-acid food it should be reprocessed approximately one-fourth to one-third the regular processing period. If the jar is defective the product should be repacked. It is doubtful if this will be profitable since the reprocessing would need to be of approximately the same length as a normal period for that particular product. Few foods will stand up under such treatment.

HOW DO YOU STERILIZE LIDS WITH METAL BAND AND THE ATTACHED RINGS?

Dip lids with compound gasket into boiling water.

HOW CAN FLAVOUR OF PINE BE PREVENTED IN CANNED PEACHES?

Long standing in brine gives salty taste and strong brine saturates fruit. Use 1 tsp. of salt to 1 qt. cold water for a bath to prevent discoloration while peaches are being prepared.

HOW DO YOU PREHEAT FOR CANNING AN ELECTRIC OVEN WITH AUTOMATIC CONTROL WHICH REGISTERS PREHEAT, BROIL AND BAKE?

Set control at Bake and preheat to 275 degs.

Anne Allan invite you to write to her in care of the News-Argus. Send in your suggestion on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

BANK OF MONTREAL

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

For many of our borrowing customers, saving is still the prime consideration. For them, the time to borrow is equally the time to save... borrowing and saving go hand in hand.

Thousands of our borrowers have sizable holdings of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates, which they leave with us for safekeeping. Indeed, a good many have substantial cash reserves in their savings accounts.

Why, then, do they borrow from the Bank?

Simply because they want to keep their savings intact and undisturbed—as a bulwark of security.

These people are performing a real service not only to themselves, but to their fellow citizens and to the country at large...

By maintaining their programme of regular saving, they are guarding against inflation!

How? ... By conservation.

Conservation in personal financing is practised by a large proportion of our customers. By borrowing for some useful purpose, and by making regular repayments on their loan, they are—in reality—saving for a useful purpose, and increasing profitable production for the community. Meanwhile, they are keeping their savings intact.

This is wise spending, wise borrowing and wise saving.

These people are good customers, they are good citizens and their personal financing is sound.

This is conservation—the first requisite for personal security—the first attribute of good citizenship...

To Our Customers,

we say: "Don't borrow unless you have to, but if you need money for some useful purpose, by all means get a loan from the Bank."

We also say: "Don't sell your Victory Bonds... if you need cash, get a low-cost loan and pay it back out of future earnings."

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

CONTROL CABBAGE CAULIFLOWER PESTS

Imported cabbage worms are the velvety green caterpillars which feed on cabbage and cauliflowers, riddling the foliage with holes of irregular shape and size. Two other caterpillars are sometimes troublesome, the cabbage looper and the larva of the diamond black moth, but all three species may be controlled quite easily with arsenical or derris dusts. With late cabbage, the plants should be dusted with one part of lead arsenate diluted with four parts of hydrated lime or talc, preferably in the early morning or late evening when the foliage is wet with dew. A light even coating should be applied, particular attention being paid to the centres of the plants where feeding is most prevalent. Thirty or 40 pounds of dust to the acre should be ample.

Lead arsenate is considerably more effective than calcium arsenate for the imported cabbage worm, and for this reason a home-mixed lead arsenate is to be preferred to ready-made calcium arsenate dusts. Injury to late cabbage occurring in July is usually of little importance because the plants eventually outgrow the early injury, so the first dust should be applied during the first week in August and the applications repeated at ten-day intervals. A minimum of two applications will be required to protect the plants where the insects are numerous and three to four applications in outbreak years.

Early cabbage in some districts usually require no treatment for the imported cabbage worm, but in outbreak years considerable injury may occur to the heads shortly before harvest. In that case, a proprietary derris dust should be substituted for the arsenical because derris residue is not poisonous to human beings. Because of the poisonous residue, arsenical dusts should definitely not be used on cauliflower once the heads have started to form.

COOK THEM FIRST THEN FREEZE THEM

All frozen vegetables require some cooking whether they are to be served hot or cold as in salad. Cooking methods are the same for frozen vegetables as for fresh vegetables except that the frozen require a much shorter cooking period—about one-third to one-half of the time. Because frozen vegetables have been partially pre-cooked in the blanching process, and freezing softens the tissues still further, care must be taken not to overcook them.

If more than one package of frozen vegetables are to be cooked at one time, the saucepan used should be a large enough diameter to allow them to rest on the bottom of the pan, that is, one frozen block should not be placed on another. Frozen vegetables should be put on to cook while still frozen. Thawing the vegetables, except corn on the cob, is not recommended. Corn on the cob should be thawed before cooking, otherwise the kernels will be overcooked before the cob is hot.

In the methods of cooking, as recommended by the Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, there are five main considerations—(1) Use a tight-fitting covered saucepan. (2) With dry pack vegetables—use one-half cup of boiling water and one-third teaspoon of salt to one pint container of vegetables (four servings). This is sufficient for most vegetables, but for cauliflower three-quarters of a cup of water is required. Corn on the cob should be covered with water. With brine pack vegetables—use only one or two tablespoons of boiling water to prevent vegetables from scorching as they begin to thaw. No additional salt is required. (3) To hasten thawing and to get uniform cooking, break the melting mass apart with a fork. This applies particularly to asparagus, broccoli, and spinach. (4) Bring water or brine to boiling point as quickly as possible after adding the vegetable, and (5) when the water or brine begins to boil, reduce the heat so that the liquid boils gently for the rest of the period. An important point is—count the time of cooking from the moment the water reaches boiling point.

Full details of how to freeze vegetables and how to cook them are given in Household Bulletin No. 21 "Freezing Fruits and Vegetables", prepared by the Consumer Section. A Copy may be obtained by writing to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

TWO MOST IMPORTANT THINGS IN POULTRY

As the result of a two week's survey across Canada, undertaken to confirm what is most needed to maintain and hold Canada's place in the world egg trade, the poultry authorities of the Dominion Department of Agriculture declare that the two most important things in the Canadian poultry industry this year are to obtain every possible egg from existing yearlings and to make the best possible job of maturing growing pullets. Canada needs every egg these pullets and existing yearlings can lay to meet domestic demand that fill export contracts of 1946 and 1947, as Britain is shorter on egg supplies this year than in any year during the war.

This year, Canada has the finest crop of early pullets ever started in the Dominion. Compared with 1945 there were 35 per cent more to the end of March; 8.7 per cent more to the end of May. Moreover, they are vigorous, and the mortality reported is at an almost all-time low.

The present scarcity of feed, causing the forced use of more pasture, may be a blessing in disguise, say the authorities. It should assure a stronger, more vigorous growth, and a bigger pullet equipped to lay longer. To date, the showing made in filling fresh shell and storage contracts is good, but there still remain the dried egg and Fall fresh shell contracts to be completed.

PAY 3 CENTS BOX

Though there was some opposition, Belleville district cheese board voted to pay the 3 cents per box on cheese while in warehouse at Belleville prior to shipment to Montreal.

VALUABLE CROPS

Forage crops increase the fertility of the soil on which they grow. They make profitable use of lands unsuited for other crops, they ensure a more stabilized agriculture, and they provide a substantial increase in the national revenue.—Agricultural Institute Review.

Here Is Your Budget

Highlights of the tax change portion of the Dominion Government Budget follow:

"Substantial" personal income tax reductions announced but none effective until Jan. 1, 1947.

Exemptions on personal income tax or single persons raised from $650 to $750—effective Jan. 1, 1947.

Exemptions on personal income tax for married persons raised from $1200 to $1500—effective Jan. 1, 1947.

Present tax credits allowed in personal income tax for dependents to be replaced by deductions from income—effective Jan. 1, 1947.

Straight deduction from income for personal income tax purposes to be allowed for each dependent over 16—effective Jan. 1, 1947.

All children to be classed as family allowance recipients for personal income tax purposes—effective Jan. 1, 1947.

Flat deduction of $100 to be allowed from income for personal income tax purposes for each child eligible to receive family allowances—effective Jan. 1, 1947.

Complete overhauling and simplification of personal income tax rate structure proposed.

Corporation tax cut from 40 to 30 percent.

Excess profits tax removed from partnerships and sole proprietorships. Excess profits tax reduced from 20 to 15 per cent.

Taxation of husband and working wife placed on more equitable basis. New five-year taxation agreement offered to provinces on an optional basis.

Federal succession duty rates doubled with provincial taxes allowable as a deduction.

Patronage dividends of co-operatives and similar payments allowed as tax deduction.

Co-operatives starting business after Dec. 31, 1946, given three-year exemption.

Mutual fire, casualty and automobile insurance companies subject to tax, with dividends deductible.

Farmers and fishermen to be allowed to pay tax on the basis of their average income over a three-year period.

Board of tax appeals to be established to hear appeals from income tax on the basis of their average income over a three-year period.

Board of tax appeals to be established to hear appeals from income tax assessments for 1946 and succeeding years.

Minor tariff changes with no increases.

BROTHER, SISTER HOLD REUNION

After 12 years a brother and sister met again, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McKeown, of Bonarlaw, Pte. Ralph McKeown left home and went to the Sudbury district 12 years ago. He spent several years there as a laborer until 1942. He enlisted in the Royal Canadian Engineers. He had a few days' embarkation leave he spent with his parents here. His sister was absent at the time visiting her aunt in Windsor. Pte. McKeown went overseas and Marion entered the profession of nursing in Kingston General Hospital, graduating a year ago. She accepted a position at Windsor, where she is employed at present. She returned to her home here this week for a 10 day vacation to meet her brother.

Pte. McKeown arrived a few weeks ago from overseas. They have three brothers, Garland McKeown, a graduate of Toronto University, Cyril Mc-

Keown, the cheesemaker at Concession, and Kenneth McKeown, also of Concession.

Entered Into Rest

MISS ROSE FULLCHER

Miss Rose Fulcher of this village died in Belleville General Hospital on Sunday, June 23rd, after an illness of three months' duration.

The late Miss Fulcher was born 69 years ago in England and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Fulcher. She came to Canada as a young girl and went to St. Catharines 58 years ago, and for eighteen years was engaged as housekeeper with the family of Mr. A. H. Collins and in this position she lived at Banff, Alberta; Winnipeg, Manitoba; Windsor, and Toronto. For eight years she also lived at Adolphustown and for the past nine months she made her home in Stirling. She was a member of the church of England.

The funeral took place from Duffin's Funeral Parlors on Tuesday at 2 p.m. Interment in Stirling cemetery.

MARMORA HOUSE LOST IN FIRE

Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the residence of Gordon Cribb, Marmora township war veteran about 4:15 p.m. Friday.

THE BRIDGE BUILDER

An old man, going a lone highway. Came at the evening, cold and gray, To a chasm, vast and deep and wide, Through which was flowing a sullen tide.

The old man crossed in the twilight dim— That sullen stream had no fears for him; But he turned, when he reached the other side, And built a bridge to span the tide.

"You are wasting strength in building here,"

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near "Your journey will end with the ending day; You never again must pass this way You have crossed the chasm, deep and wide, Why build you the bridge at the eventide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head, "Good friend, in the path I have come," he said,

"There followeth after me today A youth whose feet must pass this way This chasm that has been naught to me

To that fair-haired youth may a pit-fall be. He, too must cross in the twilight dim Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

MORE MONEY

from GRAINS

Ontario farmers found long ago that it was more profitable to feed livestock and poultry than it was to market their grains as such.

Today they are feeding not only nearly all their own grain but large quantities of Western oats, barley and wheat.

Whether you are feeding Western or local grains, you can make more money if you add SHUR-GAIN Concentrates to your grain and feed BALANCED rations to all our live-stock and poultry than you can by feeding grain alone.

Shur-Gain Concentrates contain the

AN INDUSTRY Pledged TO THE FURTHERANCE OF AGRICULTURE

Founded and developed on the basis of helpfulness to the farmer, the implement industry is entirely dependent on the prosperity of agriculture for its own success.

Through the years, the implement maker has, with quality of product and genuinely helpful service, won the high regard and goodwill of the users of his product. There are few farmers who do not value sincerely the service of the implement company.

The farmer and the implement maker have mutual interests in the welfare of agriculture and its progress towards higher standards and improved methods. Working for the common cause both have contributed much to the betterment of farming in general.

In the past, new developments in equipment have enabled the farmer to do his work in less time and at less cost. Such equipment has helped the farmer offset adverse conditions such as drought and soil drifting, to combat insect pests and other types of crop destroyers, and to replace manpower in times of labour shortage. The self-binder, the tractor and power farming machines, the one-way disc and the pull-type combine, each in its time has helped the farmer in making his efforts successful and profitable.

Achievements in the past have been notable and fruitful. Setbacks from time to time delayed but did not prevent the onward march of agriculture. And the future will bring advances in farming, too.

The self-propelled combine, perfected by Massey-Harris prior to the war, has opened up new fields of possibilities in implement engineering, and other new machine developments assure that, in his efforts to further improve agriculture, there will be available to the farmer equipment that will offer greater advantages in saving time, labour and expense. Massey-Harris is proud of its long association with the farmers of Canada in promoting the welfare of agriculture.

Rev. Fred H. Joblin B.A., after two years in the Chaplaincy services during which he reached France, Holland and Belgium received his discharge last December. For the past six months he has acted as part time assistant at Deer Park United Church, Toronto while continuing his studies from Emmanuel College. He has now been called to be minister at Manor Road United Church Toronto, duties to commence July the first.

Rev. Kingsley J. Joblin, B.A., B.D., for the past six years the minister of Westminster United Church in West-on, has been appointed to the staff of Victoria University, Toronto. His responsibilities will include courses in the English Bible in Victoria College, together with lectures in Religious Pedagogy and New Testament in Emmanuel College for the students in Theology and the students of the United Church Training School.

Rev. Elgie E. M. Joblin, B.A., B.D., whose work has been among the Canadian Indians at Muncey, Ont. has just completed two years post graduate studies at the University of Toronto in preparation for further work among these people. He has been appointed by the Department of Indian Affairs on the nomination of the Board of Home Missions of the United Church to the position of Director of Education for the three Reserves at Muncey. His duties will include the supervision of all educational activities of the new Junior High School and the Seven Day schools on the Reserve together with community and adult education in co-operation with the churches and other agencies at work in the community. This new venture on the Department of Indian Affairs is of considerable interest and importance in view of the increased emphasis on the needs of the Indian people in recent days and represents a sincere attempt to meet those needs with an adequate educational program.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson, Pauline and James moved to Campbellford, on Friday, June 28th.

WHIRLWIND

BY NORMAN NEWCOMB

CHAPTER II

Airline stewardess Sally Alliston arrives at La Guardia field. Dashing First Officer Jimmy Kennedy offers to give her a lift to the city, but she says she already has a date. To his discomfort she walks over to a limousine, and is driven by a chauffeur to the Jethrup mansion where her mother is housekeeper. There she meets her mother and Phillip Jethrup, who is engaged to a society girl. Phillip admits to Sally that he is not happy.

"It was a very nice negligee, dear. Though I must admit that it's a bit too much on the modern side for me."

"Roger will love you in it," Sally!"

"Mother, stop pretending. You know perfectly well that Roger is simply crazy about you. He's trying to get up enough courage to propose."

"I am sure he is not that stupid, dear. Uncle Roger, as you call him, knows perfectly well that we can never be anything more than good friends. A little of the buoyancy went out of the girl. "But why not? Mother, I've told you over and over again that you are sacrificing yourself in vain. Grandfather Jethrup would never let Phillip marry me. Not in a million years."

"The decision will be Phillip's my dear. And I am confident that he will some day realize that he loves you. I will not make matters difficult by giving him a chauffeur for a father-in-law."

"Mother, did you ever stop to think that I might not be in love with Phillip?"

Mrs. Alliston smiled serenely. "It isn't always a question of love, Sally, but of intelligence. Phillip is right for you, therefore you must marry Phillip."

And still smiling serenely, Mrs. Alliston left to inform the Jethrups that she was now ready to have her party begin.

It was a good party despite the little fact that her mother contrived to throw Sally and Phillip together whenever an opportunity presented itself. Never had food been tastier, never had company been gayer, and never, never had Grandfather Jethrup told so many interesting stories about the "good old days."

Letting herself into the apartment overlooking Central Park later, Sally grudgingly admitted to herself that she really liked the old codger. When she was a child, living with her mother at the Jethrups, she had always been somewhat afraid of Grandfather Jethrup. He had a way of barking at her that especially disturbed her that afternoon he'd overheard Phillip telling her about the house he intended to buy her some day! But he'd mellowed somewhat since then—or was it simply because she had agreed with him, let him have his own way? She shrugged her shoulders, dismissing the whole business as red-headed Helen Stafford came out of the kitchen. Why go into details? Why try to analyze a simple thing like that? She was fond of Grandfather Jethrup and that was that.

The bed sagged as Helen added her weight to it.

"Do you think I ought to make a play for Phillip?"

"Hugh? What happened to your high sense of honor?"

"In a way, Mother is right. What is there ahead but years of working and doing without?"

"Mr. Perkin would collapse with horror if he heard you hinting that Comet Airlines doesn't pay enough."

"Oh, I don't mean the salary is too little. I mean doing without luxuries. I'd like to wear a mink coat and have a chauffeur the way other girls do. And Phillip could give me those things and more besides."

"I think you really better go to sleep, Sally." Helen was good humored no longer. "You've had a hard day. You're too tired to wrestle with problems like that."

"What is this conversation, embarrassing you?"

Helen hesitated after she had switched off the light. Then surprisingly, she said, "Yes Sally, it is. I like to believe that all my friends are decent."

"Silly Helen, I was just talking to hear myself talk."

"That's better."

Restless, Sally rolled over onto her back and stared at the piece of moon visible through the curtained window in the wall opposite. Phillip Jethrup. No longer a kid to best at games and such, but an important man, a handsome man, a rich man, who was unhappy and liked her. Of course, Grandfather Jethrup would be serious opposition, but her mother was right in one respect. Ultimately, the decision would be Phillip's to make. A little work on him, a little sympathy when he required it, a little encouragement, a few words of flattery—she could do it, do it as easily as snap her fingers. Wasn't she pretty enough to attract Jimmy Kennedy?

Mike, of course, spotted them the instant they made their appearance on the brick terrace of the cafeteria. He sprang up and bowed very deeply, first to Miss Whoops, then to Sally. His eyes lingered on her as he helped them into seats.

"I know, Mike, blue is my best color. But I wouldn't have worn this dress if I hadn't been brow-beaten into doing so."

"Miss Whoops, the lunch is on me."

"Lunch?" Miss Whoops rose from the table with a twinkle lighting up her face mischievously. "But I've already eaten, Captain White, and I have considerable shopping to do. Please excuse me, Sally, I'll see you again."

Before the girl could stop marveling the old nurse was tripping briskly away.

"Mike, you put her up to it!"

He laughed, waving his hand in a gesture of denial. "I did no such thing, Sally, I was surprised when I saw you."

"She thinks we ought to fall in love with one another. You know, I'm slowly but surely getting angry. Mother and now Miss Whoops. What's wrong with being a bachelor girl?"

"Nothing." He picked up the menu and handed it to her as a parakeet sounded raucously. "I suppose you know, though, that Jimmy intends to do something about correcting your present state? He bragged that he was taking you out this evening."

"That was Helen. Sometimes people can become a pain in the neck, Mike."

"Including the skipper?"

She studied him and smiled. "Of course not. You're one of my favorite people. Quiet, gentle, considerate courteous. I'll pay for my own lunch, though. There's a limit to courtesy."

"Yet who can tell? Perhaps under this exterior is a man you don't know. A passionate, brutal man who's biding his time. Maybe I'm smart enough to know that you're not ready for romance—yet. Maybe this big brother business is just a clever act."

"Jimmy should take lessons from you, then. He might do better in the long run."

"I never knew that Jimmy wasn't doing all right."

"You heard him yesterday," she said with satisfaction.

"So he wins this evening."

"Does he?" she asked all mischief.

"You mean you're going to turn him down again?"

"You pet I am. If there's anything I dislike, it's wolves."

A little declaration which would have surprised Jimmy Kennedy very much had he heard it, because that evening dislike very definitely was not in the kiss she gave him at the door.

Promptly at six-thirty, as he had told the proprietor of the Happy Evening Dine and Dance establishment, he and Sally appeared to claim their table near the dance floor. It was a rather tiny table, which suited him just fine. He took her hand and gave it a squeeze after they'd been seated, all softness now, all suavity.

"I'm sorry, Sally."

Her eyes widened in astonishment. "Sorry?"

"I really had no business kissing you like that. I don't know what got into me. The old urge to conquer, I guess. You made me a little sore yesterday."

"It served you right. You had no business betting Mike that you could date me."

"Oh that?" Jimmy's gesture was of the perish-the-thought variety. "I meant your attitude made me sore. After all, I'm not as heartless as you made me out to be. Sure I date girls. Why not? That's natural. Why snap at me for being natural?"

"Look folks, a husky voice said sharply, "give me your orders and then have your quarrel."

It was a long meal, and they lingered over it and their final cup of coffee. Jimmy wanted to dance again, but she cut that request of his short with a vengeance. Give him another opportunity to make her feel like two cents? Oh, no. As a matter of fact, this was going to be one evening he would not enjoy. She raised her nose superciliously when they went to the theater, speaking very loudly to embarrass him.

"What so far in the rear? Really Jimmy, do you always have to be a penny-pincher?"

"Huh?" He looked at her startled.

"On, never mind." She sat down with a little gesture of resignation. "I daresay only Phillip knows how to treat a woman right."

"Look, darling, did you ever get a pop in the nose in public?"

"Disgraceful," muttered a plump woman behind them.

"I agree with you madam, Sally announced.

"Treating a nice young woman like that," continued the woman with a look of hearty approval at dashing Jimmy. "Disgraceful!"

Jimmy chuckled and Sally was very glad that the house lights dimmed at that point. Then she promptly forgot about Jimmy as "The Romantic Blitzkrieg" for whom the show had been named walked out onto the stage. Tall and blonde, with wide, flashing green eyes and the most seductive figure Sally had ever seen—no wonder the papers were filled with talk of her! Dronda Moore, the darling of the servants of the world, deserved to be the darling of the whole darn universe. "Holy Cow," murmured Jimmy. "And I've been wasting my time with you!"

Questions and Answers

Readers may direct their questions, giving their name and address and mentioning the name of this paper to Information Branch, WPTB, 590 Sussex Street, Ottawa, Ont.

Q. The other day I went in to a local grocer to buy a tin of beans. The grocer told me I must also purchase a can of pumpkin to obtain the beans. The total cost was 30c. I did not buy under these circumstances. Was I right?

A. Yes, definitely so. The type of purchase you mention is contrary to Board regulations and is classed as a "conditional sale", which is prohibited. As you gave us the name of the merchant who attempted this "conditional sale", we shall refer the case immediately to our investigation department for checking.

Q. A friend of mine gave me her ration book to buy her four pounds of sugar. When I made the purchase I handed the book to the clerk and not until I arrived home did I discover he had removed four butter coupons and left the sugar coupons in the book. They refuse to do anything about it and I would like to know what I can do to recover my friends' butter coupons?

A. There is no way you could recover these coupons. We repeatedly urge all housewives to handle their ration books with care...in future you should remove the coupons yourself in the presence of the storekeeper, and then there will be no difficulty. The clerk could not return four loose coupons as it would be illegal for your storekeeper to accept them.

Q. Recently I read in the paper that milk should be six cents a bottle in restaurants and I was charged ten cents the very next day. Why are such prices allowed?

A. The restaurant which you mention in your letter has always charged ten cents per bottle for milk and they are still entitled to charge that price. Other restaurants have always sold milk at six cents a small bottle with meals and they must not charge more than that now.

Q. We are living in a rented house and we sublet three rooms. We get $7 per month rent for these rooms, and we pay the lights. Recently the power company raised their rates and installed another meter. This is costing us an extra $1.32 per month. Am I allowed to raise the rent for my tenants?

A. In this particular case you would probably be permitted to increase the rent. However, before you may do so you must go to the Rentals Administration of the nearest Regional Office and complete an application for increased rental stating your reasons.

Q. My husband owned a car while he was stationed in Canada with the army. He sold it when he went overseas and now wants to buy a new car. He has been refused a priority. How can he obtain one?

A. We're afraid he is not eligible for one. From the information contained in your letter it is clear that he does not require his car for business purposes and until there is a greater supply of new automobiles available those who require a car for business must come first.

Q. When will the remainder of our canning sugar coupons become valid? I would like to use all mine to preserve strawberries and the grocer refuses to take the coupons.

A. The second half of the canning sugar coupons become due on July 4. Your grocer was quite correct when he refused to take coupons which had not become valid. It is very difficult to arrange for the coupons to fall due at a time which will satisfy everyone. There is more fresh fruit available later in the summer than at the present time and for that reason the coupons for early fruits were valid in May and for the later fruits in July.

Rawdon Softball Schedule

The following schedule of games has been arranged for the Rawdon Jr. Farmers' Softball League. Players and fans will please be guided accordingly. Note that the second team in each case represents the home team in that game.

July 4th—Springbrook at Bonarlaw; Bethel at Mt. Pleasant; Bell Tel. at Glen Ross.

July 9th—Springbrook vs Bell Tel at Fair Grounds; Bonarlaw at Stirling.

July 11th—Stirling at Springbrook; Bell Tel. at Bonarlaw; Bethel at Glen Ross.

July 16th—Bonarlaw at Mt. Pleasant; Springbrook vs Bethel at Fair Grounds; Bell Tel. at Stirling.

CANADA'S FIRST POST-WAR SHIPS LAUNCHED

WHEN Mrs. R. C. Vaughan, wife of the president of the Canadian National Railways and Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships, snipped the white ribbon and the traditional bottle of champagne smashed against the towering prow of the Canadian Cruiser, the first postwar ship built in the Dominion for Canada's merchant marine slid down the ways into the St. Lawrence River at Montreal. Two days later, a sister ship, the Canadian Constructor (inset, left) was launched at Vancouver. A third, the Canadian Challenger, is being built at Quebec. All three will enter the Canadian

In the photograph above the launching at Montreal is shown. At the extreme left is Mr. Vaughan. Next him is J. E. Labelle, K.C., president of Canadian Vickers Limited. Mrs. Vaughan is in the centre. Capt. R. A. Clarke, general manager, Canadian National Steamships, is standing in the background.

The three vessels will be operated by 6,000-horsepower diesel engines and will have a speed of 16 knots. Each will have a carrying capacity of 7,500 tons and accommodation for 12 passengers.

THE CANADIAN NATIONAL DOLLAR

WHERE IT CAME FROM

WHERE IT WENT

In 1945 the operating revenues of the Canadian National Railway amounted to $433,773,393. Operating expenses were $355,294,048, leaving a net operating revenue of $78,479,345. After paying interest due the public and the government, a surplus of $24,756,130 was turned over to the federal treasury. This was an increase of $1,729,206 over the surplus for 1944.

The "pie charts" above, reproduced from the annual report of the railway, show where the Canadian National dollar came from last year and where it went. Nearly three-quarters of the railway's revenue—73 cents in every dollar earned—comes from freight. In 1945, the C.N.R. carried nearly 80,000,000 tons. Passengers account for 15 cents of every dollar taken in. The system carried 30,370,680 of them last year. The other 12 cents in the incoming dollar were provided by mail and express and other revenues. Nearly 80 cents of every dollar went toward operating expenses, including payrolls, depreciation and retirements, track material and fuel. Out of every dollar a little more than 18 cents were available for fixed charges (less credits from other operations), taxes and surplus. By far the largest expense item was payrolls. Nearly half of every dollar—47.3 cents—was spent in salaries and wages. Fuel cost 9.8 cents. According to other figures in the Canadian National report, recently tabled in the House of Commons, while freight and passenger rates in 1945 generally remained fixed at the pre-war level in accordance with the regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, higher wage rates and higher prices of materials added $69,391,000 to operating expenses as compared with 1939.

SHANNON-McGEE

Rev. Father S. Lesage, assisted by Rev. H. J. Farrell, officiated at the marriage in St. James' the Minor Church, Stirling, on Saturday, June 29th, at 9:30 a.m. of Mary Helena Bernadette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clinton McGee, to Thomas Gerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shannon, Mar-mora. Daniel McDonald and William McGee of St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto, served the Nuptial Mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in white point d'esprit and corded net over satin, with full skirt and fitted bodice, and finger tip veil falling from a Juliet cap of pearls and gardenias. She carried a white prayer book covered with gardenias and from which fell streamers dotted with orange blossoms.

Elizabeth McGee, the bride's sister, was her only attendant and she chose Alice Blue net and knitted lace, over satin in similar lines to the bride's gown. Her Queen Elizabeth bonnet of starched lace and blue net completed her attire.

James Shannon, brother of the groom, was best man with Murray McGee and William Shannon as ushers. The wedding music was played by the groom's sister, Mrs. Marvin Byrnes, of Toronto.

Following a reception at the bride's home at which Mrs. Daniel Shannon received with Mrs. McGee, the young couple left on a trip to Georgian Bay District. Upon their return, they will take up residence in Stirling.

Galloway—Deal

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McMillan, 472 Elm St., Peterboro, on Saturday, June 8th, when their daughter, Betty Helen was united in marriage to Donald Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Galloway, Springbrook. The Rev. W. A. Fuller of All Saints Anglican Church officiated.

The house was decorated with pink and white bells, streamers and a profusion of flowers.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father looked charming in a street length dress of powder blue sheer with white accessories and wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Florence Galloway, of Stirling sister of the groom, who looked charming in a pink silk jersey frock with white accessories and a corsage of roses and lily of the valley. Mr. Clifford Shields attended the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received in a dress of blue crepe, white accessories, and corsage of tea roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who was gowning in a blue flowered crepe with white accessories and a corsage of roses.

Mrs. N. Routley acted as hostess and was assisted in serving by Misses Aileen Wilson and Marion Sculley. The table centred with the wedding cake was set with a lace cloth and pink candles in silver holders were placed at each end.

Mr. Floyd Wager acted as toast-master. Later the young couple left for a trip to Eastern Ontario.

For travelling the bride chose a brown suit with white accessories.

On their return they will reside in Peterboro where the groom is employed.

Achievement Day For Girls Held

Certificates Presented To Homemaking Club Girls At Stirling Community Hall

July 4th was a big day in the life of the Girls' Homemaking Clubs in Hastings County. The unit which the girls took this year was "Being Well Dressed and Well Groomed," and certainly no nicer group of well-groomed girls could have been gathered together than the group in the Community hall at Stirling.

Five clubs took the project in this part of the County. The "Young Girls' Club" of Stirling; with Mrs. L. Rodgers, leader, had four girls competing; the "Dress Up Club" of Cooper-Renfington, with Mrs. Deles Fox and Mrs. Rex Rollins, leaders, had fourteen girls competing; the "Stay at Home Girls' Club" of Chatterton with Mrs. E. B. Finkle, leader, had five girls competing; the "Economy Girls' Club" of West Huntingdon with Mrs. Clayton Wright, leader, had four girls competing and the "Happy Sewers' Club" of Plainsfield with Mrs. Violet Elliott and Mrs. Ralph Wilder, leaders had twelve girls competing.

Mr. H. L. Fair, Agricultural Representative, officially welcomed the club girls, their leaders and visitors. He complimented the club leaders on the splendid work they were doing with the girls in their communities.

The morning session was spent by the girls in doing samples of patching and darning and in judging a class of patching and darning and in judging a class of slips, exhibit and each club put on a skit or demonstration telling what they had learned on their club work this year. All the girls seem to have been in a poetic mood this year because four of the five clubs had theme songs which they sang for an audience.

To conclude, the day, there was a presentation of certificates. The highest honour available to Homemaking Club girls, the Provincial Honour Certificate, was presented to Jean Irwin Bailey, who has successfully completed twelve projects. Girls who have completed two, four, six or eight projects received Certificates of Achievement and these were: Edeline McCoy, Shirley Fox, Donna Rollins, Dora Rodgers, Barbara Saries, Winnifred Parks, Dorothy Meeks, Helen Beatty, Donna Phillips, Marilyn Parks, Lois Mitts, Evelyn Olmstead and Joyce Hannah.

The following girls who have completed an odd number of projects received Records of Achievement: Phyllis Rollins, Barbara Fox, Margaret Harris, Velma Rollins, Marlene Moorcroft, Dorothy McCoy, Faye and Joan Rollins, Joyce and Doreen Lott, Joyce Carleton, Dorothy and Marilyn Hodgins, Mary and Marjorie Reid, Dorothy Meeks, Joan Hannah, Joyce Wallace, Jean Haggerty, Marjorie Wright, and Joan McCurdy.

Miss Elsie Irvine, Home Economist for Hastings County, and Mrs. Barbara Fox, Home Economist for Peterborough County, were in charge of the Girls' Achievement Day and they wish to congratulate the leaders and girls on the way they contributed in making the day so successful.

Girls' Gardens Inspected

On Friday and Saturday, July 4th and 5th, the Bonarlaw, Cooper-Renfington, Plainsfield, Stirling and West Huntingdon gardens of the Girls' Home Garden Clubs were scored by Miss Elsie M. Irvine, Home Economist, and Mr. Harry W. Burns, Assistant Agricultural Representative for Hastings County.

The gardens showed that considerable care in planting and cultivation had been placed upon them. They were scored on a basis of general appearance, correct size of plot and arrangement of crops, freedom from weeds, diseases and insects, cultivation and care of plants, and approximate yield.

The next meeting of the Home Garden Clubs will be held in August at which the girls will receive instruction on improved methods on cooking and canning the produce of their gardens.

Car and Truck In Collision

Only slight property damage resulted from a collision between a car driven by Roy Tucker and a light truck driven by M. Kirkey, at the corner of Front and James streets Sunday afternoon. A fender and headlight of the car and the running board on the truck were damaged.

RASPBERRIES TO BE GOOD

The wild raspberry crop promises to be a bumper one this year, the fruit is well-formed and in a few patches some berries are already ripe. The patches of tame berries give indications of one of the heaviest crops in years.

Shower For Recent Bride

Mrs. Grant Potter entertained at the home of her mother, Mrs. Hugh Morton yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Tom Shannon, (nee Bernadette McGee), a recent bride.

The bride was given a seat of honor on a decorated chair, under an archway adorned with pink and white streamers, while Barbara Jean, 9-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Beatty, Toronto, who was dressed as a bride, was wheeled into the room to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Miss Gwyn Robinson, and presented Mrs. Shannon with two beautiful pictures, on behalf of the twenty-four girls present. The bride thanked her friends for the lovely gift, following which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess. The remainder of the afternoon was spent reminiscing.

COPPER-HUED NICKEL TO BE RECALLED

Copper-colored five-cent pieces are being withdrawn from circulation and it is hoped the movement will be completed within the near future, Finance Minister Isley said Tuesday in the Commons.

Celebrate Twelfth Here Tomorrow

Elaborate preparations are being made for the 25th Anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne to be celebrated here on Friday. The celebration is being sponsored by Ivanhoe L.O.L. No. 435. Lodges from the surrounding district will attend and a large crowd is expected. The programme will include a parade, speakers, and a ball game. Booths will also be in operation on the grounds. Plan to meet your friends at Stirling Fair Grounds tomorrow (Friday) and celebrate the glorious twelfth.

War Trucks Go To Farmers Under New Plan

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture is making it easier for Ontario farmers to purchase used army trucks. Up until yesterday, whenever a truck sale was announced by the Federation, farmers had to go to one of the six centres throughout Ontario personally to make their offer to purchase. Often their names were not drawn from the applications and valuable farm time was lost.

Monday, there wasn't a farmer or a truck within miles when a new system was introduced under which 600 used army trucks will be made available by War Assets Corporation to Ontario farmers. Out of 260 applications for 160 trucks, names were drawn from a sealed box by representatives of the Federation, Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Ontario Farm Radio Forum. Notification will go to those selected and they will be advised as to the nearest point to pick up the trucks. Names not selected are returned to the box and drawn again as trucks are declared surplus by the War Assets Corporation.

The vehicles are only available to bona fide farmers who must agree to remove military markings and repaint. Under the conditions of sale, ownership must be retained for at least 90 days.

Stirling Defeats Bonarlaw 8-7

Play-off Chances Are Kept Alive By The Win — Big Crowd Sees Thrilling Game

Stirling softballers kept alive their chances of a play-off spot in the District Softball League when they downed Bonarlaw by a score of 8-7 on Tuesday night. The game was played on the local school grounds and was a thriller from start to finish.

To E. Ketcheson, local twirler, gives the lion's share of the credit for the victory. He pitched shut-out ball and only for some loose play by the local infield in the latter stages of the game would have had a greater winning margin. He was given sparkling support by the local outfield with E. Daffoe and F. Eggleston hauling down several hard-hit drives, to snuff out enemy rallies. The losers used three pitchers, Ray, Nelson and R. Wellman all of whom pitched good ball but faulty support by their mates accounted for the winners' runs.

Bonarlaw scored one in the first and six in the fifth inning, while the locals garnered one in the first, five in the third and two in the fourth for a total of eight.

The local lineup included E. Ketcheson p; D. Rodgers c; Armstrong 1b; Fraser 2b; Daffoe cf; Bastedo if; McGee 3b; Eggleston rf; and Shannon ss.

DEFEATS BELL TEL.
In a game at the Stirling Fair Grounds on the same evening, Springbrook overwhelmed Bell Telephone by a score of 13 to 1.

Resignation Of Clerk Accepted

W. H. Nobes, Who Has Filled Position for 29 Years Resigns Due To Ill Health

The resignation of W. H. Nobes, who has been the efficient clerk of Sidney Township for the past 29 years and is in ill health, was accepted by Council on Monday, July 1st. Mr. Ben Bleeker was appointed acting Clerk until a successor is appointed.

Road Voucher No. 7 was passed and relief accounts for the months of May and June were ordered paid on motion of Council.

The clerk was authorized to write Mrs. Mayette acknowledging receipt of Money order for $30.00.

On motion the following accounts on the pay list were paid:

W. H. Nobes, 1-4 salary	$120.00
Reporting minutes, 1-2 yr.	9.00

The acting clerk was authorized to advertise for applications for the office of Twp. Clerk, applications to be received by July 13th, 1946.

The necessary by-laws were passed authorizing the borrowing of $22,000 upon debenture for the purpose of a new school for S.S. No. 2 at Irishtown. Council adjourned to meet August 5th at 8 p.m.

Good Response To Clothing Appeal

Approximately one and a half tons of clothing was collected by the members of the local Chapter of the I.O. D.E. during the National Clothing Drive, according to Miss Rosa Spry, who was in charge of the campaign. This is a good showing and a vote of thanks is due the I.O.D.E. and those who contributed.

Cat Tackles Porcupine

Occasionally one hears of a dog running foul of a porcupine but when a tomcat goes out of his way to tackle a "porky" — that's news. Recently "Tom" a particularly pugnacious feline, owned by Mrs. R. H. Williams, Mill St., gave battle to a porky and as to be expected came off second best. Proof of the encounter is some ten quills which Mrs. Williams pulled from her pet's lower jaw and brought to this office.

Bowlers Win At Campbellford

Four rhinks of Stirling Bowlers attended the mixed rhinks tournament held by the Campbellford Club yesterday afternoon and evening and two got into the prize money. Mrs. W. J. Whitty, A. Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Tompkins won high honours for two wins and took hair brushes and Dalton cigarette lighters as prizes, while Mrs. E. Jackman, W. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. R. Hermiston were high for one win and received lamps and can openers for prizes.

Others who attended from here were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott, and Mrs. R. E. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stinson and F. R. Mallory.

Summers-Metz Families Reunion

About 60 members of the Summers-Metz families met at Oak Lake on Saturday, July 6th to observe their third annual reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Metz of Ottawa, were the honored guests. Since the reunion a year ago, there had been no deaths, 1 marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Summers, and four births. A son to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Saries, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Metz, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Burton Coulter and a son to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams.

In the afternoon an interesting program of sports was conducted by Mrs. Clifford Metz and Mrs. Milton Shaw.

Given Shower By Community

Miss Irene Wood Receives Many Fine and Useful Gifts At an Enjoyable Gathering

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood, Ridge Road, was the scene of a happy gathering on Friday night, when friends and neighbours gathered to tender their daughter, Miss Irene Wood, a miscellaneous shower in honour of her marriage on July 10th.

Rev. W. H. V. Walker acted as Master of Ceremonies for a program consisting of community singing led by Mrs. C. Fargy and Mrs. H. Rodgers, a song by several of the school girls; readings by Barbara Fargy and P. Carr and short addresses by Mrs. P. Vance and Messrs. V. Heath and V. Richardson.

An appropriate address was read by Mrs. Eva McGee and Miss Wood was presented with a beautiful array of gifts, for which she voiced her appreciation in a most gracious manner. Following the singing of "For she's a Jolly Good Fellow", a dainty lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee was served.

HONOURED BY GIRL FRIENDS

On Saturday, July 6th, a number of girls met at the home of Lillian Matthews, Ridge Road, to spend the afternoon with Miss Irene Wood, prior to her marriage.

The afternoon was spent in a social manner including the making of a scrapbook.

Lunch, consisting of sandwiches, olives, pickles, ice-cream, topped with cherries, cookies, cake and ginger ale, was served outside at tables.

Following it, an address was read by Lillian Marion Richardson, on behalf of those present, made the presentation of a basket shaped plate of hand crafted intaglio ware. Irene, though completely taken by surprise made a most suitable reply in her usual manner.

The Misses Marjorie West, Marion Richardson and Lillian Matthews were joint hostesses at this event.

BE CAREFUL WHERE YOU PARK

In spite of all that has been said in this column in the past, there are still motorists who persist in parking their cars in front of fire hydrants and private driveways. We would be the last to want to see any district resident fined for an infraction of the Village Parking Law, but when people persist in flouting the law, what else can be done?

On Saturday night a local resident was inconvenienced considerably because some thoughtless motorist parked a car in front of his private driveway and left it there for some time. One hates to think of what might be the result if a fire occurred, and the brigade was unable to reach the scene because of a blocked driveway. Motorists are urged to be careful where they park.

DIRTY PICKNICKERS

Now that the holiday season is in full swing and picnics are being held on holidays and week ends, the usual complaints are heard from the owners of the favourite picnicking spots over the untidiness of some people. As one man stated to the News-Argus, "no one wants to pick up old dirty paper, empty tin cans, broken bottles, banana and orange peelings, etc., left lying around."

Nor should they be expected to. Many picnickers trespass on private property as though they owned the place and make themselves a general nuisance. Owners of good picnicking spots cannot be blamed for objecting when all sorts of litter is left lying around for someone else to clean up and folks who do that sort of thing can blame no one but themselves if they are deprived of a place to spend a pleasant hour with members of their family and friends.

This is something to keep in mind the next time you have a picnic along your favourite lake or stream. It will only take a few minutes to tidy up the place before you leave, and if you do this you will always be welcome.

FAMILY REUNIONS

The season of family reunions is again with us. Already the dates have been announced for a number of them and there is no doubt that there will be many more in this district before the summer is over. Oak Lake, with its fine scenery and the splendid accommodations provided by the owners of the different picnic grounds, holds an attraction for events of this kind and many who have met with their old friends at this popular resort in other years will again return this year. These reunions serve to keep them in touch with each other and enables them to maintain pride in a common ancestry. But they do more. They furnish an opportunity of paying tribute to the men and women of the past who settled this country, set up homes in the wilderness and left a heritage which should ever be cherished, because of great sacrifice connected with it.

IT TAKES YOUR HELP

Publishing a newspaper is by no means a one man job. It takes the co-operation of many citizens within the municipality to do a good job. Every loyal resident should realize that there is no greater booster of the town than the local newspaper, which endeavors to give a complete and detailed account of local and district events.

In order to do this there must be co-operation not only by those associated with the paper but citizens in general. It is YOUR paper. The paper of YOUR town and district.

Since 1879 The News-Argus has been serving the citizens of Stirling and during its lengthy history it has endeavored to be impartial with the same rights and privileges to all. Never at any time has The News-Argus refused to give coverage of any meeting or social function if it has been drawn to their attention, but altogether too often events take place unknown to anyone except the persons to whom they pertain and the paper is sometimes criticised because the account of the affair did not appear in print.

The publisher of a paper cannot be expected to know when some nonagenarian is to celebrate a ninetieth birthday or some couple is to mark their golden wedding anniversary if he is not informed. Citizens are asked to keep their contribution to the local paper by keeping the editor posted in these special events and he in turn will arrange to have them covered along with special meetings and functions of vital interest to the community.

The local paper is YOUR paper. It serves you and your community and desires the support of every loyal citizen that it may the more efficiently serve the public.

YOUR OWN COMMUNITY

Some good advice is handed citizens by the Chatham News in the following: "The better acquainted we are with our own locality the better are we able to interpret others, and if we boast of our own town, patronize our own merchants and give the best service we are capable of to our own town, it will soon become a habit."

WAS IT A HAPPY BIRTHDAY?

It is customary to extend wishes for many happy returns on a birthday. This year, one hesitated when thinking of Canada on the anniversary of Confederation.

Many happy returns of what? Of strikes and disputes; of grabbing and getting; of threats and thumpings; of crime waves and delinquencies.

Then one thought of the country itself; fertile fields; sunny skies unclouded by threats; vast forest and mineral wealth; ample sustenance for all who would work for it; the right to elect our legislators; comfortable homes and factories; good schools; a way of life defended by the bravest youth in history. All these Canada gives to her citizens.

The question comes to mind are we worthy of it? Whether it be Dominion Day or Canada Day, is of slight consequence, compared with whether we are doing our best to make our country's birthday a happy one.

The failure of Mr. Ilsley to give any relief in the income tax in the current year was disappointing to many citizens but the promise of better things in 1947 will be welcomed. The farmers in particular are well pleased over the decision to allow them to base their income on a three-year average, which will enable them to avoid making big payments in a year when returns have been curtailed owing to crop failures.

Never let a single issue of your newspaper go to press which does not contain at least one want-ad about your business or product or service. Even a two-lined classified advertisement can pack a powerful wallop for you, for it may be seen and read by hundreds or even thousands of your present and prospective customers. Use want-ads for RESULTS.

A columnist defines courtship as "a period during which a girl winds a man around her finger preparatory to getting him under her thumb." This is feeble nonsense, and probably propaganda for what John Knox so ably described as "the monstrous regiment of women." Every man knows that if he gives a woman the back of his hand now and again, she will eat out of his palm most of the time.

According to Labor Minister Mitchell, the Government hopes that economic conditions will be such in another year that payments under the Unemployment Insurance Commission Act may be increased. The decision to increase these payments is all to the good and will be welcomed by citizens in general, but steps should be taken to make sure that only those entitled to these benefits receive them. There are far too many instances of persons drawing benefits and enjoying a holiday when they should be working.

The Norwood Register has changed ownership with John F. Chevers, taking over the duties of editor and publisher last week. Mr. Chevers is well known to the editor of the News-Argus, having been a fellow worker of ours for several years, and the village of Norwood and community is fortunate in having a young man of his calibre to serve it as editor of its home weekly paper. We join in welcoming Editor Chevers to the Fourth Estate of the district and wish for him the best of everything in the future.

Uncle Hy Says

Back of the door in the kitchen at home, hung a paper backed booklet, a most treasured tome, it advertised liniments, salves and some pills, gave symptoms of ailments and cures for all ills, a string through the cover, it swung from a tack, of information a store-house, an old almanac.

If dad caught the gout and we children the pip, mother would rub us, or give us a sip of the strangest concoctions that only she knew, but we always got better, I know that is true, still to see she'd missed nothing, no ingredient lack, she'd sit down and check with that old almanac.

It hung there for years, all the girls had been wed, and mother and father had long since been dead, the yarn was in ruins, the old house a wreck, but for something within it, I'd still risk my neck, the floors had caved in from the front door to back, but I reached it at last, that old almanac.

Now it hangs in my house and though yellowed by age, I fondle it often, I scan every page, I think back in fancy to happier years when as a family together we shared joys and fears, and I prize it most highly, with our names on the back, that glimpse of my boyhood, that old almanac.

What Others Say!

Loafers' Relief Cut Off

(Almonte Gazette)
Single men who refuse to work on farms and who have had experience in that line are being dropped from the list of those eligible to draw unemployment insurance. This is a move long overdue and it is gratifying to observe that the Government has at last moved to correct this abuse. Imagine a man with agricultural experience refusing a job on a farm and at the same time living on a dole supposed to be given to men who cannot secure employment. There are more abuses than this particular one in the administration of this form of relief. They will have to be rectified also if the fund built up by the Government for this purpose is not to be depleted to a point where employers and those willing to work will be asked to pay increased rates.

COMPETITIVE NETWORK NEEDED

Canada is consistently and rapidly losing its best radio talent to the United States. While this country does not possess the resources and the population to match its neighbor there is still much that can be done to reduce this loss, if not to stop it completely.

The big weakness of our radio system in the absence of competing networks. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, it is true, runs two networks—the Trans-Atlantic and Dominion chains—but these compete in name only; they originate programs in the same studios, and use many of the same personnel. At present if a performer cannot interest the CBC he might as well leave for New York or Los Angeles, because very few of the small independent stations can pay him an adequate salary.

In the early thirties, when Canada's broadcasters were just in their infancy, Parliament decided that the country could not afford competitive networks. That belief isn't true any longer; now competition is a prime necessity. A competitive network should be formed out of the present independent stations, operated possibly on a mutual basis. The resultant competition will require the service of more radio artists and will raise salaries to a scale at which it will become worth while for talent to stay in Canada.

Parliament set up the present monopolistic situation. It is up to Parliament to reverse its decision, and to free Canadian broadcasting from its bonds.

WAGES AND PRICE CONTROLS

The Letter-Review of Fort Erie, this month conducted a poll of some of the Dominion's foremost economists and students of labor. The answers to the question "Will a general increase in wage rates increase purchasing power?" varied widely, from a straight "No" to an equally definite affirmative.

The range of opinion, naturally enough, included a number of conditional answers. The answers were all well worth study and that of R. J. Deachman is worth quoting in full.

"Here are 100 cubes, two inches to a side. They are coloured—30 green, these represent labour; 50 red, raw materials; 20 white, these represent 'all other costs'."

"Stand back, look at them from a distance, the colours blend. Snap out of it, come closer, you have before you a product into which has gone labour, raw materials, and an omnibus item, which we call 'all other costs.'"

"Green, that is labour, wants more, a larger share of the total product, claims that it can take some from the others, yet what is left will be as great as it was before. Try it yourself, find out how impossible it is."

"If it can be done, then the reverse is also true: Red and White can take from Green, and Green will be as rich as it once was. Ask Green if it believes this to be true."

"Even the Federal Minister of Labour admits this argument. In a recent Humphrey Mitchell writes as follows: letter over his signature, the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell writes as follows: 'Increase in wage rates where they cannot be taken care of by the employer out of profits are bound to increase the costs of goods and services.'"

"However, there is a way where all can get more. It is very simple, produce more. Volume production tends to lower costs, make the dollar of each factor in production buy more. This is a highway to the possible, the only way in which real gains can be secured by all. If you can find a better way hop to it, but don't be fooled by nominal wage increases—they mean nothing. Again in the words of the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, 'Wages have value only in regard to purchasing power.'"

Rawdon Junior Farmers

The June meeting of the Rawdon Junior Farmers was held in the Department of Agriculture Office, Stirling, on June 27th, with a good attendance. Dave Farney, President, was in charge of the meeting. Harry W. Burns, Assistant Agricultural Representative, was present and gave a talk on chemical weed killers and the need for Common Barberry and European Buckthorn eradication in the county.

A discussion followed as to the possibilities of conducting a "Clean Farm Project" this year and it was decided that due to the short time before the contest was to get under way that it would be advisable to leave the project for another year.

A number of the members signified that they were going to the County Junior Farmers' Field Day at Maynooth on July 25th. The Rawdon Junior Farmers' Field Day at Maynooth on July 25th. The Rawdon Junior Farmers' Field Day at Maynooth on July 25th.

TRIO IS FINED TOTAL $6,100 TAX EVASION

In three convictions of income tax evasion, Magistrate T. Y. Wills on of Belleville, on Saturday imposed fines totalling $6,100, based on one and a half times the amount of the defalcations.

"The fines are exemplary in nature, and it is to be hoped that publicity in this matter will discourage others from doing the same thing," Magistrate Wills declared.

J. L. Black was fined $3,325; J. T. Clark, $1,400 and Robert Mijes, $1,375. All three charges concerned false statements charged to have been made in income tax returns in 1942 and 1943.

In basing the amount of the fines on one and a half times the defalcations, Magistrate Wills declared: "I feel after careful examination of the Act that this is roughly the basis on which the government works and desires in cases of this kind."

The adjudicators in making their awards spoke highly of young Blakely's work.

BELLEVILLE MAN TO BE TRIED BY HIGHER COURT

Commenting that there was "no doubt" the Crown had established a prima facie case, Magistrate T. Y. Wills Saturday committed Dr. Ernest M. Carefoot, of Belleville for trial by a higher court on a charge of fraudulently obtaining money from John McAninch. Preliminary hearing of the case opened Friday and the Crown called 13 witnesses, including experts in the fields of radiology, physics and medicine.

Ball of $2,000 was renewed following commitment. Dr. Carefoot was arrested March 19 following lengthy investigation dating back in the McAninch case to October, 1944.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

TO KILL POISON IVY

Sodium chlorate, sodium chlorite, furnace fuel oil, and a water white kerosene were investigated as herbicides for the eradication of poison ivy by the Division of Botany and Plant Pathology, Science Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture. Poison ivy can be eradicated by sodium chlorate if treatment is persistent and thorough. Common salt and furnace oil were not considered satisfactory. Water white kerosene when applied as a spray to the foliage proved of no value in eradicating poison ivy.

FARM IMPROVEMENTS BY GOVERNMENT LOAN

Through the Farm Improvement Loans Act of the Dominion Government a farmer may borrow up to $3,000 for any of the following purposes:—

- (1) purchase of agricultural implements; (2) purchase of live stock; (3) purchase or installation of agricultural equipment of a farm electric system; (4) alteration or improvement of a farm electric system; (5) fencing or drainage; (6) construction, repair, or alteration of, or addition to, farm buildings; (7) general improvement or development of the farm.

Only a farmer may borrow under the Farm Improvement Loans Act, which restricts these loans to a person who is in possession of a farm and whose principal occupation is farming. The term farming includes livestock raising, dairying, fruit growing and all tillage of the soil.

The loans are paid through any of the chartered banks of Canada and the interest rate is 5 per cent simple interest. Arrangements for repaying are made to suit each farmer's individual requirements. The repayment periods may be from one to ten years, depending upon the amount borrowed and the purpose for which the loan is obtained, the object of the Act being to provide the farmer "short term" and "intermediate credit." "Short term" and "intermediate credit" simply mean that the credit is for one or two years up to ten years, this type of credit being midway between the short term seasonal loans usually made by the banks and long-term mortgage loans which usually run from 10 to 20 years.

For further particulars regarding these loans, a farmer may interview the manager of any branch of a chartered bank in Canada or he may write to The Supervisor, Farm Improvement Loans, Department of Finance, Ottawa.

CARROTS IN STORAGE

As in former years, the Division of Chemistry, Science Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, provides a service to other Divisions of the Department and to farmers in general, and at the same time combines this with an investigation of various analytical and crop production problems. For example, a study was made of the effect of storage on the carotene content of carrots. The carrots were grown by the Forego Plants Division Experimental Farms Service, and the examinations were made after different periods of storage. It was found, however, that on the basis of individual roots, that the individual variations were excessive. Nevertheless, it was concluded that the carotene content remained quite high during good storage conditions.

HOW FARMERS HELPED IN THEIR BUSINESS

To a continually increasing degree, the farmers of Canada are drawing on technical agriculture for the better conduct of their business, points out Dr. E. S. Archibald, Director of the Experimental Farms Service, in discussing the future of agriculture in the Agricultural Institute Review. By technical agriculture, he explained, is meant public activities which enable the farmer to benefit from services of experimentation, research, demonstration and legal regulations, which are beyond the farmer's capacity to provide for himself.

Despite the tendency nature for new problems to emerge the moment old problems have been conquered, technical agriculture has scored many definite advances. Economic crop production is practised today in climatic regions of Western Canada where this was not possible with the crop varieties available 50 years ago, a change affected by the work of plant breeders. Similarly, the combined efforts of plant pathologists and plant breeders have conquered plant diseases which threatened extinction of production in broad areas. Reference might also be made to many technical advances in the fields of animal health, live-stock production, food processing, soil management, insect control and agricultural engineering.

Not the least of the advantages arising from various lines of investigation, soil surveys, and economic research, has accrued to governments and administrators in the intelligent development and application of agricultural policies. Progress in this relationship is of vital importance to the future of Canadian agriculture says Dr. Archibald.

Questions and Answers

Readers may direct their questions, giving name and address and mentioning the name of this paper to Information Branch, WPTB, 490 Sussex St., Ottawa.

Q. My husband and I am returned from overseas and I am worried about him getting civilian clothes. I notice priority certificates are no longer issued to veterans. Is there anything I can do about it before he arrives home in September?

A. You have been misinformed. Priority certificates will not be issued after October 30, 1946, but your husband will be entitled to receive one if he arrives home before that date. The certificates will be valid for purchase of a suit up to December, 1946.

Q. Is the price of an automobile controlled by the Board when it is offered for sale at an auction?

A. Yes. All motor vehicles are subject to ceiling regulations regardless of how they are sold.

Q. Being a returned man and my wife and English bride we are not very familiar with price control regulations. I went into a store and bought a quarter of a watermelon and was charged 70c. I saw a quarter in another store for 45c. Is this legal?

A. It is possible that both stores were selling watermelon within the ceiling price. The melon is sold by the pound and ceiling price a pound is 26c. As you probably noticed, some of the melons are larger than others and naturally, a quarter of a larger melon would weigh more than that of a smaller one. If you write in again and send your name and address we will place your wife's name on our mailing list to receive a copy of Consumer's News each month. This pamphlet contains latest news on price control and rationing regulations.

Q. Is there still a ceiling price on hotel rates? I sent my reservations in for accommodation for two weeks and find the rates almost twice what they were last year.

A. Yes there is still a ceiling on hotel rates. Hotels may not raise their prices without permission from the Rentals Administrator, and while a few increases have been granted, certainly no hotel would be permitted to double their rates. Every hotel room must display a card indicating ceiling rent.

The War Isn't Won Yet

—EDNA JAKUES—

Today we saw the front of a house fairly buried under flags, bunting "welcome banners" and more flags. Evidently someone very dear was coming home and his family just couldn't get too many decorations to express the way they felt.

For them the war didn't end last year, their part of it would only end when that beloved person walked across the threshold of his home once more.

The war hasn't ended on the home front either, there's still fighting to be done, we haven't arrived at the stage yet where we can drape the house with bunting and flags of victory and sit back and kick our shoes off under the table.

We've been fighting inflation for seven years and we've a few more rounds to go yet. True some of the fighters are getting weary of the fray and spit out advice high wide and handsome, while a few backbenchers hurl abuse to anyone foolish enough to listen to them, but the tumult and the fighting hasn't died yet and there is still work to be done to keep the wheels greased and business in Canada moving along at a steady level.

True, some prices are slightly upped and many controls are off, but it is a gradual trend calculated not to upset the national apple-cart.

Inflation is still on the front doorstep and has to be met and conquered through proper legislation, careful planning, hard work, vision, foresight and distribution of goods. Managing the 'coin the realm' is never easy, either in a little faded purse or from the coffers of the nation.

The slow steady process of easing goods out from under price ceilings is difficult, as Finance Minister Hiesey said recently "I hope and confidently expect that in the future it will be possible to conduct the control in a way which is unobtrusive and which interferes as little with established business practices as has been the case in the past."

A little easing of controls allowing slight increases for the further production of goods, lifting the ceiling on goods where the supply warrants it are all part of the programme of de-control that is in line with the Government's policy. At this critical time of world re-conversion to peacetime living, to throw controls over the fence would be inviting disaster of the first magnitude.

When we put bunting around the veranda and nail flags to the ridge-pole of our post-war world, we want them to mean the same thing as the folks meant when they bought a new welcome mat for their son's homecoming, —and we want it to stick like a burr.

Dr. Albert Faulkner Fought In Burma Jungles With Gen. O. C. Wingate

Britain's famed "Sword and Bible" general is dead. But the exploits of Gen. Orde C. Wingate and his Chindits will retain their place in history as well as in a thrill-packed chapter of the life of Maj. George V. Faulkner, son of the late Dr. Albert Faulkner, one-time Provincial Minister of Health.

Now doing post graduate work with a Montreal child specialist, Maj. Faulkner will return to his home in Belleville this summer to resume a practise as specialist in child diseases which he left during the war to ultimately become a medical officer with Wingate's heterogeneous force of jungle commandos.

Maj. Faulkner enlisted with the Imperial Army in September, 1939, later receiving a commission with the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and seeing action in France before Dunkirk. In 1941 this Canadian officer was made a captain in the Indian Medical Service and transferred to India's Northwest frontier.

Outstandingly Good "SALADA" TEA

Met In India

It was in India that he first became acquainted with the onion-chewing, Bible-quoting warrior, whose earlier exploits in Palestine and Abyssinia had made one of the most remarkable figures in the British Army. And when Gen. Wingate called for men to serve under him in Burma, Faulkner was one of the first to volunteer.

In January, 1943, after rigorous training in the jungles of India, the Belleville doctor, with other members of Wingate's 77th Indian Infantry Brigade, began their three-month 100-mile guerrilla raid through Burmese jungles. Eight columns, each composed of 400 men, 80 mules and 16 horses formed the Chindit force.

Object of the expedition was to destroy Japanese communication lines and supply dumps, and to prove that this type of warfare was feasible. As is known, the campaign was completely successful. Later Gen. Wingate said "We roved that ordinary British and Indian soldiers can lick the Japanese."

Maj. Faulkner said the difficulties encountered were enormous. The day's ration of food per man was 2 ozs. of cheese, nine army biscuits, one chocolate bar, one raisin bar, one date bar and tea. The diet was sometimes supplemented by rice or vegetables obtained from the natives he explained.

Column Ambushed

"At one time the column was ambushed and the wireless was lost," he related. "This meant no more supplies from the air. For several weeks the column lived off the land and was finally forced not only to eat the bran meant for the mules, but the mules as well."

The columns were split up into groups of 40 to 60 men each to facilitate the return through Jap patrols. Most of the men managed to return to India but some were forced to march 200 miles to reach China from where they were flown back to base. The last of the Chindits was out of Burma by May.

Sold to U.S.

As is known, Gen. Wingate, sold this type of warfare to the Americans at the Quebec Conference and on 5th March, 1944, a force known as Merrill's Marauders, eight times larger than its predecessor, re-entered Burma by land and air. Maj. Faulkner was to have gone along a senior medical officer, but his glider crashed en route.

By the time the Canadian officer walked the 50 miles back to India to find another aircraft, he had been replaced. Instead he flew across Burma to an isolated Chinese resistance force, with whom he served until they contacted the Burma expedition. He then was reappointed senior medical officer.

It was in that campaign, successful as it was, that Gen. Wingate lost his life in a plane crash. On returning to India Major Faulkner was admitted to hospital for treatment for malaria. He was then granted two months' leave in Canada. On flying back to India, the war was near its close, off returned to Canada for his discharge.

MINOR ESSAYS

The class was asked to write an essay on the life of Benjamin Franklin. After much pencil chewing a little fifth-grader briefed the great man's life down to its most basic details and turned in the following report to her teacher: "Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston, traveled to Philadelphia, met a lady on the street, she laughed at him, he married her and discovered electricity."

Feed To Produce Grade A Hogs

Breeding, feeding and management are the three factors involved in hog production that in the final analysis determine the carcass grade.

The British Ministry of Food has contracted to take all the bacon and ham that we can ship in 1946, 1947 and 1948, but it must be high quality product.

"What do you mean . . . I'm lucky?"

Lucky lad! Getting snagged on the wire in his effort to climb over a Hydro barrier . . . probably to recover a ball . . . may have saved his life. Some boys have not been so lucky.

Hydro energy is one of the finest things we have in Ontario to make for better living. But it can stop one from living, if you thoughtlessly give it a chance to flash through your body. Every possible precaution for safety is taken by your Hydro; but once in a while someone gets careless or "takes a chance", and tragedy strikes. A boy climbs a pole and touches a wire. Or he flies his kite near a Hydro line, and it contacts a high-voltage circuit and carries death or injury to whoever is holding it. Sometimes a storm breaks down a line and someone takes hold of the broken live wire with disastrous results. These are just examples of acts that are beyond the power of Hydro to prevent. Your Hydro can only warn of danger, and seek co-operation of parents and teachers and all who have influence with those who might expose themselves to that danger.

Hydro need never be a threat to anyone who:

1. Will not climb poles;
2. Will stay away from distribution lines and transformer stations;
3. Will keep away from fallen wires.

For your safety, in case of trouble immediately notify your nearest Hydro office. But never, never touch a fallen wire.

Mount Pleasant
July 2nd, 1946

Dear Don and Mary:

It was with feelings of regret that we listened to the news of your departure from our midst, but we feel we must rejoice with you as you start a new home in a new community. We are going to miss you from the different activities of Mt. Pleasant but the loss of neighbours will be more heartily felt than anything else because you Don, as a toddling youngster, on to school boy days and then youth and manhood have made an impression on us. Nearly four years ago we welcomed you "Mary" as a bride and with your pleasant disposition and your willingness to help, you too have won a place in our hearts as well as Jimmy and your baby daughter, Pauline.

We know you will make many new friends in Campbellford and we hope for your continued success. We felt we could not let you go without telling you these things, so a few of your friends have gathered here tonight to bid you farewell and to extend an invitation to visit us often.

As a small token of esteem for you all we ask you to accept these gifts and trust that it will not only find a place in your new home but a small corner in your hearts as a memento of your pump street neighbours in whose behalf we sign.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The June meeting of St. Andrew's Woman's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. W. L. Anderson. The meeting opened with a good attendance of members and visitors and the president, Mrs. Anderson, leading in a Memorial service for the late Mrs. L. Deafe who was one of the great workers for the W.M.S. Hymn "Thy way not mine, O Lord", was sung followed by Mrs. Walker leading in prayer in the Scripture reading from the 103rd Psalm. Two minutes silence were observed for this departed member. The secretary read the minutes along with communications. Mrs. Hoard reported on calls and cards sent to the sick. Mrs. K. Ray and Mrs. C. Montgomery had charge of the program, with the former presiding. Mrs. H. Rollins gave a reading and a prayer followed by a piano solo by Mrs. R. H. Williams. Mrs. Hermiston had the topic on the Western part of Africa. This was followed by prayer by Mrs. L. Rodgers, and a splendid reading by Mrs. Clark Rodgers on prayer. The meeting closed with a hymn and the Mirpah benediction. Miss Gena Spry voiced the thanks of all to Mrs. K. Ray and Mrs. C. Montgomery for the splendid program, and to Mrs. Anderson for the use of her home and the dainty lunch served.

St. Paul's W.A. Hold Meeting At Oak Lake

The July meeting of St. Paul's Woman's Association was held at the summer cottage of Mrs. Nora Wescott and Mrs. Nina Morton, Oak Lake, on Tuesday afternoon, July 9th with a splendid attendance.

The president, Mrs. Gordon Bailey, presided over the business portion of the meeting, which opened with the singing of the theme song, and prayer by the president. The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, and several acknowledgements of cards and letters received during June, also reported eleven cards sent during the past month. The visiting committee, Mrs. A. Bradburn and Mrs. E. Somerville reported thirteen calls made during the past month. The treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Thompson, presented a complete financial report. Mrs. W. Preston, convener of the Friendly Workers Group, gave an interesting and up to date report of their work, and this group gave another donation of ten dollars to the W.A. During the business portion of the meeting a motion was carried appointing, Mrs. Walter Elliott and Mrs. C. I. Hutton to be in charge of the display at the Fall Fair.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Volney Richardson which opened with the singing of the hymn "What a Friend we have in Jesus". Scripture reading, the General Epistle of James, second chapter, was read by Mrs. O. Stapley, and comments on the Scriptures were given by Mrs. J. B. Thompson, followed with prayer by Mrs. H. C. Martin. A very interesting program had been arranged by Mrs. Richardson and her committee in connection with the assigned topic "Famous Canadians", which included authors, poets, musicians and scientists. Mrs. P. S. Broadhurst was outstanding in her review of Canadians who had become famous with their literary efforts. The speaker particularly dealt with the following authors, Miss Isabella Crawford, George Frederick Cameron, the four friends, Chas. G. D. Roberts, Archibald Lampman, Duncan Campbell Scott, and Bliss Carman, Pauline Johnson, Wm. Henry Drummond, Arch Deacon Frederick George Scott, Tom MacInnes, Marjorie Pickthall, Robert W. Service, E. J. Pratt, Stephen Leacock, Sir Gilbert Parker, Ralph Connor, N. A. Cody, L. M. Montgomery, Nellie McClung, and Sir William Mulock. Mrs. Broadhurst mentioned briefly a few war correspondents, Ross Munro, Matthew Halton, Frederick Griffin and Lionel Shapiro.

Mrs. V. Richardson gave a very interesting paper on "Musicians" and "artists" dwelling on a few of the well known artists, such as Edward Johnson, Sir Ernest MacMillan, C. W. Jeffreys, Edmund Wyllie Grier, and J. E. H. MacDonald. A splendid paper on Sir Frederick Grant Banting, the discoverer of insulin, which had been prepared by Mrs. R. B. Duffin, was read by Mrs. John L. Good. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction. During the social period Mrs. H. Wells staged a very entertaining contest. A dainty luncheon was served by the committee in charge, and the social hour was enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Claude Tucker voiced the appreciation of all the ladies present, to the hostesses, Mrs. Wescott and Mrs. Morton, and the entire committee for making possible such an enjoyable meeting.

Former Minister Visits Ivanhoe Circuit

The people of Ivanhoe pastoral charge enjoyed a real treat on Sunday when they had the privilege of hearing at each of the appointments, viz. Salsen, Bethesda and Brouha, the Rev. George Nickle a native of Madoc township who began his pastorate on this field exactly fifty years ago last Sunday.

Mr. Nickle, who is of Irish stock, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Nickle, was born on a farm eighty-four years ago. He began work as a local preacher of the former Methodist Church in 1888. Two years later he was specially ordained and stationed at Apsley, having been received as a probationer for the ministry. He was received into full connection in 1895. His services on Sunday were very much enjoyed as he outlined "The Spiritual Experiences of Peter." He met friends at each congregation who had been his parishioners fifty years ago. Mr. Nickle said, "The church still goes marching on because of the loyalty of such people." The services were in charge of the pastor, the Rev. J. F. Everson.

50-MILE-AN-HOUR SPEED LIMIT BACK

Almost unobserved by the motoring public, the speed limit on Ontario highways has been restored to 50 miles an hour and signs to this effect have now been placed on all of the main traffic arteries in the province.

Following suspension of the Federal Government order which placed a 40-mile limit on all Canadian highways the Ontario Department of Highways hesitated about restoring the 50-mile limit until such time as new cars were available.

BUTTER PRODUCTION HAS REACHED PEAK

The peak production of butter for Ontario for the year 1946 appears to have been reached during the third week in June, according to a summary of creamery instructors' reports issued by C. E. Lackner, Director of the Ontario Dairy Branch. While some sections had their peak a week earlier, the hot weather of the last week of the month had the effect of curtailing the peak season. Despite excellent pasture and production conditions generally, says Mr. Lackner, the peak did not quite reach the levels of that of a year ago, although quite a number of plants report production for this time of year equal to that of last year.

When it became evident that June production was not going to exceed that of last year, the butter market firmed considerably, rising a full cent a pound between the first and the last of the month. Because of the difficulty in obtaining supplies last winter, it appears that many plants are endeavouring to guard against a repetition and are storing all their surplus. Supplies reaching the larger centres were smaller and just sufficient to take care of current needs. While cream prices were dropped during the first part of the month, the rise in butter prices was reflected in a rise in cream prices towards the end of June, particularly in Western Ontario.

The butter quality competitions this year are more keenly contested than ever, with a large percentage of the competitors having little or no undegraded butter to date. Based on grading returns, Ontario is producing the highest quality of butter in years and is a full ten per cent better than last year.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE CONVENTIONS BEING REVIVED THIS YEAR

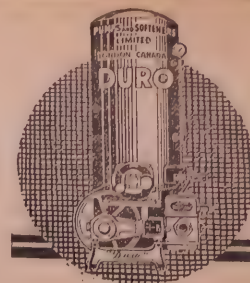

Cancelled last year because of wartime restrictions on travel and hotel accommodation, the annual conventions of the Women's Institutes of Ontario are being resumed this year. Miss Anna P. Lewis Superintendent of the Women's Institute Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, announces the dates and places of these area conventions as follows:

September 10, Sandfield; September 11 and 12, Bar River; September 25, Port Arthur; September 26, Fort William; October 1 and 2, New Liskeard; October 3 and 4, Callander; October 9 and 10, Ottawa; October 15 and 16, Kingston; October 17 and 18, Belleville; October 23 and 24, Barrie; November 5, 6, and 7, London; November 7 and 8, Guelph; November 11, 12 and 13, Toronto; November 25 and 26, Hamilton.

NEW VARIETY OF POTATOES BEING PUT UNDER TEST

A new variety of potato which promises to have resistance to the very destructive and dreaded disease of bacterial ring rot is being tested in various parts of Ontario this year, reports R. E. Goodin, Potato Fieldman for the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This variety is known as "Teton". A quantity of seed was obtained by the Crops, Seeds, and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture from officials of the Department of Agriculture in Wyoming, U.S.A., early in the season and it is now under very thorough test.

The quantity obtained was divided in order that several tests might be made in different parts of the Province under varied conditions. Disease resistance is being further investigated by Dr. G. H. Berkeley, Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, St. Catharines; H. N. Racicot, Division of Botany and Plant Pathology, Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and Prof. E. Garrard, Bacteriology Department, O.A.C., Guelph. Nine selected potato growers in the counties of Durham, North Simcoe, Ontario, South

POTATO TESTS AT KEMPTVILLE

Thirty different spray and dust materials on the market for the control of insects and prevention of disease on potatoes will be tested this year on Agricultural School, the farm at the Kemptville Agricultural School, R. E. Goodin, potato fieldman of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, announces. Each material will be replicated five times in order to overcome any possible variations in soil conditions. Applications will commence when the plants are about eight inches high, and will continue throughout the growing season, after which accurate yields of each will be taken and recorded.

HONORS FOR BIG WAR JOB WON BY C.N.R. MEN

For their part in Canada's war effort, twenty-five members of the Canadian National Railways staff were included in the King's Dominion Day honours list. Each one had either assisted directly in the war while on loan from the company's service or had taken a prominent part in the big task of moving hundreds of millions of tons of war materials and supplies and hundreds of thousands of troops over the C.N.R.

The highest award given by His Majesty, Companionships in the Order of St. Michael and St. George (C.M.G.), went to R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the C.N.R. System, and to S. J. Hungerford, who retired as president of the C.N.R. in 1944 to assume the responsibilities of president of National Railways Munitions Limited, producer of nearly 5,000 naval guns and pieces of war equipment. Mr. Vaughan organized the Defence Purchasing Board for the Dominion Government just before the declaration of war.

Walter S. Thompson, director of public relations for the system, who handled the press, radio and photographic arrangements for the month-long, 10,000-mile tour of Canada and the United States of Their Majesties, the King and Queen, in 1939, was named a Commander of the Order of the British Empire (C.B.E.) for his work in organizing the wartime Department of Censorship and the Department of Public Information for the Canadian Government. Maynard A. Metcalf, executive assistant, C.N.R., was also honored with a C.B.E.

For their war work eight C.N.R. men were made Officers of the Order of the British Empire (O.B.E.). They were W. M. Armstrong, general manager, Canadian National Telegraphs; R. B. Teakle, retired general manager, C.N.S.S.; John Roberts, who was managing director, National Railways Munitions Limited; John Schofield, chief architect, who did valuable war work for the Department of Transport, Department of Munitions and Supply, the British Ministry of Aircraft Production and the Royal Air Force Ferry Command; L. C. Thomson, manager of stores who served as deputy chief, naval equipment and supply, Department of National Defence, during the war; G. L. Bryson, passenger traffic manager, C.N.G.T.R.; and W. D. Low and W. J. Atkinson, of the purchasing department, who were loaned to the Department of Munitions and Supply.

Memberships in the Order of the British Empire (M.B.E.) were given to Col. F. F. Clarke, D.S.O., V.D., retired chief land surveyor and property commissioner, C.N.R., who assisted in the acquisition of sites for airfields, munitions plants and

Two other members of the purchasing department whose services were loaned to the Canadian Government were awarded the British Empire Medal (B.E.M.). They were C. B. Doherty and C. E. W. Morshed.

Five Canadian National Railways employees on leave of absence were also honored by His Majesty, H. B. Chase and A. R. Mosher both received the C.B.E. and Joseph Campbell, Frank H. Gillespie and John S. McNabb were made M.B.E.s.

Holding The Line

With the OPA news in Washington causing considerable concern about the dangers of inflation setting into the economy of the United States, there is a remarkable calm in Ottawa amongst officials in face of this break up of controls across the line in face of the extremely close relationships between the two countries. It is true that the Canadian Government has already given assurance that it will "hold the line" on price controls, rentals and rationing, though the OPA in the United States may be breaking up. However, it is pointed out that Canada is dependent greatly upon imports from across the international border for such everyday needs as fruits, vegetables, gasoline, oil, coal, cotton, and others, and, if these are to be sold in this country below the ceiling levels, increased payments of subsidies will have to be made at a time when the current trend was to cut such simple payments of subsidies. In other words, a reversal of policy may be forced by the developments at this time if price ceilings here are to be maintained and removed only gradually as conditions warrant. Last year the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation paid a total of $100,000,000 to offset price increases and it was planned to spend only a sum of about $90,000,000 this year, though present estimates indicate that this may have to be much higher due to current events across the line.

Moreover, it is indicated in stories circulating in Ottawa that there is much favour here in following a policy whereby the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation would pay more subsidies rather than pass the additional cost onto the consumer directly. Another story here indicates that there may be complications from a break up of the controls in the United States in later agitation for increased pay in tune with such increases in the other country, especially in the same lines and where international unions operate in both countries so that the rumours possibilities of Canada gaining a benefit in competition against United States products on the international market from these developments may be nullified by possible strikes or stoppages in this country for this reason, with the production being unable to keep up with the demand if this should happen on Canada's labour front.

On the other hand, the more optimistic attitude in Ottawa can be discovered in the report that the whole control system has operated much better in Canada than in the United States and there is evidence of this in many directions, particularly in the 10 to 12 per cent difference in the cost of living in the two countries, with controls being tighter in Ottawa than in Washington at all times as well as much less international disturbance in the control machinery itself. Likewise, another important factor is that the discount in exchange has brought about a gradual increase of effort towards exports to the United States from Canada as against a discouragement of import efforts from that country.

More Speed Foreseen

Since the heat in this capital has been excessive lately and the session has been lasting quite a long time now, it would be no great surprise to observers on Parliament Hill if more speed would be applied soon to the activities in order that Parliament may move more rapidly towards prorogation. Indeed, if early prorogation is to be accomplished, more sittings of Parliament may be inaugurated, it is hinted and this may be continued until the session is prorogated. Incidentally, there has been much talk "in the lobbies" about the small number of members present on some occasions recently as revealed in the voting figures, such as on such important measures as the redistribution bill debated when two divisions found the figures to be 129 and 150 votes in a Parliament of 246 members. On other divisions, it was noted, for instance in the Government's farm prices program there were only 109 votes on one occasion and 93 on another; on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation dispute there were only 155 votes; on the Crown companies dispute there were 154 votes; there were somewhat small numbers of members present on other occasions when important statements of policy were made and other significant discussions took place, including topics like atomic energy, international affairs, etc.

Tighten Operations

According to Order-in-Council PC 2316, it appears that the regulations on Family Allowances may be tightened up since, under certain circumstances, it is provided the Director may order that the allowance be paid to such other person or agency deemed in the best interests of the child where in his opinion the person receiving the allowance does not apply exclusively same towards the child in respect of whom it is paid.

Quarter Of All Expenditures

With an expenditure of no less than $620,000,000 in the current fiscal year in different payments to or on behalf of war veterans, including war service gratuities benefits, re-establishment credits, etc., it is disclosed in Ottawa that almost one quarter of all expenditures of the Federal Government this year will be directly for the benefit of veterans and their families.

Colossal Cheating Alleged

Reconstruction Minister, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, has informed the Veterans' Committee of the House of Commons in Ottawa that the priority system for veterans on new cars or trucks has "bogged down" and charged that veterans have been re-selling their cars at times to civilians after buying them

"on a colossal scale."

Welfare of Canada's Indians

A delegation from the North American Indian Brotherhood of Canada and the United States, in colorful dress worn by some of them, marched along Parliament Hill and into the building in order to request consideration of an amendment to the Indian Act to assure the better welfare of Indian tribes throughout this country. In the colorful march could be seen the president of the Association, Andrew Paul, of North Vancouver, and the vice-president, J. Dellele, of Caughnawaga. One Indian, Alex McKinnon, of St. James, B.C. was said to have travelled 96 miles on snowshoes to reach his own tribe as well as to arrange for a delegation to be sent to this meeting.

Said In The Capital

"Canada has carried one-fifth of the entire burden of supplying food to the famine-stricken nations of the world," said in Ottawa the former president of the United States, Herbert Hoover, during his visit to the city in order to talk things over on food matters. "Just because a child grows to manhood, there is no reason for it to lose its affection for its parents," said in an address here Canada's Fisheries Minister Bridges, "So with our nation and its growth. I like that word 'Commonwealth' it means that we, Britain, Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand are united together for the 'common wealth' of all of us. 'It may be that we are moving into a socialist economy but that should be done only after full and free discussion among the people of Canada so they know there are they are travelling,'" said in the Senate, Hon. T. C. Crerar, in talking on the subject of the possibility that the power given the National Research Council to establish companies might create an important precedent. "Canada has been the model for the gradual constitutional development of India and Indians are much interested in the process through which the Dominion has developed into a great self-governing country," said in this capital Lt. Col. Harwood Steele, MC, FRGS, who has been making a tour of some parts of this country addressing a number of clubs.

Weekly Wind Up

Members of Parliament have emphasized the need for more crime prevention as well as rehabilitation of the Borstal system which has saved many young criminals in the United Kingdom from careers of crime to become useful and better citizens. A two-day conference has been held in this capital by about 25 matrons from centres across this country by the Veterans' Affairs Department Nursing Association and it has dealt with future policies as well as plans, with this being the first meeting of its kind. Dr. George Miller, bacon expert of the Federal Department of Agriculture, has been sent to Britain in order to report on British reception of Canada's improved bacon products. Jacques Greber, the world famous town planner, has returned to Ottawa with his master plan to beautify this nation's capital, claiming that the work on these plans has been proceeding much faster than anticipated initially, including two years work in one year. A distinguished professor of paediatrics, Dr. F. F. Tisdall, O.B.E., has stated in Ottawa that people on a poor milk diet age more rapidly and have considerably less adult vitality than those who get sufficient milk with the added remark by him that all persons should include milk around their diets, this being a food and not a beverage. Canada's North American Figure Skating Champion, Miss Barbara Ann Scott, of Ottawa, has become a great enthusiast for aviation and she has made her first solo flight. The leader of the C.C.F. party, M. J. Coldwell, was shaken up somewhat and his automobile damaged to some extent as a result of an accident between his car and a tram in this capital. "Ottawa may have an hinterland such as no capital in the world has" was the statement made before the Senate Tourist Traffic Committee in this capital when a suggestion was made that an additional 30,000 to 40,000 acres should be added to beautiful Gatineau Park near this capital, with the president of the Federal Woodlands Preservation League, Rt. Percy Sparks, proposing plans to extend this park from its present area of 16,000 to 50,000 acres.

Entered Into Rest

MRS. HATTIE A. BOOTH

Mrs. Hattie A. Booth, wife of Mr. John Booth, died at her home in Campbellford on Thursday, June 27th. She was in failing health for some time. Born in Rawdon 68 years ago Mrs. Booth spent most of her life there, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McComb, Bonarlaw. Fifty-one years ago she married Mr. J. H. Booth and took up residence near Stirling where they spent over twenty years farming, and later moved to Campbellford. Mrs. Booth was a member of St. John's United Church and formerly of the L.O.B.A.

The funeral service was conducted on Saturday afternoon last by Rev. G. N. Maxwell assisted by Rev. B. Babcock. A large number of friends and relatives attended from far and near.

Surviving besides her husband are two sons, Staff Sgt. Melvin Booth, of Petawawa, and Harold, of Toronto; one brother, Marvin McComb, of Morganston and one sister, Mrs. Arthur Vale of St. Catharines.

The pall bearers were six nephews, Clinton, William, Earl, Bruce, Alex and Lorne McComb, and the flower bearers, Leonard, James, Clifford and Jack Sharp, Geo. Watson and Lindsay Mumby.

Hostess For Shower

Mrs. W. J. Barlow was hostess for an afternoon tea and miscellaneous shower on Friday afternoon in honour of Miss Freida McLaren, whose marriage to Mr. Elmer McInroy takes place Saturday next.

The dining room was very prettily decorated with pink and white streamers, lace cloth and pink tapers, also orange blossoms and pink and white peonies. The guest of honour received many beautiful and practical gifts, arranged in a large doll carriage decorated in pink and white, wheeled into the living room by little Diane Brown.

Mrs. J. F. Baker presided at the tea table and the hostess and Mrs. J. E. Brown served tea and a very dainty lunch after which the afternoon was spent in contests, games, photography, etc.

SISTER OF BONARLAW WOMAN HONOURED

Mrs. S. G. Rombough, of Bonarlaw, has received the following letter from the Minister of National Defence of Naval Service:—

"I am pleased to inform you that His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve the award of the British Empire Medal to your sister, Petty Officer Cook (S) Rose Elizabeth Boots, Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, in His Majesty's Birthday Honours List, 15 June, 1946. The citation reads as follows:—

"Petty Officer Boots joined the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service in December 1942 and since then has given invaluable service in galleys.

Her zeal, cheerfulness and praiseworthy devotion to duty have been an inspiring example to the junior ratings in her charge, and have helped keep high the fine traditions established by the Women's Royal Canadian Service. The Chief of the Naval Staff, the members of the Naval Board and I highly appreciate the contribution which your sister has made toward the war effort of the Royal Canadian Navy, the high traditions of which she has helped to maintain."

The many friends and neighbours of Mrs. Rombough in this vicinity join in congratulations. Rose is well known to most of them and it is no surprise that her splendid qualities should be so recognized.

Springbrook

A number of our folk attended the Welcome Home Celebration at Stirling on July 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell White and family, Toronto, were week end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. White.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Beaudrie, Orma-by, have taken up residence in part of Mrs. R. Cassidy's house. Mr. Beaudrie is the new section foreman replacing Mr. John Forsyth who retired on pension.

Mrs. Thos. Morgan is visiting her son, Mr. Reg. Morgan and Mrs. Morgan at Long Branch.

Miss Doris Thompson is in Toronto where she will attend summer school for the next six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Mason, Lynn and Lois were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ketcheson, Brighton on Sunday.

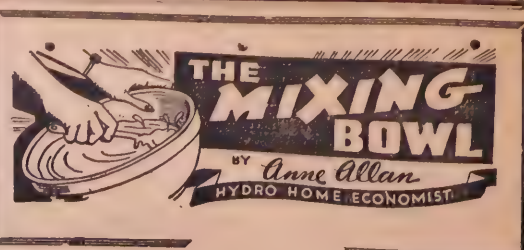

Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan and family, Hamilton, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Solmes.

A large crowd attended the shower in the hall on Friday evening in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Don Galloway. During the evening the young couple were presented with a purse of money from the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Tucker, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McLuskie and Mrs. George Mason, Belleville, called on Mrs. C. A. MacConnell on Sunday.

Mrs. Stanley Ray and children arrived from England on Saturday to join her husband who returned to Canada some months ago. They were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wes. Ray and will take up residence at Foxboro this week where Mr. Ray is now employed.

Hello Homemakers! You haven't much time to talk on the phone when the berries are ready to jam. Neither have I. Please mail any requests for information to me. I'll be glad to answer by return mail. Anyway, if your taking down instructions they may be incomplete so clip this column and paste it on the filing cards of your recipe box, today.

Notes on Making Good Jelly

1. Blackberries, gooseberries, cranberries, tart apples, quinces and crabapples jel easily.

2. Cherries, strawberries, peaches, pears and rhubarb require a pectin or jel rich combination to give the best results. For example use one part of one of the fruits listed in No. 1 to 2 parts of one of fruits listed in No. 2. Or a commercial pectin can be used.

3. Fruit should not be over ripe and should be carefully cleaned. Measure all ingredients or weigh fruit and sugar.

4. Jelly should be boiled rapidly. Use a large preserving kettle to prevent boil-overs and stir constantly.

5. A jelly thermometer assures you of a good jelly or jam and prevents reduction of the amount by too much evaporation. This handy device is hung inside as liquid begins to boil and when it records 220 degrees, it is time to pour.

6. You always skim jelly as the liquid boils.

7. When you use commercial pectin follow the instructions on the package explicitly.

BLACKBERRY JAM

4 lbs. blackberries, 3 lbs. of granulated sugar, juice or one lemon.

Look over blackberries carefully, and wash if it seems advisable. Put blackberries and sugar together in a preserving kettle, mix and let stand for about 15 mins., or until the juice is partially extracted. Then cook gently uncovered, stirring often, until a few drops of the jam will thicken on a cold plate. Add strained lemon juice and cook for 5 mins. longer. Let stand a few moments and skim; then stir before ladling into hot sterilized jars. Cover at once with a thin film of hot paraffin; when cold pour more very hot paraffin around the edge of the top of jar—tip and tilt the jar, to seal carefully. When cold cover the jars or tie down with paper.

BLUEBERRY-CURRENT JAM

2 lbs. (about 1 1/2 quarts) blueberries, 2 lbs. (about 4 cups) slightly-crushed currants, 3 lbs. (or a little less) granulated sugar.

Combine prepared blueberries and currants. Add sugar. Cook mixture, with frequent stirring until a few drops will thicken on a cold plate. Cool slightly, skim, then stir. Fill hot sterilized jars and seal.

CINNAMON APPLE JELLY

5 lbs. apples, do not pare or core. Cut in eighths, removing seeds and blemishes. Barely cover with water; cover; simmer until soft. Strain through jelly bag. Measure juice; heat to boiling; skim; add 3-4 cup sugar for each cup juice. Stir until sugar dissolves. Cook until syrup sheets off spoon. Color with red food coloring. Flavor with a few drops cinnamon extract. Pour into hot sterilized glasses. Paraffin-seal. Makes four 6-ounce glasses.

CURRANT JAM, SPICED

For 6 lbs. of currants to be made in a jam, allow 1 cup white vinegar and 2 tbsps. (each) whole cinnamon and cloves, tied in cheesecloth. Cook the spices with the currants and sugar.

PLUM JAM, SPICED

For 7 lbs. plums to be used for jam, allow 1 cup white vinegar and 1 1/2 tbsps. (each) whole cinnamon, cloves and allspice; tie the spices in cheesecloth, and simmer with the fruit.

WHIRLWIND

CHAPTER III

Airline stewardess Sally Alliston arrives at La Guardia field. Dashing First Officer Jimmy Kennedy offers to give her a lift to the city, but she says she already has a date. To his discomfort she walks over to a limousine, and is driven by a chauffeur to the Jethrup mansion where her mother is housekeeper. There she meets her mother and Phillip Jethrup, who is engaged to a society girl. Phillip admits to Sally that he is not happy. Jimmy takes Sally out to dinner and then to the theater.

She dug her elbows into his ribs and was considerably nettled when he didn't react to it at all. His arm, which had found a nice resting place on her shoulders as the curtain rose, returned to his own seat, his own lap, as Dronda gave out with a song having to do with being willing to wait forever and ever for her man. The girl had a low, throaty voice which seemed to reach out and caress you softly, be you a man or woman, old or young. You disliked her for being so lovely, so talented, and yet she fascinated you in a way difficult to describe even to yourself. Sally's attention was riveted upon her from the moment the show began until Dronda had taken her last curtain call. She turned to Jimmy to tell him what she thought about the show, turned in a wave of enthusiasm, in a wave of gratitude for taking her to see it—and gasped as she found the seat beside her empty. The plump woman behind her chuckled as she rose, startled.

"Serves you right, miss. Next time you will treat a man the way he deserves to be treated!"

"Did anyone ever tell you to mind your own business, madam?"

"The idea!"

"May be new to you, but it should prove interesting."

Sally scurried up the aisle to the lobby, laughing as a loud gasping sounded behind her. But she stopped laughing when she reached the street and turned the corner and hurried to the stage door. Jimmy was just going inside. Running out on her as though she were dirt. Her temper held in check by a great exertion of will power all evening, finally got the better of her. Eyes snapping, she darted to the door, swung it open and dashed inside, almost bowling over the attendant.

"Just a minute, lady," he roared, catching her arm.

She did wait that minute, long enough to see Jimmy hurry over to a smiling Dronda, to see him catch her up in his arms and kiss her, to see the girl shove him away and hit him with the vase of flowers she'd been carrying when she'd made her exit in the final act. The blow caught Jimmy on the head and he staggered and landed with a thud on the set of his gray sports trousers just as a photographer's bulb flashed.

"Is the guy nuts?" demanded Dronda of one and all, not nearly so sweet now that the curtain separated her from the dearly beloved public. "I'll kick his damn teeth out!"

"You can't go in!" roared the attendant, turning back to Sally.

"Go in!" She tilted her chin haughtily. "My dear man, I have no desire to go inside. I am simply waiting for a street-car."

Sally was wrrenched from her peak of joy the following morning by a concerned Mike White. He rang the bell, he pounded on the door, he shouted.

Sally, startled when she realized that it was phlegmatic Mike raising all the rumpus, scurried into her bath robe and raced to the front door. Thus it was she who received the brunt of Mike's indignation.

"Of all the dirty tricks!" he shouted. "Anything for publicity. To hell with a man's career, to hell with anything but proving to the world that she really has allure enough to drive a man crazy."

Sally, scared to death that he would have apoplexy, at least, took a deep breath and cut in.

"Mike, control yourself!"

Some of the craze left his eyes. But he was still irate, still too full of words to subside. "If I don't give her a kick where she deserves one I'm a monkey's uncle."

"Who are you talking about, Mike? For goodness sake, you're not making sense."

"The Romantic Blitzkrieg, that's the girl—Dronda Moore, in person. Have you seen the morning paper?"

Before she could say no he shoved one into her hand. She opened it, and gave a startled squeak as she saw a dazed Jimmy Kennedy staring up at her. "Masher gets his from Romantic Blitzkrieg!" the caption read. "Dronda Moore triumphs again."

She laughed. "How wonderful, Mike!"

"Wonderful?" he gurgled. "Do you know what this could mean to his job?"

It was then that she returned to earth—with a thud.

"Mike!"

"Sure. You know how Mr. Perkin is. We have to be as well behaved as the personnel of all the airlines. Do other airlines' first officers get their pictures splashed onto front pages like that? They don't. And so out Jimmy will go on his ear."

"But . . ."

"Doggone it, why didn't you stop him from making a fool of himself? I knew you didn't like him, but I didn't think you would let him ruin himself."

Sally swung around to Helen, "Does it give her address?"

The red-head looked and nodded. "She has an apartment at the Star of the Win hotel. Hey, what's cooking?"

"Maybe Dronda Moore, darling?"

The great star was having breakfast in bed when Sally arrived.

"I came here to . . ."

"Save it," interrupted the star gustily. "Darling, have breakfast with me. I see you had a hard time getting past my manager. A regular spitfire! Now I've seen everything." Chuckling, the star hauled her to a chaise longue done in white and gold and pressed her to it. "But you took a little pushing around too. Here let me fix your dress. Oh, oh, its got a nice tear in it."

"I want you to kill that story, Miss Moore."

"Story?"

"That man you hit last night —this publicity could mean his job, Miss Moore."

"The answer is no. Sorry."

And though she pleaded and raved, the answer remained no. At the door, Dronda was apologetic. "Sorry, Sally. But look, don't hold it against me. I'm just a gal from the East Side who's ridden a couple of lucky breaks to stardom. Look, I don't even talk so good. Bill runs the show, I don't and what Bill says goes."

On the street, somewhat dazed and definitely worried, Sally hesitated, but only long enough to make up her mind then dived into a cab. She didn't stop to analyze her feelings, didn't stop to think that Mr. Perkin would not like her interference, her voice was ringing as she gave the address to the driver. After all, Jimmy hadn't meant to disgrace the airline. That was the line to take—make it all seem like a prank that had backfired. Mr. Perkin was human, wasn't he.

Mr. Perkin waited until she got herself comfortably seated in the big leather chair by the side of the desk. He was a fragile-looking man, with a neat mustache and a partially bald pate. His voice when he spoke, was surprising, booming as though from the chest of a Hercules.

"Well, Miss Alliston?"

"Mr. Perkin," she began desperately. "It was all my fault. If I hadn't . . ."

"Allow me to interrupt," His watery gray eyes twinkled as he leaned over the desk. "I have already dealt with Jimmy. I summoned him, heard him, and passed judgment on him."

He rose and bowed her out. Jimmy winked at her from the bench in front of the secretary's desk in the outer office. He rose and went up to her, not looking at all disturbed by the mess he'd contrived to get himself into.

"Mike suspected you'd come over here, cherub. Thanks for trying."

"I'm sorry, Jimmy. I did my best."

He shrugged. "I'm sorry too."

"Jimmy—" she looked at him incredulously — "do you really mean that?"

"Sure. Think of all the gals who are going to be disappointed when I don't come flying in to bring romance into their lives!"

Yes, as she had told Mr. Perkin only a moment before, he was a boy playing at love.

And she had never liked boys.

Her mother was waiting for her when she returned to the apartment.

"What brought you to town, old dear?"

"A check for a hundred dollars. I thought you'd like to come along with me while I proceed to demolish it. I was looking in your wardrobe. You need several dresses yourself."

Mrs. Alliston sailed off with check in hand reluctant Sally tagging along. After Sally had been prevailed upon to accept a new dress, they headed out of the store toward the lobby, and there, of all people, was Phillip. Sally had the strange feeling that it was all planned beforehand.

He was waiting by the door, and although he pretended to be surprised, he didn't carry it off very well.

"Sally, how nice to see you!"

"Phillip, you didn't have a chance not to see me."

"I beg your pardon!" He looked so distressed that Mrs. Alliston patted his hand soothingly. "It's quite all right, Phillip. Sally has been in a difficult mood all morning. Perhaps you would like to invite her to lunch."

"Of course."

"But you must excuse me, Phillip, Mrs. Alliston smiled. I have an appointment with my hairdresser?"

"In other words, Phillip," Sally smiled as they watched her mother walk away, "you're stuck with me."

"Stuck?" He took her arm with an air of great satisfaction. "I don't consider that I'm stuck."

"I'm really not the least bit hungry."

"Oh, you could have something. Please, Sally, we've not seen one another for what seems a century."

The assignment for the sixth grade hygiene group was a composition on anatomy. One promising lad submitted this masterpiece.

"Your head is kind of round and hard, and your brains are in it and your hair on it. Your face is the front of your head where you eat and make faces. Your neck is what keeps your head out of your collar. It's hard to keep clean. Your shoulders are sort of shells where you hook your suspenders on them."

"Your stunkie is something that if you do not eat often enough it hurts and spings don't help it none. Your spine is a long bone in your back that keeps you from folding up. Your back is always behind you no matter how quick you turn around."

"Your arms you got to have to pitch with and so you can reach the butter. Your fingers stick out of your hands so you can throw a curve and add up rithmetic. Your legs is what if you have not got two of you cannot get to first base. Your feet are what you run on, your toes are what always get stubbed."

"And that's all there is of you except what's inside, and I never saw it."

McINROY-McLAREN

Summer flowers decorated St. Mark's Anglican Church, Bonarlaw, for the marriage of Freida Mae McLaren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McLaren, Bonarlaw and Elmer Eastwood McInroy B.S.A., Jersey City, N.J. son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray McInroy Bonarlaw on July 6 at 2 p.m. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. M. Brownie and wedding music was played by Mrs. L. Rundle, Marmora. During the signing of the register, "O Promise Me" was played.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk jersey with shirred bodice, sweetheart neckline, gathered, elbow-length sleeves and white gloves. Her veil fell from a wreath of carnations and she carried a white prayer book with red roses and white carnations. Her only ornaments were the groom's graduation pin and an heirloom necklace. Attending the bride was Miss Mary Hazel McInroy, sister of the groom, who wore a gown of pink silk jersey with square neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt. Her bonnet and accessories were white and she wore the bride's gift of a silver cross, and carried a bouquet of pink roses, blue cornflowers and baby's breath.

The groom was attended by Mr. Chester Baker, of Stirling.

For the reception held at the Royal Hotel, Marmora, the bride's mother received with the groom's mother, both wearing printed silk jersey with white accessories, the bride's mother having a corsage of yellow roses, the groom's mother wearing pink roses. Later Mr. and Mrs. McLaren left on a wedding trip to New York, the bride donning a pale blue dress with matching hat and white accessories. Later they will take up residence in North Berben, N.J.

Entered Into Rest

THE LATE MRS. F. LINN

The death occurred early Thursday morning, July 4th at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Percy Mumby, of Mrs. Fanny Linn, wife of the late David Linn, after an illness of 18 months.

The late Mrs. Linn was born in Sidney township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Jordison and was in her 85th year.

She moved to Rawdon as a small child and lived there till 1902. She spent nine years in Montegate township later moving to Springbrook where she has spent the past 34 years. She was a member of Springbrook United church and attended when health permitted. Her husband predeceased her 35 years ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Chas. Parr (Eva), Miami, Florida, and Mrs. Percy Mumby (Ella), Springbrook; three sons, James, Huntsville; Harry, Grandview, Man.; Arthur, of Port Hope; two stepchildren, Mrs. Leah McNeil, of Winnipeg and Harold Linn, of Flaxcombe, Sask.

She is also survived by twenty-seven grandchildren and a number of great grandchildren.

The funeral was held from her late residence on Saturday afternoon to Springbrook United church. The Rev. J. R. Holden delivered a very comforting message to the bereaved family and friends. During the service Mrs. Tom Sarles rendered a solo "Good Night Here and Good Morning Up There". Many floral tributes showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Interment took place in Wellmans cemetery at Wellmans Corners.

The bearers were Messrs. George Thompson, Hiram Mumby, Edward Bateman, Malcolm Mason and Burton Bateman.

Floral bearers were Messrs. Clinton Lough, Charles Burkitt, Jack Thompson and Bert Willis.

Relatives from a distance attending the funeral were, Mr. and Mrs. James Linn, Huntsville; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Linn and Harry, Port Hope; Mrs. C. Parr and Miss Frances Bailey, Miami; Mr. and Mrs. David Linn, Toronto; Mrs. G. A. Jordison, Bancroft; Mr. and Mrs. Herb Jordison, Lake St. Peter; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bartlett, Beamsville; Mr. Fred Johnston, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Husband, Nanawau; Mrs. Ellis Jones, Nanawau; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bartlett, Bowmanville; Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Belleville; and Mrs. Gummer, of Belleville.

Cobourg Turns Down Rink Bylaw

The ratepayers, of Cobourg, in a turnout of only 474 voters, defeated a $61,500 rink construction plebiscite by a vote of 218 to 226 on Monday. Over 900 were eligible to vote. Last December the ratepayers voted in favor of a $25,000 rink, but later it was found the amount was too small. This will mean no rink for next winter.

Clothing Was Appreciated

Mr. and Mrs. James Mumby, of Springbrook, have received the following letters in appreciation of articles of clothing sent to stricken families in Greece.

Kilkis, June 26, 1946

To Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mumby, Springbrook, Ont., Canada.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Mumby:

First of all, I want to thank you for the shoes you so kindly sent me, and then I am going to introduce myself. I am a school boy 9 years old, my name is Leandros. I have a father and mother and two other brothers, one 16 years old and the other 14. My father has been a prisoner and so we were in very bad condition, but now thanks to God we are all right; my father is working but is not doing much. The time we received your shoes, I said to my mother that I am going to wear them, but she said that they were big for me; but when she saw me crying she let me wear them. The time I was putting them on I found your note, and I was very much pleased. I called up my mother and showed her your note. It was night. I was very anxious to wake up in the morning so I can write you, and to express you my gratitude, wishing that God will keep you safe and healthy, and whatever your heart wants.

Please sir, as soon as you get my letter, send me a picture of yours, so I can send you mine too. My parents also thank you and send their best regards to you.

Wishing to get your answer and your picture.

I am very thankfully yours,
Leandros Simeonidis

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Mumby:

I also send you my best regards and thanks for your interest to us and for your kindest heart. My name is Aristide Sideris, an interpreter for the British Troops in Greece, have been in U.S. for about 9 years in the cities Cincinnati, Ohio, Canton, Ohio and New York City.

I'll be very glad if I get a letter from you.

Wishes and Best regards,

Aristide Sideris.

Thank you.

Build New School In Sidney

An early start on the construction of a new $16,000 one-roomed brick school for S.S. No. 2 Sidney township to be built in the "Irishtown" district to the north and west of the city, is expected to be made, it has been learned.

Tenders for the construction of the new building have been called, the lowest tender being Gungras and Gauthier of Trenton, whom it is expected will be awarded the contract.

The new school will be of standard design of solid brick construction and will have full basement with hot air furnace. It is intended that construction will commence around August 1st and barring lengthy holdups for lack of materials will be completed before 1947. W. A. Watson, Kresge Building, Belleville, is the architect for the new school.

Cramped conditions at the Avondale school where children from the "Irishtown" district would normally go, led to plans being made for the construction of the new school. For the past several years a number of public school pupils from this district have been transported by bus to attend classes in public school near Trenton.

FIRST ROAD MAP IN FIVE YEARS ISSUED IN ONTARIO

The Ontario Department of Highways announced distribution of a new road map, for the first time in five years to Ontario motorists.

Main changes in the new map—300,000 now are being distributed—is in the marking of the highways and country roads with a broken line showing unpaved sections and a solid line indicating paved roads.

Plans are also under way for a new road map of the northern section of the province, because of the construction of new roads in the mining areas highway department officials said.

Bonarlaw Couple Given Purse Of Money

On Thursday evening of last week a large number of friends and neighbours of Miss Freida McLaren and Elmer McInroy gathered in the Sunday School rooms of St. Mark's church Bonarlaw, and presented them with a purse of money and in an address read by Mrs. W. J. Barlow, wished them every success and happiness and a long and happy married life. Mrs. John E. Brown made the presentation after which Mr. McInroy in a short address thanked those assembled for the gift and the good wishes. Miss McLaren also spoke briefly thanking all for their kindness. All sang "For they are jolly good fellows" and gave them three hearty cheers.

A short programme of community singing led by J. F. Baker with Mrs. John McKeown as accompanist, a piano solo by Miss Mary McInroy, and a reading appropriate for the occasion by Mrs. Dave Wellman was enjoyed by all, after which a bountiful lunch was served. Mr. Baker acted as chairman.

Dear Elmer and Freida,

We your friends and neighbours, have gathered here this evening to endeavour to show you in some manner the esteem in which you are held by one and all, and as we have learned that after a certain ceremony takes place in the near future, you will be leaving this country to take up residence some distance away, we also wish to say au revoir and wish you both all the very best in health, success and happiness in your new home.

This is one occasion when the boy picks a neighbourhood girl and both the boy and the girl are well known to everyone and it must be a source of great satisfaction and pride to each that they can think of this fact without any fear. Both have been popular in the community and have entered into the life of the community so that your leaving will cause a gap in the ranks which will indeed be felt.

Your work, Freida, in the Young People's Society, the Sunday School and the church choir and your willingness to help in every worth while project has made you an outstanding citizen and you Elmer have been no less willing and we are proud of you also. Above your name we can write, "Above Bonarlaw boy has made good."

As we also wish you to have something tangible as well as our many good wishes, we ask you to accept this purse of money and be assured that with the gift are the sincere wishes of all your friends for a long and happy married life.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dowdell, of Perth, attended the wedding of Miss Freida McLaren and Elmer McInroy held in St. Mark's church Saturday last.

Mrs. J. F. Baker attended the wedding of Rev. W. J. Robinson and Miss Isobel Morton held in Belleville.

Colorful Parade And Fine Program Feature Celebration of 'Twelfth'

Nineteen Lodges Paraded
Through Village Streets —
G. S. White, M.P., Speaker

Warm summer sunshine, a large crowd and a good programme all contributed to a highly successful observance of the 356th Anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne in Stirling on Friday last, July 12th. The celebration was sponsored by L.O.L. No. 435, Ivanhoe, and the smooth functioning of the arrangements reflected credit on its officers and members.

Some nineteen lodges from Central Hastings were represented in the colorful parade through the village streets to Stirling Fair Grounds where a programme of speeches and sports was much enjoyed. Stirling Citizens' Band headed the long line of marchers and were directly behind the Parade Marshal Harry Morgan, who rode the conventional white horse. The fife and drum bands of the various lodges added their quota to the music of the day.

The following lodges were carrying banners in the parade and appeared in this order:

Official Welcome Given

Official welcome to the large crowd which attended the celebration was extended by County Master for Central Hastings W. J. Johnston of Rawdon township, while Mr. Robert Eggleton of Stirling, the oldest Orangeman on the grounds, was also called upon for a few words.

George S. White, federal member for Hastings-Peterboro urged continued allegiance to the British Empire pointing out that within recent months certain factions in the Canadian House of Commons had sought to introduce bills which would tend to make a breach between the Dominion and the Empire.

Cpl. Carl Cooke, R.C.A.F., arrived home on Thursday last after spending some five months overseas. The return trip was made by plane, leaving England on Wednesday night.

Appointed Clerk of Sidney

At a meeting of Sidney Township Council held at Wallbridge, on Monday night, Col. Roscoe Vandewater was appointed to the office of Clerk. He succeeds W. H. Nobes, who resigned recently after twenty-nine years of efficient service.

"First of these was the bill to change the name of 'Dominion Day', the second was the redistribution bill which gave Quebec eight additional seats in the House of Commons while the 3rd was the bill to change the flag."

Never Ashamed of Name

The speaker declared that he for one had never been ashamed of the name Dominion Day, while he termed as unfair to the other provinces the bill which would give additional seats in the House of Commons to the Province of Quebec. "The Union Jack should always remain as part of any Canadian flag," he said.

Other speakers heard during the afternoon included Roscoe Robson, M.L.A. for Hastings East, W. E. Tummon, past Grand Master for Ontario East; and Br. Rev. F. C. Beazer, Grand Chaplain for Ontario East.

Thurlow Won Softball

In a softball tournament, Thurlow Township carried off the honours. In the first game Rawdon and Sidney hooked up in a tidy struggle with the former winning by a score of 16-9. In the final Thurlow defeated Rawdon by a score of 11-7.

Dance At Night

In the evening a dance was held in the main building at the Fair Grounds with over 400 in attendance. Music was furnished by McCaughen's Orchestra.

Stirling Reaches Play-off Spot

Bethel And Springbrook Play Tie Game — Mount Pleasant Downs Bonarlaw

Stirling softballers are in fourth place and a play-off spot in the Rawdon Softball League as a result of the games played during the past week.

On Thursday evening last Stirling journeyed to Springbrook and defeated the homesters in a loosely played game by a score of 21 to 4. On the same date Glen Ross was at home to Bethel and maintained their place at the top of the league with a 20-5 win.

Tuesday's Games

On Tuesday night Bethel and Springbrook staged a real battle on the diamond at the Stirling Fair Grounds, with the game being called on account of darkness with the score tied 11-11. This game will be replayed in the event that it has a bearing on the final standing.

In the other game Mount Pleasant kept pace with the leaders when they downed the classy Bonarlaw nine by a score of 13-10 in a thrilling game on the winners' home diamond.

Illustrated Lecture Given At Annual Meeting of Bible Society

Arnold Wannamaker Was Elected President For The Year 1947 — Reports Good

The Annual meeting of Stirling Branch of Bible Society was held in St. John's church hall on Monday evening, July 15th.

After the opening exercises conducted by Mr. Fred Houchin, in which Rev. W. H. V. Walker led in prayer, Rev. Walker was appointed to preside over the meeting.

The secretary's report as well as the treasurer's was received and adopted. The election of officers took place which resulted as follows: President, Mr. A. Wannamaker; Vice Presidents, the resident Ministers, Mr. H. R. Tompkins, Dr. Helliwell, Mr. Houchin, Mr. C. Macklin; Secretary, Mrs. H. Rollins; Treasurer, Mrs. N. Wescott.

Sincere appreciation for Mr. Houchin's leadership was felt. His wish to be relieved for a year or two was granted with the assurance that his interest in the work will still be maintained. His guidance in the coming year will be much appreciated.

Rev. Edgerton Young, District Sec. for the Society, then gave an illustrated lecture. This was divided in two parts first, Life in Moscow, and second, the work of the Bible Society in war time. These pictures were most convincing in their plea for greater effort in the future. Mr. Young in his chaplaincy work said his greatest joy was when he could hand out testaments to the men in the services. He stated that they were handed out without discrimination to all who wanted them. In the pictures the joy on the faces of the lads as they received their books as enough to repay anyone for any contribution he might have made with millions of Chinese learning to read for the first time now avenues are opening up for the work of the Society.

After the war we expected a reaction and it came. The strain went on so

Ladies' 'Triples' Tournament

Belleville Rink Wins Top Honours — Sixteen Rinks Participate In Competition

The annual ladies "Triples" Tournament took place on the greens of the Stirling Lawn Bowling Club on Friday afternoon and evening. Ideal weather conditions prevailed and rinks from Peterboro, Campbellford, Belleville, Brighton and Stirling participated. The draw was in charge of Thos. W. Solmes and the ladies served supper at the tea hour.

High honours for the day went to Mrs. G. Watkins' rink of Belleville, with a score of 41 and a plus of 7. Other members of the rink were Mrs. Vince and Mrs. Gilbert and each received a plastic purse as a prize. Second prize for three wins went to a Peterborough rink of Mrs. Cullen, Mrs. Killenbeck and Mrs. Hepburn, skip, with a score of 37 plus 4. Umbrellas were the prizes.

For two wins top honours went to a local rink of Mrs. Nina Morton, Mrs. R. Hermiston and Mrs. W. T. Elliott. Glass hostess plates were the prizes. Mrs. B. Taylor's rink of Campbellford took the honours for one win with a score of 33 plus 6. The other members of the rink were Mrs. Linton and Mrs. C. Falliser and each received a silver butter dish for a prize.

A consolation prize, a guest towel, went to a Peterborough rink of Mrs. Reilly, Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Arnold.

Buys Farm

A real estate deal of interest was completed recently when Arnold Poole of Castleton, purchased the farm of John Connor, Oak Hills. The new owner and his family have taken up residence in their new home.

BATAWA ANNIVERSARY

Seven years ago last Wednesday the first Czechoslovaks arrived in Frankford to start building the town and industrial centre which is now known as Batawa.

Mission Band Picnic

The Sunshine Mission Band, of Springbrook, held its annual picnic at Searle's Beach, on July 18th. About sixty people enjoyed a picnic lunch at the table.

The interval between lunch and swimming was spent on various races which included: under five years, orange hunt; under six years, candy scramble; seven and eight years, pop corn on a knife race, 1st Rolle Jackson and Denton Burditt; 2nd Alec Fleming and Don Peterson; nine and ten years, spot race, Billie Peterson. A guessing game was won by Eleanor Thompson.

After the games many of the children enjoyed a cool dip on the beach.

long—almost to the breaking point—and when it ended there was bound to be a reaction of some kind. But there should soon follow a reaction from the reaction and after a brief interval we ought to take up new undertakings. In this spirit we can expect still greater things.

Rev. Mr. Walker expressed the thanks of the Society to Mr. Young and closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. John Mulhron acted as pianist for the meeting.

CONSERVE WATER

In an effort to conserve water, the Village Council requests citizens to refrain from leaving their lawn services running for lengthy periods.

Miss Alice Heasman Feted By Members Of Her Family And Friends — Left Today

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kane, River Valley, was the scene of a gathering of the Heasman family on Friday evening last in honour of Miss Alice Heasman, who left today for England. Miss Heasman, who has been on the staff of King George School, Belleville, for a number of years, is one of a group of Canadian school teachers chosen to go to England under the interchange of teachers plan and will be located at Ilford.

Some forty members of the family were present and a program of music and short addresses was enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. Alfred Davis, of Stockdale. Miss Eleanor Bush presided at the piano. During the evening Miss Heasman was presented with a purse of money and a Reynolds pen, Alice very graciously thanked the members of her family for the lovely gifts, following which refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Among members of the family present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. James Heasman and son, William, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rowe, of Warkworth, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Davis, of Stockdale.

Presented With Sweater

On Monday evening Miss Alta Hanna was hostess at a social evening in honour of Miss Heasman, with some twenty guests present. The first part of the evening was spent by the guests in writing souvenir letters to Miss Heasman, one of which will be opened and read each day of her voyage, while Miss Heasman made a cover for the same. Later a short programme was enjoyed consisting of readings by Mrs. Don Donohoe, Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh, Mrs. Philip Conley and two readings, one a poem composed by herself, by Mrs. Clarence Chard.

Mrs. Roy Bush and Mrs. Chard briefly addressed Miss Heasman, following which Miss Hanna presented the guest of honour with a sweater on behalf of the guests. Alice voiced her appreciation for the lovely gift and the spirit that prompted it, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Among those from Stirling attending the Annual sessions of the Grand Lodge of A.F. & A.M. of Canada in the Province of Ontario, are Messrs: J. L. Good, T. W. Solmes, C. I. Hatton, R. A. Patterson and C. A. Baker

Friends of Miss Marion Richardson, Ridge Road, will regret to learn that she underwent a major operation in Hamilton General Hospital on Monday. The latest report is that she is doing as well as can be expected.

Sidney Junior Farmers Meet

The Sidney Junior Farmers held their July meeting in the Frankford Community Hall on Thursday evening, July 11th.

The president, Don Nicholson, was in the chair with twenty members present.

Plans for the trip to the County Junior Farmer Field Day at Maynooth on July 25th were made and practices were arranged for the Sidney Softball Team which will represent the club in the inter-club competition.

The meeting was addressed by Mr. Harry W. Burns, Assistant Agricultural Representative, who described the Common Barberry and how it acts as the intermediate host for the fungus causing stem rust of grain and the European Buckthorn which performs a similar function in the spread of leaf rust of oats.

Mr. H. Lynn Fair, Agricultural Representative, suggested that the Junior Farmers initiate a clean up project for the eradication of the Common Barberry and European Buckthorn.

It was moved by Ray Hall and seconded by Doug Prest, that the Sidney Junior Farmers set an example to other clubs in the County by commencing the Common Barberry and European Buckthorn clean-up.

Mr. Fair outlined the 1946 Junior Farmer plowing competitions and matches, which consist of two sections—a Home Plowing Competition, conducted on the home farms of the contestants where at least three acres must be plowed by the contestant and a Junior Plowing Match, conducted on a suitable farm in the County. The two winners of the Junior Match would be eligible for entry in the International Ploughing Match to be held near Clinton, Huron County, in October. The Sidney Junior Farmers, at their next meeting, arrange for a place and date for the competition, while an application for judges may be made immediately to Mr. J. A. Carroll, Secretary of the Ontario Plowmen's Association.

WARNING SIGN NEEDED

On a number of occasions I have drawn attention to the failure to observe the stop signs within these signs were placed in their position for the sole purpose of ensuring conditions and it is up to the motorist to observe them.

While there are a number of signs in the village, we refer particularly to the corner of Front and North streets, Nos. 33 and 14, where a dangerous corner and whether it is the position of the sign that people fail to see it, or whether they just choose to ignore it, we do not know from actual count that only a very small percentage of the motorists do observe it. We have always maintained that some other form of warning, preferably, a flasher light, was needed at this point. Some day one of these careless motorists will be the cause of a fatal accident at this point, and then the cry for a warning light will go up. Why not take the necessary action now before an accident occurs?

CYCLISTS NOTE!

In these days when so many use bicycles as a means of getting about it is well to have attention called to the same safeguards which regulate motor traffic, because the same rules apply. For the guidance of bicyclists the following safety suggestions are given out by the Ontario Motor League:

1. DON'T ride more than two abreast at any time, and keep in single file in city traffic.
2. DON'T change direction suddenly.
3. DON'T ride closely behind a motor vehicle. It may stop unexpectedly.
4. KEEP your hands on the handlebars.
5. DON'T pass motor vehicles on the wrong side.
6. DON'T attempt to ride up steep hills.
7. KEEP a close watch on street intersections and turn corners slowly.
8. GIVE signals before making left turns, and make right turns close to the curb.

In addition the League has the following to say in general about cycling, particularly as it applies to the problems of motorists:

"Bicyclists should bear in mind that the bicycle is classed in the Highway Traffic Act as a vehicle and subject to the general rules and regulations applicable to vehicles."

"Bicyclists, therefore, are required to observe stop regulations, traffic lights, the right of way rule at intersections and all the other rules of the road that govern vehicles generally."

"Bicycles must carry lights or reflectors, as specified in the Highway Traffic Act, and must have a white surface on the back not less than ten inches in length and two inches in width, so placed as to be clearly visible to drivers of other vehicles. This is exceedingly important from the standpoint of safety."

BEWARE OF POISON IVY

In choosing the locale for a holiday camp or picnic as a temporary resting place in a day's outing, the precaution should be taken to make sure that no poison ivy is around. This unpleasant weed can grow anywhere but is rarely met with on cultivated ground. It may be found in dense patches about a foot high, or as a small clump, or as a climbing plant twining around trees or crawling along fences. The leaves are in groups of three, glossy green, and in the fall assume autumnal colours. In June the flowers appear. They are small, greenish and hidden by the leaves. In winter they take the form of hard, round whitish berries. However, no matter what time of the year, the plant is poisonous in every part — leaves, stem and roots which are permeated by an oil. On breakage of any part of the plant, the oil is released and contact is made.

The initial stage of poisoning is a mild itching sensation, followed by the development of blisters which become painful oozing sores. Poisoning may also result through anything that has touched the ivy — clothing, kit, shoe laces, tools, picnic baskets, or even a pet dog or cat. Many treatments have been proposed and used, but when possible the immediate scrubbing of contacted part with strong laundry soap will effect a cure, if the soap has been used before the oil has penetrated the skin. A common treatment is daubing the affected parts with a three per cent solution of potassium permanganate or tincture of iodine. Once blisters have been formed, all rubbing should be avoided.

If the attack is severe a doctor should be consulted. Care should be taken to localize infection by painting iodine round the edges of sores, or by using compresses soaked in a two per cent solution of aluminium acetate or any other cooling substance like soda or boracic acid powder. No application should be made when the sores are oozing because they may seal over and aggravate conditions.

WEEDS COST MONEY

The weed tax is as great as any the farmer has to pay. They increase the labor of cultivation. They spread from one farm to another so that the good farmer suffers for the sins of laziness of his neighbour. They make the fields unsightly and in some cases they poison the liver for the grade of the grain so that it is small and they lower the grade of the grain. They make out of the grain. They hurt but harm. The mower, the hoe and the hoe used diligently will do wonders in cleaning up the weeds and making it look better there.

Through the rural section survey one sees many grain fields so overgrown that you would almost be startled deliberately. Every farmer who must have no control of this weed. Experience that a heavy infestation of weeds will yield of oats over three per cent only that, but farms polluted with weeds depreciate in value. No one can determine the amount of this loss, but certainly many prospective purchasers reject farms because they are overrun with weeds. In these days when increased production is so urgently needed, any loss from lack of control of this weed is to be regretted.

INDUSTRIAL DISTURBANCE RETARDING RECOVERY

It is natural that labour should strive to improve wages and working conditions and insure for themselves a standard of living comparable to that of other classes in society. Labour is entitled to that and should have it. Labor leaders, however do not seem to be satisfied with a settlement of disputes on that basis. There is a suspicion, apparently well founded, that satisfactory settlement and stable conditions are not the wish of labour leaders. Recurring or continued economic disturbance is more to their liking, for it will lead inevitably to a depression and during such a period more rapid political gains could be made. All signs point to such a concealed programme, not only in Canada but throughout the world.

Certainly, recovery and the re-establishment of trade and industry are being seriously retarded by repeated disputes between labour and industry and by recurring strikes. It seems impossible to settle anything and to get down to a basis of steady employment and reasonable volumes of production.

The re-establishment of trade and industry is now so vital that governments would be justified in unsparing, temporarily, sufficient power to make the needed adjustment in wages and working conditions and then ban for a period of working conditions and then ban for a period of working conditions. And when doing so they should fortify themselves with sufficient courage and power to enforce the law.

If all the laws were enforced, half of us would be in jail and the other half out on bail.

Men in high positions can be mighty generous when spending other people's money says an exchange.

If there's one thing you learn in the newspaper business, it is to be skeptical of all rumours that you hear. It seems that at least half of the reports that someone tells you that "they heard" turn out to be false after you track them down.

It costs $416.79 for each boat locked through the Rideau Canal last summer, according to figures of the Auditor General. It would be interesting to know how this compares with the Trent Canal. However, there appear to be more pleasure yachts in use than usual and this figure will be reduced accordingly.

Citizens of Stirling are being asked by the Village Council to save water. Due to the severe drought there has been an unusual demand on the village well for watering gardens and lawns and the supply, which has never failed before, is showing signs of not meeting the demand. So it might be better to let your lawn suffer than be without water some morning for breakfast.

Weather conditions for the past few weeks have been ideal for haying operations being carried out by the farmers, but the severe drought is seriously affecting pastures and vegetable crops. An occasional light shower has brought temporary relief but the extreme heat is drying up pastures and milk production is dropping as a result.

What Others Say!

WELL TO HAVE PRICE CONTROL

Following the removal of ceilings in the United States, prices on all commodities, etc., have skyrocketed across the border, as high as four hundred per cent, in some cases. Canadians can be thankful that price control is still in this country. To the Federal Government and Donald Gordon go the credit for this legislation, which has been an anchor to the Dominion's domestic economy.

Uncle Hy Says

The lawyer sits him down and writes, "whereas, therefore, because," he knows more ways to stretch it out and keep within the laws, and even when in parliament, which much of him demands, he frames a lot of cockeyed laws that no one understands.

But bless his heart, we cannot do without our lawyer man, when open ears he learns our woes and does whatever he can, to keep us out of big stone jails, where crime is really taught, and if he fails, he sits him down and weeps as like as not.

Ah, yes, we must not pass him up when he boquets we would strew, a pretty decent sort of chap, and I'm reminding you, when people meet and want some one to take their claims to court, the lawyer's first upon his feet, to offer his support. (Protected)

FRIESEN—WOOD

On Wednesday, July 10th, at 2 p.m. in the R.C.A.F. Chapel at Trenton, the marriage of Ethel Irene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Wood, Stirling, and Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Friesen, of Winnipeg, was solemnized by Wing Commander E. C. McCullagh, Commanding Officer Chaplain No. 1 Air Command.

The bride wearing a wrock of white silk jersey, with small white hat, and carrying a white Bible with streamers and sweetheart roses, entered the chapel on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Bridal chorus from Lohengrin played by her cousin, Mrs. E. Wood at the organ.

Miss Marion Richardson in yellow silk jersey and wearing a corsage of mauve sweet peas and baby's breath, was bridesmaid.

The groom was supported by Mr. Rayburn Wood, brother of the bride. During the signing of the register, the organist played "O Perfect Love." Following the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Wood wore a frock of printed mauve silk jersey with a corsage of sweet peas.

The happy couple left on an extended motor trip through the Algonquin Park to Winnipeg and Saskatoon.

The Common Cold

U. K. Information Office — "A Common Cold Research Unit" is being established by Britain's Medical Research Council and Ministry of Health, and will start work this month at the Harvard Hospital, near Salisbury.

The problem of the common cold is a particularly complex one, made more difficult because, apart from chimpanzees, which are unsatisfactory for experimental purposes, it has not yet proved possible to study it in animals.

Therefore, the first objective on the present investigations into the common cold is to find a susceptible animal or, better still, some other laboratory technique which will permit a scientific approach to the problem. As a check on their laboratory studies, workers at the National Institute of Medical Research, will at last for the time being, require to test on human volunteers the cold-producing activities of materials they are studying.

Don't Let Your Dollar Become a "TRAMP"

There is a big difference in dollars.

There is the "Tramp" dollar — the dollar that is spent away from home. Then there is the "Home" dollar with its "home" circulation, "home" benefits and "home" profits.

Though both of these dollars are marked "One Hundred Cents," the "home" dollar continues to multiply itself "at home" for community interests are mutual. Not so with the "tramp dollar" — once spent it is gone forever.

The success of Stirling and its surrounding territory contributes to the success of everybody in it. A prosperous town rests on the individual prosperity.

The advantage to you of spending your dollar in Stirling is far greater than the "Tramp" dollar can possibly buy — even if it bought a hundred cents worth — and which it cannot possibly do, because the other fellow in the out-of-town field must make a profit.

There is big truth in this, worthy of your serious thought. It pays to trade at home with your "home" dollar.

EXPORTS ARE VITAL

Sixty years ago, over half the people of Canada were needed to feed the remainder of the country. Today less than one-quarter of the population is needed to operate the farms, and Canada is going into the post-war period with a plant geared to produce 40 to 50 per cent above the pre-war level. The export market is vital. The ability to export, states Frank Sheffrin, Economics Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, in the Agricultural Institute Review, will be influenced greatly by the national measures or controls exercised by various governments to channel, impede, restrict, or promote international trade.

GROW STRAWBERRIES EASILY FROM SEED

Strawberries may be grown easily from seed. Since 1940, more than 2,000 seedling strawberry plants have been grown to fruiting age at the Dominion Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S., says Dr. R. J. Hilton, of the Station. A summary of the performance of seedlings of several commercially important varieties may be of general interest to horticulturists. In addition to the strawberry, Fragaria vesca var. alba, and a promising very early wild strawberry, F. virginiana were also used in the breeding program. Pollen of the wild F. virginiana was successfully used on several garden sorts, but since the white-fruited vesca is of widely different chromosome count to that of cultivated varieties, successful crosses between the species in most cases could not be made.

Senator Dunlop seedlings profusely running plants, low small-leaved, and generally bearing poor quality fruit.

Premier seedlings, large, vigorous plants, large rather dark leaves, inflorescence borne at medium height or higher. Fruit fair to good quality. Unfortunately, the plants are very subject to June Yellows, disorder, rendering many of them useless.

Catskill seedlings, large vigorous plants resembling the parent. Heavy producers. A small proportion of the plants become affected with June Yellows.

Fairfax seedlings, variable in running habit, large plants often with light coloured leaves. Fruit of higher quality than that of any other parent tested.

Dorset seedlings, low to medium height plants, dark green foliage; fruit roundish, rather small and usually of good quality.

Simcoe seedlings, plants vigorous, low, large-leaved with short flower stalks. Fruit, bright red, rather ate, often very large, spade-shaped and of fair to good quality.

McKenzie seedlings, low, profusely running plants, early fruiting; berries rather small and of fair quality.

In general, seedlings of the varieties mentioned follow the pattern outlined. However, the second parent is important, and when a high quality variety such as Dorset or Fairfax is used as male parent with Senator Dunlop, for example, the quality and flavour of the seedlings is considerably improved.

When wild strawberry pollen is used on garden varieties, from 50 to 75 per cent of the progeny strongly resemble the wild parent—particularly as to profuse running habit and tenderness of berry. Fruit size in such crosses is usually about double that of the wild berries.

WORLD FOOD CRISIS MAY LAST FOR YEARS

The critical world food situation may last for four or five years. Ample evidence exists to show that, even with the average or better than average yields for the remainder of 1946 and 1947, the world food situation will remain critical, at least until the harvests of 1947. Sir John Boyd Orr, Director General of Food and Agricultural Organization, has stated that the world food situation is likely to remain critical in one way or another for the next four or five years, and has urged some agreement on a plan for international agricultural action over that period of time.

The grain supply outlook for the approaching season is anything but reassuring, states the Monthly Review of the Wheat Situation. A preliminary estimate of world food needs and supplies for 1946-47, prepared by the F.A.O. reveals that in the case of wheat the import needs of the deficit countries may be as large as 30 million metric tons in order to maintain a minimum subsistence. On the other hand, assuming average weather conditions, the amount available from the "Big Four" exporters is not likely to exceed 20 million tons.

EGG CASES ARE NOW IN SHORT SUPPLY

Anticipating record egg production this fall, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has warned dealers of the need to order egg cases immediately. "With this year's hatchings earlier than usual, and 19 per cent above those of 1945, Canadian egg production beginning this fall may reach an all-time high", the Department said.

To ensure sufficient containers for the hundreds of millions of eggs to be produced this fall and winter, the Department recommended that all shippers of eggs in cartot quantities order case shooks fully six months in advance so that sufficient wood may be obtained for their manufacture.

SCHEDULES FOR POTATO SPRAYS

Information on the spraying and dusting of potatoes, based on the latest tests with DDT and other materials, is contained in a statement issued jointly by Prof. W. R. Thompson, Pro and K. Richardson, Plant Pathologist, Dominion Laboratory, St. Catherine's. According to this statement, potatoes should be sprayed or dusted every 7 to 10 days from the time the plants are six to eight inches high until the tops either ripen naturally or are killed by frost. With such a schedule, all new growth is kept covered as soon as it develops. Only foliage thus covered is protected against insect and disease attack throughout the season. The report then goes on to give the following Entomologist, O.A.C., Guelph, giving details:

RALPH TURNER, SCHOOL PRINCIPAL AT COE HILL, HELD

Former C.C.F. candidate for Hastings-Peterborough and principal of the Coe Hill public and continuation school, Mr. Ralph Turner, aged 36, of Coe Hill, was arrested in Toronto on Thursday and is being held without bail charged with indecent assault against male persons, otherwise boys in his school under 15 years of age.

According to provincial police here investigation in the case was commenced two months ago following rumours of the school principal's alleged behaviour and after a boy had been expelled from school. Turner also had acted in the role of Sunday School teacher at a Coe Hill church.

Investigation in the case was conducted by Provincial Constable S. W. Palmatier, of Bancroft and Constable Ernest J. Koays of Belleville. Turner is being held in Belleville and has been remanded to appear at police court in Bancroft on Wednesday, July

AT YOUR SERVICE

In 1886 — 60 years ago — the Dominion Experimental Farms were founded. Starting with five farms the System has since been extended to 34 farms and stations and 210 illustration stations. This System, the largest and most comprehensive of its kind in any country, is maintained, with the other Services of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, for the promotion of agriculture and the national economy of Canada.

As a result of the work carried out in the past by all the Services of the Department in co-operation with the provinces and agricultural colleges, a much greater measure of stability has been given to farming in the Dominion.

Now that the war has ended all the Services of the Dominion Department of Agriculture — Experimental Farms, Science, Production and Marketing — visualize a broader and fuller program of usefulness to the people of Canada. The facilities of these Services are varied and extensive. Everybody in Canada is invited to take advantage of them freely. The Department is always ready to assist in any way in the advancement of the basic industry of Canada — Agriculture.

QUICK ACTION BY NAVYMAN RESCUES TWO AIRFORCEMEN

Two airforce men by the names of Michaud and Ford were rescued from near drowning Sunday afternoon at 3.30. While canoeing in the bay, their boat overturned but they managed to cling to the sides of the disabled craft. Their plight was seen by Jack Farnsworth, Dundas Street East, who was just preparing to go out fishing with his wife when he heard the boys cry out for help. Along with a Mr. Ferguson who lives nearby, he quickly rowed out to the rescue. By the time Trenton Constable Barney McColl arrived on the scene the two dripping airforce men had been brought to shore. Uninjured, they righted their boat and set off again. Farnsworth has had five years' naval experience in the last war.

BANCROFT BOY INSTANTLY KILLED BY BACKING TRUCK

Six-year-old William Maxwell, son of a garage proprietor at Bancroft was instantly killed early Saturday evening when he was struck by a truck driven by Russel Evans of that village.

According to police the little fellow was playing near the garage when the Evans truck drew up to a gasoline pump. When the vehicle was backing out the boy ran behind the truck out of view of the driver. He was caught under the wheels and died almost instantly.

Eyewitnesses to the accident were Mrs. Andrew McLaughlin and her daughter, Mrs. Don Rose, who stated that a man yelled "For Heaven's sake drive ahead" at Evans, who apparently did not know the child was under the truck.

An inquest has been ordered by Coroner Dr. Lumb. Provincial Police Constable Stanley Polmateer investigated the accident.

If You Are a No.1 Citizen
You will look after
No. 1...

THIS is not selfishness, but the realization that a community is no better, no sounder than its citizens. The welfare of our community—Canada—depends not alone on those charged with the government of the country, but on each of its citizens—12,000,000 strong.

Today, that welfare is menaced by the danger of inflation. Already, millions in lands devastated by war suffer misery because of it.

Inflation, to the citizen, means simply less and less value for his dollar... his living costs soar as free and careless spending drives up the price of goods still in short supply.

War always brings the threat of inflation in its wake... only the prudence of the people can keep it in check.

How? Mainly, by conservation... by buying only those goods which are in fair supply, and by saving money for the day when goods now in short supply will be readily available.

This helps to keep prices steady—to keep your dollar at its real worth.

This means that, if you are a No. 1 citizen, you will rigidly avoid black market purchases and you will save money by

- building up your savings account;
- keeping up your insurance;
- buying Government bonds and War Savings Certificates;
- holding whatever of these securities you have bought.

This is conservation—the first requisite for personal security—the first attribute of good citizenship.

Thursday, 8.00 p.m.—Prayer and Bible School ary Society entertained the Baby Band and their mothers, also their leader Mrs. Sidner Demorest, the Mission Band members and their leader, Mrs. Wilbert Jeffs with over fifty in attendance at the July meeting.

The service was held at the church hall and was in charge of the vice-president, Mrs. Percy MacMullen.

Mrs. Ross Hoard played quiet music and Mrs. MacMullen used as a Call to Worship "The Last Rose", and offered prayer. Sixteen members answered Roll Call. The August meeting will be in charge of the Stewardship Secretary, Mrs. Cyrus Summers read the minutes and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver reported almost ninety dollars for the half year.

Mrs. Sidner Demorest took charge of the Graduation Service when Rae David, Garry Rose and David McAdam graduated out of the Baby Band. Miss Betty McConnell accompanied the hymns and the leader read all the names of the babies on the roll and gave a special story.

The Mission Band at this juncture took over the programme and the vice president, Miss Ruth Linn presided. The worship period was conducted by Mrs. S. Demorest who read a poem, "This is my Father's World" and gave a story based on "The Good Seed." Miss Marie Montgomery read a poem and Miss Eleanor Johnson read the Bible lesson. Miss Ruth Dunham read the minutes and the Roll was called from a special chart. This chart has gold stars for payment of fees and blue stars for attendance and it was hoped the mothers would see that the children attend the meetings and paid their ten cent fees.

Mrs. Bert Jeffs, leader of the Mission Band, outlined the Temperance Story entitled "The Magic Stethoscope" and a chapter of the Study Book about "Nyanga". Miss Ruth Rose read "Heavenly Music" and Miss Betty McConnell contributed a piano solo entitled "Yellow Sands". Miss Shirley McKeown read a story. The offering was gathered and dedicated and the W.M.S. was over six dollars in envelopes with the loose collection going to the two Junior organizations. Mrs. John Holmes closed the meeting with prayer. The W.M.S. members served refreshments to the guests — sandwiches, cookies and lemonade and the children in attendance enjoyed a happy afternoon.

Mrs. Blanche Rowe, of Brantford, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Couch. On Sunday at noon the Spencer family entertained Mrs. B. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mallinson and Garry Brantford, also Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer. The folks from Brantford were tea hour guests Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. A. Couch.

Mrs. G. F. Spencer visited Mrs. Allan Bailey on Monday.

Miss Fernie Reide visited with her aunt at Sulphide last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cooke, of West Huntingdon, were dinner guests on Sunday of the latter's brother, Mr. George McMullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Stapley spent Sunday in Trenton, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Stapley, Misses Hilda and Joyce Stapley, returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bridges and Mrs. H. Ashley spent Saturday in the north for huckleberries.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow, Misses June and Elva White, Joanne Reid spent Sunday in Marmora and Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett and Rosella spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irwin, Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly, Wayne and Billy, of Warkworth, spent the tea hour on Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow.

The Mission Band was entertained Tuesday on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Warren Harlow.

Joan Stapley presided over the programme and the singing of theme song opened the meeting, followed by repeating of Mission Band Purpose.

Mr. Stewart led in prayer. Scripture Lesson, Psalm 95 was read by Miss Hilda Stapley. Roll Call was answered by 18. Offering taken by Marilyn Reid amounted to $1.50. Readings were given by Elva White, Betty Gallivan, Helen Stapley, Donna Stapley and Grace Clarke sang "Jesus Loves Me". Joan and Helen Stapley sang a duet also, "There is a fountain filled with blood" and hymn "Jesus Bids us Shine" was sung.

Mr. Stewart gave the talk for the afternoon. Before closing hymn "When He Cometh" was sung. Joan thanked Mr. Stewart for the talk and all who had taken part in the programme. The Mizpah Benediction was repeated. Lunch was served consisting of ice cream, cake and doughnuts.

It being the occasion of Mr. Stewart's birthday, the guest of honour was seated in a chair and a birthday cake with the candles on, was brought out, after the twenty some candles were lit. All joined in a circle singing Happy Birthday. The guest of honour cut the cake and it was served also.

The W.M.S. and W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Ray Danford on Thursday with ten members and visitors and three children attending.

Mrs. R. Stapley presided over the programme, the theme song was sung and "Come let us sing of a wonderful love." Mr. K. Stewart led in prayer. Scripture Lesson and Commentary, Hosea 10th Chapter 12th verse was given by Mrs. W. Harlow. "More love to Thee" was sung. Mrs. Bruce Stapley gave a reading on Customs in foreign lands. Misses Helen and Joan Stapley gave a piano duet. Mrs. R. Chamber and Mrs. R. Stapley sang a duet "My Cathedral". Mr. Stewart gave a very interesting talk on Hardships and trials of those labouring on Foreign Lands. Miss Gladys Clarke gave a reading. August meeting to be held in the church with the Baby Band, Mission Band, Mrs. B. Reide in charge of programme. Take Time to be Holy was sung and Mizpah Benediction repeated. Offering amounted to $1.75. Lunch was served by hostess and proceeds amounted to $1.30.

Impressive Programme

It must be reported that there is no small degree of concern backstage in this capital about the possible length of this session on account of the huge list of tasks still facing the legislators before it can be closed, even eliminating that nothing unexpected may turn up to delay proceedings of the House of Commons, though such an eventuality is possible, of course. In addition to bills or resolutions on the order paper already, the chief item of business is, of course, the budget. But it is only one task and there remains to be passed a considerable volume of estimates. Then there are bills dealing with veterans' affairs, predicted to be twelve, and other bills arising from reports of committees. Furthermore, there are bills respecting the financing of the C.N.R. amending the Criminal Code; amending the Immigration Act; consequent upon the Canadian Citizenship Act; Department of National Defence; Canadian Broadcasting Act; Canadian Information Service; Federal District Commission Act; Toronto Harbour Commissioners; Merchant Seamen's compensation; National Housing Act; Militia Pension Act; ratifying of Canada-United Kingdom Tax Agreements; Canadian War Crimes Regulations; and others.

Obviously even this short outline of the tasks confronting the present session of Parliament indicates beyond a shadow of a doubt that it is an extremely lengthy programme still to be handled so that it would be no surprise if something is not done soon to expedite the business of the House though the Government has taken great pains to make it clear that it favours a speed up of proceedings but it is not anxious to shorten the business of this session, nor to cause it to be pressed on unduly.

British Brides Still Coming

A total of no less than 40,260 wives and children of Canadian service personnel have been brought to this country up to and including July 5 but still awaiting transportation in the United Kingdom are 15,297 wives and 4,357 children with 2,188 wives and 67 children in Northwest Europe. This has become known in Ottawa where it is pointed out that the population boost would be over 62,000 war brides and children when this is accomplished.

Parity and Coal

The price of imported American coal to the Canadian consumer will not be affected by the new parity of the Canadian and American dollars. It is indicated in this capital, though Canadian industries will benefit since the price of their imported coal has not been subsidized, with the 10 cent benefit on every dollar being eaten up in lessening the subsidies by which the Canadian Government has kept the price to Canadian family consumers within certain ceilings.

Prison Commission

Members of the Saskatchewan Prison Commission have been in Ottawa working on a report which they anticipate will probably be measuring means for all provinces in the reforming of penal institutions. This Commission was appointed by the Government of Saskatchewan to examine penal institutions. This Commission was appointed by the Government of Saskatchewan to examine penal institutions or reformatories in Saskatchewan, New York, California, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Ohio, etc. During their stay in this capital, they interviewed the new Federal Commissioner of Penitentiaries, Maj.-Gen. Ralph Gibson. It is believed that their report will be given to the Saskatchewan Government probably in September.

Preparing for Conference

Arrangements are being made for a preparatory committee, of which Canada is a member, to meet London on Oct. 15, 1946 "so that a further constructive step may be taken towards freeing the productive forces of the world" by the United Nations. This has been made known in Ottawa by Premier Mackenzie King.

He disclosed that the suggested basis of discussion will be as follows: International agreement relating to the achievement and maintenance of high and stable levels of employment and economic activity; to regulations, restrictions and discriminations affecting international trade; to restrictive business practices; to international agreement relating to intergovernmental commodity arrangements; establishment of an international trade organization as a specialized agency of the United Nations. Owing to the scope and complexity of the preparatory work necessary before the international conference on trade and employment can be held itself, a conference may not take place until next year and negotiations relating to tariff changes will it is hinted, be held early in 1947.

Sensational Measures

Resulting from "rapid deterioration" of price control in the United States the Minister of Finance, Rt. Hon. Isley, has announced that the Canadian Government has taken four steps to "maintain order, stability and independence" in this nation's economic and financial affairs, including adjustment to parity of Canada and the American dollar; clear listing of all goods now under "ceilings" which involve all articles really of significance in normal household budget; rigid control of markups (profits) on imported goods of a certain kind subject to price control, unless dealt with on another basis, will be priced on importer's landed costs plus prescribed maximum markup in each case which will be less than markup normally obtained by distributors of similar domestic goods, and subsidies paying policy will continue.

It is held in Ottawa that this practical insulation of Canada's economy against current unfavorable external conditions and easing of present inflationary pressures may bring sweeping implications but officials here refuse opinions on same, though it is evident that Canadian Government has no intention "to move exchange rate with every passing wind."

"We have established a simple and workable pricing principle for imports which among other things, will enable a continued flow of whatever goods are available from other countries despite fluctuation in foreign prices," said Mr. Isley.

Extension of Emergency Powers

Premier Mackenzie King has served notice in Parliament whereby he would seek an extension of the Emergency Transitional Powers Act in order to avoid adding to the already extremely heavy legislative program before the House of Commons, indicating that the next session of Parliament would come in late January.

Judges Salaries Raised

According to two bills introduced in Parliament by Justice Minister St. Laurent, it is intended to increase the number of puisne judges of the Exchequer Court from two to three and to raise the salaries paid judges generally by one-third starting next Jan. 1. It was explained that present salaries of judges were established in 1920 and those were lower than those paid in other countries based on the British judicial system.

Said In The Capital

"If it isn't listed, it isn't under the collar," said in Ottawa Donald Gordon, chairman War-time Prices and Trade Board, in referring to new order listing all goods considered to be under price control in Canada. "When all is said and done, the objectives of our national stabilization program are the preservation of real values, the protection of the value of real wages, of the real wages, of the real incomes of primary producers, of the real value of the income of pensioners and teachers and office workers and of the wartime savings of so many millions of Canadians," declared Rt. Hon. J. L. Isley in Parliament. "Let us not be unduly dismayed by the trouble and turmoil in the world of today," stated Premier Mackenzie King. "What else could be expected as the aftermath of the appalling hatred and strife of recent years?" "Canadian food produces will be in demand for a long time," declared Hon. D. L. Campbell, Minister of Agriculture for Manitoba in an interview in this capital.

Weekly Wind-up

While tourist trade may be affected adversely in certain parts of Canada, by the parity of the Canadian and American dollar, yet it is stated in Ottawa that buyers from the United States may be plentiful since the price control system is much tighter in this country and prices generally lower for certain commodities. Investigation into irregularities in the handling of food ration coupons in some branches of the Banque Provinciale are continuing, it is learned here. The matter of filling posts of high diplomatic standing in Britain, Australia and South Africa, are dependent in some measure on transfers in the Canadian diplomatic corps. Canadians who did "underground" work will get veterans' rights and benefits since the Veterans' Affairs Committee of the House of Commons has approved a draft bill to give such benefits and rights to 51 special operators who were dropped into Europe to do such dangerous work, with the remark that a considerable number of them were killed. Reconstruction Minister Howe has said in Ottawa that "if somebody will give us $50,000,000 for Polymer Corporation, we will sell it," this referring to the artificial rubber plan owned by the Federal Government. One of the principal features of the bill adopted by the House of Commons to curb monopolies in trade is that it allows the Exchequer Court to cancel the patent and trademark rights of any firm restricting their use to the detriment of the public.

ADS ON INFLATION

Readers of The News-Argus will note that The Bank of Montreal has commenced a series of advertisements regarding the problem of inflation which is growing in importance to Canadians within recent weeks. It is emphasized that the individual is the keystone of the situation and it is hoped that through this concerted publicity by the Bank of Montreal, that our readers will become more cognizant of the implications arising and the means by which inflation might be warded off.

Hello Homemakers! Food freshness has an appeal all its own. The quality and the quantity of your own garden produce can be used to advantage if you keep food fresh. With summer weather creating fickle appetites, plan to serve the season's fruits and vegetables in winning ways.

What cool comfort there is in crisp salads, in clear, sparkling jellies, chilled fruit cups, luscious iced desserts and frosty beverages!

To pride yourself in a job well done review the method of operating the electric refrigerator, which does such a big job of maintaining food freshness.

FRESH TOSSED SALAD

Prepare crisp salad greens, tomato wedges, paper-thin cucumber slices and onion rings. Toss thoroughly in individual salad dishes rubbed once with garlic.

NOODLE SALAD

Boil 4 ounces flat noodles in a large pot of salted water until tender. Drain, rinse with hot water, drain and cool. Add 1 cup (each) fine-cut celery and grated raw carrot with sliced radishes, chopped pickle and scraped onion to taste. Thick salad dressing—salt-pepper. Serve with headcheese.

FRUIT SALADS

Drained grapefruit and orange sections, folded with halved strawberries and whipped-cream mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce on individual salad plates or in a big salad bowl, with sprinkle of chop nuts.

White cream cheese or cottage cheese mixed with diced rhubarb steeped in syrup and finely-chopped parsley, and mounded in lettuce; cover with strawberry halves and garnish with orange. Hot brown rolls, or biscuits make the perfect supplement.

UNCOOKED STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

(Refrigerator Method)

1-2 cups crushed ripe strawberries, 1-3 cup fruit sugar, 2 tps. lemon juice, 2 egg whites, pinch of salt, 1-2 cup corn syrup, 1-4 cups (1-2 pint) whipping cream.

Add fruit sugar to the berries and combine thoroughly. Add lemon juice. Beat the egg whites with the salt until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in the corn syrup, beating after each addition until the mixture stands in peaks. Whip the cream to the consistency of custard sauce and to fold in the corn syrup mixture, then the berries. Turn into freezing tray and freeze to a mush, with the control set to give the coldest possible temperature; scrape the mixture from the sides and bottom of tray and beat until smooth but not melted. Return to refrigerator until hard enough for serving, then turn back the control to the point where it will just hold the dessert frozen. Recipe makes a quart of delicious, fresh flavored ice cream.

CARE OF AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATOR

1. Check the door gasket (rubber) by inserting a slip of paper in the opened door. Close the door—if you can pull out easily, the gasket needs replacing. Keep the gasket clean. Oil and grease—even finger perspiration—damages it. Washing it frequently with mild soap and water will prolong its life.

2. Keep the door shut as much as possible—never let it stand open. Plan "take-outs" and "put aways" so that you won't have to open the door any more than necessary.

3. Allow foods to cool before placing them in the refrigerator. Never put in hot foods—your refrigerator has to work harder to absorb the heat.

4. Always cover all cooked foods before you put them in the refrigerator. This helps keep the refrigerator from needing defrosting frequently and saves the mechanism from overworking. (It saves vitamins, too).

5. Defrost when the ice on the freezing unit gets 1-4 inch thick. Heavy frost reduces the circulation of cold air.

6. Keep temperature control set at normal, except when quick freezing (e.g., making ice cream). As soon as possible after quick freezing, set back the control to normal.

7. Don't overload the refrigerator. Leave room around foods to let the cold air circulate. Overloading especially in hot weather, is a frequent cause of breakdowns.

8. Air circulation around the refrigerator is important. Keep the refrigerator two inches from the wall and allow a clear space above it. Don't pile on top things that cut off the free circulation of air.

9. Never use an ice pick or knife point to remove ice trays or chip frost from the freezing coils. You may seriously damage the unit. To prevent ice trays from sticking don't fill them full; wipe off edges and bottoms of trays.

10. Twice a year disconnect your refrigerator and clean the condenser with a long-handled brush or your vacuum cleaner brush attachment. See your manufacturer's directions to locate the condenser.

An open type electric mechanism should be oiled according to manufacturer's directions. See that the belt is in good condition and not loose. If or worn have it replaced.

12. When you go away from home for only a few days set cold control at low and keep the refrigerator running. If you will be away some time, turn off refrigerator; take out perishable foods and empty the trays; prop the door open.

CHAPTER IV

Airline stewardess Sally Alliston arrives at La Guardia field. Dashing First Officer Jimmy Kennedy offers to give her a lift to the city, but she says she already has a date. To his discomfort she walks over to a limousine and is driven by a chauffeur to the Jethrup mansion where her mother is housekeeper. There she meets her mother and Phillip Jethrup, who is engaged to a society girl. Phillip admits to Sally that he is not happy. Jimmy takes Sally out to dinner and then to the theater, where he deserts Sally, kisses Dronda Moore, stage star, and gets his picture on the front page of the morning paper as a "masher". Sally visits Jimmy's employer in an effort to save Jimmy's job but is unsuccessful. She meets Phillip, who asks her to lunch.

He looked so eager in his blond dignified way that she felt a little sorry for him. "Wasn't Boston fun?"

"You know it wasn't. I didn't want to go to Harvard. I wanted to start to work. But Grandfather made me."

"He was right to make you," she said seriously. "You are going to step into rather large shoes some day, Phillip. You have to be equal to it."

They were stopped by a traffic light, which fact brought a little tea room to his attention. He led her inside and seated her at a table near the window. "That's what scares me, Sally. The responsibility of being a Jethrup. I never wanted money or a position, you know that."

His voice dropped a note. "I won't ever forget that night of the dance, Sally."

"I was mad at you that night."

"I know. I knew you'd be angry the moment I stopped you there by the fence. But you were so beautiful that night, Sally. I had to kiss you."

"And that kiss made me a stewardess." She shook her head. "Funny how things happen."

"I tried to stop Grandfather from sending you away to boarding school. He—he was obstinate. But you don't hold it against me, do you Sally?"

"Phillip, of course not. It was inevitable that I be sent away. Your grandfather was most generous. Do you know that he sent me a weekly allowance?"

"He told me about it. He likes you, Sally."

"And I like him. I used to be afraid of him, but since your people died in that accident he's changed—softened. I don't think, though, that he'd be pleased if he knew we were sitting here together talking about him."

"How could he ever find out?"

It was one of those flippant questions which most people ask and never have answered for them. This time there was an answer in the person of stately, black-haired, blue-eyed Catherine Wingate. The girl stopped beside the table with a low, musical laugh. "Phillip, you should never take your headache where other people can meet her."

He started then became flustered.

"Catherine I....."

"Sally, isn't it? Sally Alliston. How nice to see you again, my dear."

"Nice to see you again, Catherine. Do sit down. Phillip and I were just reminiscing."

"How cute." The heiress darted a glance at Phillip's working lips and sat down with a laugh. "I suppose he told you that we are engaged?"

"No he didn't. I think that's very nice. Congratulations, Phillip."

Catherine's laugh sounded just a wee bit forced. "Now of all things, Phil. A person would think you were ashamed of me, or something."

He ran his hand nervously through his hair. "Perhaps I'm ashamed of myself, Catherine."

"Phil."

"You know perfectly well that I am not interested in you. Grandfather cracked the whip and I jumped through the hoop like a nicely trained lion."

"I think this is my cue to leave."

Sally clambered to her feet. "Thanks for the tea, Phillip; it was nice."

"Oh, you mustn't let me drive you away, Sally. You're practically a member of the family—you're entitled to listen to our quarrel."

"But I'm not the cause of the quarrel, Catherine. You see, I'm just interested in being a good stewardess."

"So long as you remain interested in being that, darling, you and I will get along simply ducky."

She was glad, suddenly, that she wasn't Phillip. Catherine sounded as ugly as a Wingate—er permitted herself to become.....

The 415 plane to Chicago was being given a servicing by the maintenance crew when Sally Alliston alighted from the air field limousine. Mike White was already there, and young Paul Frick, who had been assigned to Mike's crew for the duration of Jimmy's suspension. Sally grinned as she set her little overnight bag down on the floor and went over to give him greetings.

At least, she thought, looking at this sober face, he wasn't a kid.

"Hi Paul, old son. You mean you've decided to grace our plane with your presence?"

"Could be, Sally. Sorry to hear about Jimmy. Though if I know him, I bet right now he's saying that the suspension was a small price to pay for that kiss with Dronda Moore."

"You know him well, Paul, Jimmy won't ever allow a job to interfere with his running after women."

Mike looked up from the magazine he was reading and laughed. "Oh, go easy on the kid, Sally. He isn't the first young man who ever threw away all for a woman. And don't you think there's something rather majestic in doing that? It's the truest compliment a man can pay a woman."

"I'll argue with you in Chicago, Mike. Right now there are more important things to do."

Mike looked anything but dejected as he sat on the little bench beside Sally in the waiting room of the Detroit City Airport building. She had come up to him the moment he got down from the cabin, with the firm command to date her that evening in Chicago, come hell or high water. He had just smiled unable to believe that she really meant it, but her words now were convincing him that it was all quite true.

"After all, Mike, I don't see any reason why we shouldn't go out together. Do you realize that we have been in the same crew for almost six months and that in all that time you have never once treated me to an evening?"

"Gold-digger."

"Yes, that's true. But I'll pay you back with home-cooked dinners at the apartment."

"But—but I don't understand. Is it because of Jimmy? Are you trying to."

"Jimmy, my foot! It's that Major Wasson. I told him I had a date with you this evening, and he looks like the sort of person who's going to make very sure he's not being fooled."

"That old man?"

"Old? Mike, don't be a goose. I'm willing to bet he isn't a day older than thirty-five."

"Well, isn't that odd? Would you marry a man of thirty-five?"

"If I loved him? You bet I would."

His smile became broader, then faded as he thought of something else. "That's right—if you loved him. Which you can't because of Jimmy."

Purple eyes became incredulous. "Mike do you think I am in love with Jimmy?"

"Aren't you?"

"I should say not!"

Bells seemed to sing in his heart—happiness of a kind he had never known before swept through his body with a warm rush. He turned to look her full in the face; his eyes distinctly glowing.

Jimmy Kennedy's eyes were aglow that same evening, but for quite a different reason. To avoid boredom, he had taken a chance and gone to the apartment overlooking Central Park, and was lucky enough to catch Helen Stafford in. She beamed as she led him into the living-room, five feet five of curved, red-headed loveliness and sophistication. "What's the trouble, Jimmy, all the other girls say no?"

"Other girls? Don't be a goose. I wanted to talk to someone sensible and I said to myself, Jimmy, who do you know who's intelligent? Helen, Jimmy answered, and so here Jimmy is. Want me to leave?"

She lapsed into thoughtful silence then said with a show of animation, "You could come to a party with me, if you wish."

His spirits were very low and he scowled. "Who ever wishes to go to a stuffy party?"

"I think this party will especially interest you, Jimmy. Come you used to trust me."

"Oh, all right. What have I to lose."

Helen could have told him, but she refrained with a queer gleam in her eyes.

There was quiet, and then a gasping sound went round the room as Dronda Moore, devastatingly beautiful in a low cut white gown, came slowly in. The star looked around, smiled broadly at one and all, and took her position at the piano as Bill Burke applied the seat of his trousers to the stool and ran up and down the keyboard experimentally. Jimmy stiffened at Helen's side, and she whispered:

"Now are you glad you came?"

"In your debt forever, darling. Miss Moore and I have some unfinished business."

"Jimmy, remember that you're a guest here."

"I have a convenient memory, darling. It holds only what I want to hold. She reflected bitterly that that was all too true then all her attention was claimed by Dronda. She sang, and how she sang!

Mr. Cassidy smote his hands lustily together as The Romantic Blitzyer signified by a little inclination of her head that she had finished, and even Jimmy joined in the patter of applause, and the digging deep into pockets and wallets that followed. His eyes were aglow as he turned to Helen. "Isn't she wonderful?"

"Jimmy, don't tell me that you've fallen."

He laughed and that was not an answer, for the laugh could have meant almost anything.

"I want to look at some false hair," said the lady to the clerk.

"Step this way, Madam. What color does your friend want," said the clerk. For he knew his business.

Tom—"My wife is an angel."

Dick—"I notice she is always flying around."

The landlord was making one more attempt to collect rent from his tenant, a poet.

After the tirade the poet spoke up: "Why, sir, you ought to pay me for living here. In a few years' time people will be looking up at this miserable attic and saying: 'That's where Miller the poet used to live.'"

"Well, they needn't wait all that time," answered the landlord. "If you don't pay me by 11 o'clock they can say it tomorrow."

"Hullo," said a voice, "Is that the R.S.P.C.A.?"

"Yes, madam."

"Well, there's a nasty tramp sitting up in a tree in my garden teasing my dear little dog."

Entered Into Rest

MRS. ABIGAIL BURRELL
Mrs. Abigail Burrell, wife of Mr. Robert Edgar Burrell, died suddenly at her home at Stirling shortly before noon on Tuesday, July 16th.

The late Mrs. Burrell, who was in her 66th year, was born at Holloway and was daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Seeley. For many years she lived on the Ridge Road, near Stirling, and for the past four years she made her home just outside the village limits. She was a member of the Standard Church.

Surviving her are her husband; two sons, Henry and Gordon, Ridge Road, near Stirling; one daughter, Mrs. James Elliott, West Huntingdon, and three grand children.

The funeral will take place from her late residence on Friday afternoon, July 19th, to the Standard Church, Ivanhoe, for service at three o'clock. Interment at White Lake cemetery.

In Hymen's Bonds

ELLIOTT-HOWES

Roslin United Church was the setting for a pretty summer wedding on Saturday afternoon, July 13th, at two o'clock when Jean Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Howes, of Roslin, became the bride of Robert Lorne Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Elliott of West Huntingdon.

Cut flowers, ferns and potted plants formed and attractive setting for the occasion. The Rev. B. Heywood assisted by Mr. K. Stewart officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. James Vanderwater of Moira, played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Helen Cook of Belleville, who sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her exquisite gown of white silk lace net, was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves with long white gloves to match, while her full skirt fell into graceful folds from a tight fitted bodice. Her finger length veil of silk net was caught to her hair with gardenias and she carried a shower bouquet of Bettertime roses. Miss Dorothy Howes, sister of the bride as maid of honor was wearing a dress of blue silk lace, fashioned similar to that of the bride. The bridesmaid, Miss Mina Dobson of Port Perry, wore a floor length gown of peach net over taffeta. Both attendants wore headdresses of gardenias caught in their hair and carried nosegays of the pink rosebuds, fern, white and pink baby carnations and bouvardia. Little Helen Acker, niece of the groom, was a pretty little flower girl in her dainty dress of pink net over taffeta, with a shoulder length veil caught to her hair with baby carnations. She carried a nosegay similar to that of the bride's attendants.

Mr. Don McInroy, of Moira, acted as groomsmen. The ushers were Mr. Harold Howes, of Corbyville and Mr. Harold Elliott, of West Huntingdon.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received the guests in a gold printed silk dress with matching accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a flowered silk jersey dress with matching accessories and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

A buffet luncheon was served to about sixty guests. The wedding cake adorned the centre of the dining room table, decorations being carried out in pink and white. The lunch was served by Misses Hilda Howes, Dorothy Leslie, Margaret Harrison and Grace McInroy. Tea was poured by Miss Norlene Frederick and Mrs. Don McAllister.

Guests were present from Dunnville, Consecon, Queensboro, Port Perry, Frankford. The bride's gifts to her maid of honor, bridesmaid, organist, and soloist were novelty bracelets, the flower girl a silver locket. The groom's gift to his bride was a string of pearls, to the groomsmen a gold pen knife, and the ushers gold tie pins.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left on a wedding trip to Ottawa and points in the United States. For travelling the bride chose a turquoise blue dress with navy accessories. On their return they will live in Carryville Place.

St. Andrews W.M.S. Met

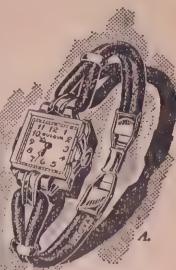

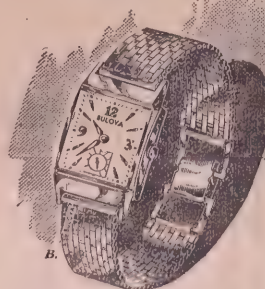

The July meeting of St. Andrews' Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. B. Hoard, on Tuesday afternoon last with a good attendance of members and visitors. The meeting opened with Mrs. Hermiston acting as president in the absence of Mrs. Anderson. Hymn "I am not ashamed to own my Lord," was sung with Mrs. Tummon at the piano, followed by Mrs. Hermiston leading in prayer. Mrs. E. Foster read the Scripture lesson and also gave an explanation. The roll call as responded to by the word "light."

All members are asked to hand in their donations for the Bale at the next meeting, as Mrs. Foster would like the Bale to be ready to send to the Missions in September. The August meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Fargy with Mrs. L. Rodgers assistant. Mrs. Tummon requested that the balance of the thanksgiving fund be completed by September.

A well prepared program in charge of Mrs. Hoard and Mrs. Carman Fitchett, was presented. The hymn "We've a story to tell to the Nations", was sung and a Bible Message was given by Mrs. Rollins on light. God made two great lights, one for the darkness and one for the day. This was followed by prayer by Mrs. Carman Fitchett. Mrs. Hoard gave a paper prepared by Mrs. Parker. Hiding beauty in this World". A splendid topic was prepared by Mrs. Don Rodgers on outstanding African Christians. The fifth chapter of the Study Book. Mrs. Don Rodgers divided this section in three parts 1. Education; 2. Christian Literature; and 3. Medical Missions.

Mrs. Gena Spry gave a reading on the author of a famous hymn. Joseph Scriven, who lived in the district of Rice Lake, near Peterborough was the author of the hymn "What a friend we have in Jesus". He was born in Dublin, Ireland, and came to the neighbourhood of Rice Lake in the year 1850. This hymn closed the meeting with Mrs. Hoard leading in prayer followed by benediction. A dainty lunch was served by those in charge and thanks of the society were ably voiced by Mrs. R. H. Williams.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips, of Stirling, announce the engagement of their daughter, Winnifred Louise, to Alexander Keene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Glover, of Belleville. The marriage will take place in Mt. Pleasant United Church, Stirling, Aug. 5th, at 2 p.m.

BATA LOSES TO LATTA

Bata war clubs failed to solve the slants of chunky Joe Marsh, Latta right-hander in the latter innings of a scheduled Belleville Baseball League game in the Shootout last night, and the "Smoky" Smith clan went down to defeat 6-2 before a large crowd of fans.

The Doc Empson-led crew pounced on the offerings of Harry, starting Bata hurler and nicked him for nine hits and six runs in four and a half innings. After that Smith was rushed into the breach and pitched runless, hitless ball for the remainder of the game.

Hostess To St. Andrew's Ladies

Splendid Programme Presented at Summer Home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Rollins

The summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Rollins was opened to the ladies of St. Andrew's, Stirling, last Thursday and nearly fifty members and visitors were present.

Mrs. L. Rodgers, acting president, very capably conducted the interesting program of the afternoon. The meeting opened with hymn 521 which was followed by Scripture lesson read by Mrs. Anderson from Psalm 25. Mrs. Anderson also read a very appropriate poem: "The Guiding Hand" by Patience Strong. Rev. Walker then led in prayer.

The treasurers report was read next which was very encouraging. Reports of Sick Committee were presented and several other small items of business transacted. Hymn 582 closed the Devotional part of the meeting.

Several rounds of Community singing opened the second part of the meeting. This was followed by a number of readings given by Isobel Fox, Barbara Farney, Mrs. Clarke Rodgers, Mrs. R. Williams and Mrs. Fox.

Mrs. Clarke Rodger gave a very interesting paper on the Homemaker and her job, stressing the fact that Proper Homemaking is a fine art based on most of the sciences included in the school curriculum. The organization of the home could be compared to a wheel provided with several spokes revolving around a centre will oiled with love, patience, good judgement, tact, and foresight. The job of the homemaker is the organization, direction, and control of the human and material resources of the family.

Mrs. Williams' paper on the Romance of Sacred Songs was also very interesting. It explained the historical background of many of our beloved hymns.

While the lunch committee prepared lunch, Mrs. H. Tullough conducted a very interesting contest on Bible Names. For those too young to enjoy the contest, Rev. Mr. Walker had arranged a short talk on Oak Lake.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended by Mrs. S. McIntosh to the hostess and committees in charge.

Veteran Appointed Governor Of Jail

The appointment of former Sergeant James McCaw, Bancroft, as governor of the Hastings County Jail is announced by J. Fred Wilson, M.L.A. for Hastings West.

The appointment of the 25-year-old war veteran has been approved by the Hon. G. H. Doucett, acting Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs, on recommendation of Mr. Wilson and county sheriff John D. O'Flynn.

The new jail governor has been in Toronto for the past two weeks taking a course of instruction on jail governorship.

Mr. McCaw enlisted with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in September 1939 and served until June 1945 when he received his discharge from the army.

While overseas, Mr. McCaw married an English girl. Mrs. McCaw has received the appointment, Mr. Wilson stated, of matron of the county jail.

Undergoes Operation

Russell West, of town, underwent an operation in Belleville General hospital on Monday and is reported as doing well.

Breaks Hip

Falling downstairs at her home on Greea St., on Saturday evening, Mrs. Elgin Jackman suffered a broken hip. The injured lady was taken to Belleville Hospital by ambulance and latest reports are that she is doing as well as can be expected.

Dies From Injuries Sustained In Fall

William Linn, Campbellford, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, as a result of injuries received in a fall from a haystack on the farm of J. C. Thain, Rawdon farmer, on Wednesday last.

He was 72 years of age and a brother of Mrs. J. C. Thain, Mrs. Boulter Johnston, of Rawdon, and Mrs. Lewis Wilson, of Campbellford. The funeral took place today with service in Burnbrae Church.

House Fired As Reprisal

Late Tuesday night fire gutted the kitchen, dining room and lean-to woodshed at the Campbellford home of Thomas Forsythe, Peterborough, Examiner resident correspondent, and this morning a charge of "deliberate arson" has been laid in the hands of Fire Chief C. B. Wilson by the victim.

Forsythe claimed that the fire came as "no surprise" as he had been previously threatened by "pool room bums" that he would be "tossed out of town" if he continued to write police court stories for The Examiner containing names of certain Campbellford citizens.

Here Are Your Latest Beef Prices

With the increase in the ceiling price of beef this week, house-holders are interested in the new schedule of prices. They apply to two official categories of meat, red brand as one and commercial the other.

The ceiling list Monday, July 22, was, in wholesale prices, 2c a pound red brand, and 1c a pound commercial, with corresponding increases in the retail business from 2 to 6 cents a pound.

Here are some of the retail meat prices as fixed by the government under the price control system. The red brand price is the higher in each case the other being for the designated commercial class of meat. The broad distinction is that the one bears the government stamp, the other does not.

Round steak, boneless, red brand 48c; commercial 45c, a pound.
T-Bone, red brand, 57c; commercial 50c.

Rolled rib, boneless, red brand 48c a pound; commercial 55c.
Short rib roast, red brand 34 cents; commercial 31c.

Chuck roast, boned, red brand, 31c and 29c.
Hamburg steak, red brand, 25c; commercial 23c.

Bonarlaw Cinches Second Place

Meeting Of Executive To Arrange Play-offs Will Be Held On Saturday Night

In a thrilling game on the local High School diamond last evening, Bonarlaw cinched second place in the Rawdon Softball League by defeating Mount Pleasant by a score of 12-7. The winners took the lead early in the game and led 10-2 previous to the last inning when Mt. Pleasant got to Ray's slants for several solid base hits to score five runs. Ray, on the mound for the winners, and Potts, for the losers both pitched an excellent brand of ball, with the former having a slight edge.

Playoffs Next

This game completed the regular schedule and leaves Glen Ross, Bonarlaw, Mt. Pleasant and Stirling in the play-offs in that order. Final arrangements for the play-offs are not yet completed, a meeting of the team representatives and executive being set for nine o'clock Saturday night in the Agricultural office for this purpose.

Threshing Started

Threshing operations have started in this district and the yield is reported by farmers as better than average. On Wednesday on the farm of Geo. E. Thompson, Springbrook, 1740 bushels Cartier Oats were threshed from 32 acres. This is the earliest according to Mr. Thompson, that threshing operations have been completed on his farm.

Trophy Won By Stirling Rink

Twenty Rinks Compete In Annual Mixed Tournament On Stirling Bowling Greens

The Baker Service Trophy was won by a Stirling rink comprising Mrs. R. Burgess, Albert Fraser, Mrs. W. J. Whitty and F. R. Mallory, skip, at the annual mixed rinks tournament on the local greens yesterday.

Despite threatening skies, there was a full entry of twenty rinks, six from Belleville, five from Campbellford, two from Deseronto; one each from Cobourg, Peterborough, and Brighton, and four from Stirling. Three twelve-end games were played with a maximum score of 15.

The winning rink won all three games with an aggregate score of 41 and in addition to the Baker Trophy, the ladies received electric table lamps and the gents, end tables. A Campbellford rink, Mr. and Mrs. L. Diamond and Mr. and Mrs. E. Sloggett won second prize with three wins and a score of 37. Silver casseroles, for the ladies, and desk lamps for the men, were the prizes.

The third prize went to J. Cullen's rink from Peterborough, with two wins and a score of 38 plus 3. Card table covers and cards went to the ladies and mirrors to the gentlemen. Cliff Argue's rink, of Belleville, won high honours for one win with a score of 34 plus four. The ladies received painted wastepaper baskets and the gentlemen steel measures.

Supper was served the bowlers by the ladies of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Switch Dates

Due to Civic Holiday on Monday, August 5, the regular monthly meeting of Town Council scheduled for that date, will be held on Friday, Aug. 2nd at 8 p.m.

Severe Storm

A severe electrical storm, accompanied by a heavy wind and rain, swept over this district on Friday evening last. Hydro and telephone services were interrupted due to damaged lines from falling limbs of trees, while Wm. Sutherland's house, northwest of the village was struck by a lightning bolt. However only minor damage resulted.

At the Stirling Fair Grounds several trees were uprooted by the wind and the ticket booth at the west gate was demolished.

Barn Burned

On Tuesday afternoon during an electrical storm a barn on the farm of Stewart Hoover, 7th Concession of Rawdon, was struck by lightning and burned. A quantity of hay and straw was also destroyed.

Bowling Notes

Stirling Bowlers chalked up a win in the District Bowling League on Monday night when they defeated both Belleville rinks. Playing on the Belleville Greens, Messrs. R. A. Patterson, W. Elliott, W. Wright and H. R. Tompkins, skip, defeated Harpers Rink 14-9 while Dr. Hellwell, A. Brooks, A. Livingstone and F. R. Mallory, skip defeated McLeans rink 17-10 on the local greens.

WON AT KINGSTON

Two pairs of Stirling lady bowlers attended the ladies' doubles tournament in Kingston on Friday, with Mrs. R. Burgess and Mrs. W. T. Elliott winning high honours. Mrs. R. E. Fox and Mrs. E. Jackman were the other pair, but failed to get into the prize money.

Honored On 91st Birthday

Sterling tribute to Bryon O. Lott, one of Hastings County's grand old men, was paid Tuesday evening by county and township officialdom, professional men and a host of other friends as they gathered at the Hotel Quinte to honor the former Sidney township dignitary on the occasion of his 91st birthday.

Mayor Frank S. Follwell acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion and called upon Mr. Lott's friends in public and private life to pay tribute to the man who was as well expressed as a "friend to all."

It was a happy evening for Bryon, as Mr. Lott is known to his host of friends, as felicitations and congratulations were received from every side with the wish that he live to enjoy more birthdays. In honor of the occasion Mr. Lott was presented with a handsome self-winding wrist watch suitably engraved. The engraving read "To Bryon Lott on the occasion of his 91st birthday, 1946."

Gives Family History

Indicative that despite his 91 years, sight and mind remained keen, Mr. Lott immediately gave the time as the watch was strapped on his wrist by Mayor Follwell.

Expressing his profound appreciation of the kind gesture on the part of his many friends, Mr. Lott gave a brief history of his family, telling how his great grandfather had come from Scotland in 1796 or '97 to settle on the 2nd concession of Sidney township.

"Contrary to the general belief that I am a native of Rawdon township, I was born on that same lot in Sidney township," Mr. Lott recalled. "My father moved to Rawdon in 1868."

"I was quite young but I remember the snow was very deep," Mr. Lott continued. "With a neighbor I drove 15 head of cattle and calves to my new home while my father drove ahead with a sleigh load of sheep and three hives of bees."

He had been a bee keeper by heritage as his great grandfather had brought bees out from Scotland. Ancestors of his mother's side had been United Empire Loyalists, coming to

Marie Gay Weds Eugene Morton Spencer — Rev. W. H. V. Walker Officiates

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Stirling, was beautifully decorated for the marriage of Marie Evalina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gay, and Eugene Morton Spencer, Foxboro, son of Mrs. Fernie Spencer, on July 20, at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. W. H. V. Walker performed the double ring ceremony before an altar covered with pink and white ribbon. White hydrangeas, blue delphiniums, and fern decorated the church, and the guest pews were marked with pink roses and white satin streamers. Wedding music was played by Mrs. R. H. Williams, Stirling, Miss Ethel Smith, of Belleville, sang "Because", before the ceremony, and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in traditional white slipper satin with V-neck draped bodice and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The skirt, draped at the hips, fell into a slight train, and her long veil of French net fell from a halo of orange blossoms. From her bouquet of American Beauty roses and maidenhair fern fell satin streamers caught with orange blossoms.

Miss Dorothy Gay, eldest sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of blue chiffon over satin with matching waist length veil caught to coronet of apple blossoms. Miss Marjory Gay was bridesmaid, in a gown of pink chiffon over satin, and pink waist length veil and orange blossom coronet. Both attendants carried Colonial nosegays.

Mr. Carl Spencer, Foxboro, was his brother's attendant. Ushers were Mr. Allan Smith, Belleville, and Mr. Arnold Foster, Bloomfield.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace with matching earrings. The maid of honor received pearl earrings, the bridesmaid a silver lapel pin, the groomsmen a billfold the ushers, gold tieclips, the soloist, pearl earrings, and the organist, a silver lapel pin.

The wedding reception was held at the Royal Hotel, Marmora, where the bride's mother received in grey silk jersey with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. Assisting her was the groom's mother, who wore aqua faconne crepe with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. For travelling to a summer lodge, at Minden, Ont., the bride wore a white silk jersey dress with black and white accessories and a black shortie coat. The young couple will also visit Rochester, Detroit and Wallaceburg, before taking up residence at Foxboro.

Out of town guests present were from Rochester, Hamilton, Bloomfield, Belleville and Holloway.

Fall Fair Dates Now Available

Lists of the fall fairs to be held all over the Province this year have now been compiled and printed by the Agricultural and Horticultural Societies Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture of which J. A. Carroll is superintendent. According to the lists, 248 fairs and exhibitions are being held this year, this being an increase of approximately 20 over last year's figure. Included in the list is the Royal Winter Fair, being held from November 12 to 30 and being revived after a suspension of five years owing to wartime conditions.

Appoint Inspectors

T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, today announced the appointment of 50 inspectors to check peaches, tomatoes and potatoes sold to Ontario consumers.

Mr. Kennedy said the action follows complaints last year of consumers paying high prices for low quality produce.

DROWNING SEASON

Each week end the press is filled with accounts of drownings. In some cases the victims have been good swimmers. No one, not even a good swimmer, can afford to take unnecessary chances. Anyone is liable to be rendered helpless with cramps. It may happen to you.

Places where swimming is indulged in should have life preservers handy, and, if possible, a boat. Drownings are sudden and unexpected. It is too late to act if one has to run far for help or for a boat.

Many a fishing party has ended a tragedy because some one did not keep seated in the boat, or because common sense was not used.

Children should not be allowed to bathe alone. Some responsible person should be in charge. A child may drown in a foot of water.

MAKE DATE FOR EXERCISE

If you want pep, appetite, agility and stamina, health authorities at Ottawa make this suggestion: "Date yourself up for exercise each day, the easy way. Take a walk, but, walk correctly. Swing along—get rhythm in it! Breathe deeply, point the toes straight ahead, lengthen the stride and let the arms swing freely from the shoulders." The department is seeking to interest all Canadians in the national physical fitness program.

ACCEPTING DEFEAT

There is much to be said for being able to accept defeat like a gentleman, or, if you prefer the expression, like a sportsman. It is a mark of civilization to possess enough magnanimity to be able to take a reverse graciously, without losing face or temper; it is well never to go so far in dispute that it is impossible to shake hands with the opponent when the dispute is resolved.

ADVERTISING IN WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

E. A. Seaborn, of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, has just reported that during the month of January, advertisers used more than 3,000,000 lines of space in Canadian weekly newspapers. In February an increase of twenty-four per cent was added, with a further increase of fifty-one per cent over that during March.

The figures prove that advertisers are beginning to comprehend the real value of the weeklies as an advertising medium. They are beginning to learn that by using the weekly they are able to get "closer" to the rural consumer, than by any other means. They are beginning to realize the tremendous buying power of farming communities.

The wise advertiser is making full use of the opportunities offered by the weekly newspaper. —Picton Gazette

WHY HELP BURGLARS?

Every vacation season is marked by a number of burglaries committed while owners or occupants of homes are away, says the Trenton Courier-Advocate. In most cases, the burglars receive an unwitting "tip off" that premises are temporarily unoccupied; the occupants have left what amount to invitations to burglary, in the way of drawn shades, open garage doors, notices to tradesmen, and accumulations of mail or other deliveries. Admonishing its readers not to invite burglars, The Stratford Beacon-Herald publishes a list, tabulated by a veteran police official, containing a dozen specific suggestions for protecting the vacation-vacant home. Any of our readers intending to leave home for a vacation would be well repaid by heeding the following suggestions:

1. Before leaving, notify the police station, specifying the period during which your home will be vacant.
2. Remove and appropriately store all money, bonds, jewelry and other articles of value.
3. Stop deliveries of newspapers and milk.
4. Arrange for the removal from your doorstep of all mail and advertising circulars.
5. Make certain all doors and windows are locked securely.
6. Leave the key to your home with a responsible neighbor, so that it can be entered in case of an emergency.

case of an emergency.

7. If your home will be vacant at any time of night, leave at least one light burning.

8. Don't pull down the window blinds or leave notes stating when you will return.

9. Be sure no door keys are in the hands of former tenants, and, if in doubt, change the locks.

10. Be sure the persons you hire to work for you are reliable.

11. Always close garage doors; open ones reveal your absence.

12. Keep a record of the serial number of your watches, radio, vacuum cleaner and other appliances, so you can furnish these numbers to the police if your property is lost or stolen.

Anyone who follows all twelve suggestions should be able to go on vacation with the comforting knowledge of having done his best to disguise the fact his house is unoccupied. And that knowledge, we think would help make the holidays carefree.

IT'S UP TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Perhaps at this season more than any other parents and children are making plans for future activities, hence this advice is timely and to the point.

Young man or young woman, have you ever figured just how soon it may happen that you will be obliged to take care of yourself, and how you will do it?

Do you know that your school years are the best years of your life in the sense of receiving so much that means capital to you in later years?

If a man should hold out a million dollars worth of bonds to you and say the Government will present these bonds to you for the asking, you would be mighty foolish if you did not ask forthwith, wouldn't you?

Your education may be worth a million dollars to you if you make your own all the valuable information and fundamental principles which your teachers are paid and ready to impart.

You cannot afford to waste moments because they do mean so much of future capital if used rightly.

It is not so much the exact information you acquire as it is the habit of careful, concentrated study that you form, the habit of thought and reasonings which you cultivate, which will be valuable to you in after life.

Get all the knowledge you can while the getting is good. It will prove a valuable asset all through active life.

There is only one man that is indispensable — the tax payer.

Canadian men are "perhaps the best dressed in the world," Hon. Charles Daley, Ontario Minister of Labor, states following his return from Great Britain and the continent.

Are finders keepers? Not always. Most people are honest, and will return anything that doesn't belong to them, just as soon as they find who the true owner is. No matter what you find, if you think it's of value to the original owner, run a want-ad about it in your newspaper, offering to return it to the owner upon proper identification and payment for the want ad.

Reports come from many quarters of the opening up of new industries, yet no word comes of any new industries for Stirling. Industrialists seem to be looking for suitable openings and we have the facilities for a small industry, such as waterworks, cheap power, and good transportation. We know that the Village Council has fyled the advantages offered by Stirling with the Ontario Department of Planning and Development, and it is to be hoped some contact can be made with an industry seeking a new location.

Why do newspaper owners have to drum home the fact week after week that someone has to pay for all the material that goes into print? Publicity given to campaigns of all descriptions is advertising — nothing else. Are weekly publishers expected to bear this tremendous load without others sharing in the cost. This is a community as well as a national responsibility; are others going to be allowed to shirk their duties? It is beyond all discretion to ask one man in every community to carry this heavy load of advertising alone.

There is a good deal said about the desirability of the store owner in the smaller communities, yet people go to the city and hunt out the larger stores when they want to buy an article, thus making the big fellow bigger and the little fellow smaller. And the strange part of it is that same person, after having helped the bigger fellow with his patronage, will sit down and howl his head off about how the big business in this country is strangling the little fellow — it isn't big business that strangled the little fellow — it is the customer who gives his trade to the big fellow who is responsible.

What Others Say!

SHOW GRATITUDE

Elre is out to get back her British market in bacon, lost during the war. We hope the British buyers will show some gratitude to Canadian producers for wartime assistance, by continuing to purchase Canadian bacon. —Picton Gazette.

Uncle Hy Says

Man wants but little here below, that saying you have heard he's sole content with what he's got, he never says a word, to all of which I disagree, man's always on the crave, and wants and wants and gets and gets, till carried to his grave.

To be content with what man has, to never want a thing, our living standards wouldn't raise, our children wouldn't sing, no mountain peaks would ere be scaled, no planes would ride the sky, and pestilence and scourge unchecked, would leave us all to die.

Ah, no man wants and wants and wants, he's never satisfied, and that is why we have so much, so much in which to pride, the grand old books upon our shelves, the hymns the children sing, and back of all our way of life, from which such good things spring.

ELLIS—SCRIMSHAW

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Scrimshaw, 2nd Concession of Sidney, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday, July 16th at 2 o'clock when their only daughter, Dicie Evelena, became the bride of Howard Eugene Ellis of Thurlow, son of Mr. Arthur Ellis and the late Mrs. Ellis, of Hillier. Beneath an arch of pink and white streamers and bells with a background of delphinium and bridal rose the double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Hunter Hillis, of Sidney.

The bride looked charming in a street length dress of white silk jersey, a shoulder length veil caught in a lily-of-the-valley headress, with white accessories. She wore a corsage of red rosebuds.

Miss Barbara Brown, of Carrying Place, was bridesmaid. She wore a street length dress of flowered silk jersey, with shoulder length veil and white accessories. Her corsage was of red rosebuds.

The groom was attended by Mr.

Finley Scrimshaw, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother, received wearing rose crepe with brown accessories and a corsage of carnations. The groom's sister, Mrs. George Roblin, assisted wearing a black crepe dress with black accessories and a similar corsage.

The groom's gift to the bride was a lovely chest of silver.

A very dainty buffet lunch was served to about thirty-five guests with Miss Shirley Stapley, of Campbellford, Mrs. F. Noon and Mrs. W. Bailey, both of Sidney, as serviteurs. Each was presented with a set of book ends by the bride.

For travelling to Toronto and other western points, the bride chose a black tailored suit with white accessories.

Fire Bugs A Danger

Canada's forests have one major enemy — bugs. There are insect bugs and fire bugs. The latter destroy millions of dollars of Canada's wealth.

The convict stood under a blistering sun, gazing at a rock pile. He raised his sledgehammer and brought it down lightly on a small rock. The hammer barely nicked it.

The guard studied the convicts tread manner of working. It annoyed him to see the man wasting time on the job. He walked over to the convict.

"See here," he growled, pointing to the small stone, "how long is it going to take you to split a rock like that?" The convict rested on the sledge hammer.

"It's hard to say exactly," he drawled. "But the judge reckoned about twenty years, with four off for good behavior."

Fire Consumes Wealth

Of all peacetime Canadian manufacturing industries, pulp and paper stands first in employment, total wages paid, export values, net value of production, and in capital invested. This industry depends on the forests. Care in the woods will help prevent forest fires.

THE RAVEN GETS HIS FACES WASHED — He has at least a dozen of them and with the crown of the totem head 65 feet from the ground, it was quite a job. However, the Raven kept quite still, as he has ever since the Haidas carved him out of a cedar trunk many years ago in the Queen Charlotte Islands; he didn't snap his beak at the cleaners, or even wriggle. The totem pole, which stands in the Canadian National Railways station grounds at Jasper, was being groomed for the tourist season in North America's largest national park. Thousands of visitors to the Canadian Rockies have photographed him.

Don't Let Your Dollar Become a "TRAMP"

There is a big difference in dollars.

There is the "Tramp" dollar — the dollar that is spent away from home. Then there is the "Home" dollar with its "home" circulation, "home" benefits and "home" profits.

Though both of these dollars are marked "One Hundred Cents," the "home" dollar continues to multiply itself "at home" for community interests are mutual. Not so with the "tramp dollar" — once spent it is gone forever.

The success of Stirling and its surrounding territory contributes to the success of everybody in it. A prosperous town rests on the individual prosperity.

The advantage to you of spending your dollar in Stirling is far greater than the "Tramp" dollar can possibly buy — even if it bought a hundred cents worth — and which it cannot possibly do, because the other fellow in the out-of-town field must make a profit.

There is big truth in this, worthy of your serious thought. It pays to trade at home with your "home" dollar.

GOVERNOR GENERAL TO OPEN PLOWING MATCH IN OCTOBER

His Excellency Field Marshal Lord Alexander, Governor General of Canada, will officiate at the opening ceremonies in connection with the International Plowing Match to be held at Port Albert, near Goderich, from October 15 to 18, it is announced by J. A. Carroll, Secretary-Manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association. October 15, the first day, is given over entirely to plowing events confined to Huron County farmers, so the official ceremonies in which Lord Alexander will take part will be held on Wednesday, October 16, the first day of open events. The International Plowing Match is being revived this year after having been suspended for the last five years on account of wartime conditions, and this year's event is being announced as "The Victory Match." Applications for space for exhibition purposes, Mr. Carroll also announces, exceed all past records, and with ample space available on the former Port Albert airfield of the R.C.A.F., where the match is to be held, this feature of the match will be of large proportions.

MOWING NOW WILL IMPROVE PASTURE

Most old permanent pastures, and some which are part of a crop rotation, present at this time of the year a serious problem in weed control, says John D. McLeod, Director of the Crops Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. Weeds which are most noticeable in these fields are Ox-Eye Daisy, Canada Thistle, Blue Weed, Chicory, Orange Hawkweed, Goldenrod and Wild Carrot, with buttercup in poorly drained fields. These weeds reduce seriously the amount of pasture and unless prevented from seeding will take complete possession of the fields, Mr. McLeod states. Fortunately, he adds, they can be kept very well in check by systematic and timely mowing. This not only prevents their becoming firmly established in that particular field, but also prevents their spread to neighboring fields.

Since most of these weeds are already in blossom if best results are to be obtained, mowing should be done at once. A rainfall or heavy dew that interferes with mowing or harvest gives an opportunity to attend to these pasture fields with the mower. It should not be overlooked that in addition to checking the weeds, this practice of mowing pasture also improves the pasture grass by encouraging new leaf growth.

MAXIMUM YIELD PER ACRE AGAIN POTATO OBJECTIVE

Five Hundred Bushel per acre potato clubs will again be feature projects of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association this year, it is announced by R. E. Goodin, potato fieldman of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. For the fourth successive year, South Simcoe county has organized a contest known as the Alliston 500 Bushel Per Acre Potato Club. New competitions will be conducted this year in the counties of Dufferin and Wentworth, also in the District of Kenora. In all, fourteen competitions are under way, including two in the District of Sudbury, and also one in each of the following areas: Cochrane North, York, Rainy River, Thunder Bay, Ontario, Durham, Temiskaming and Middlessex. Several of these competitions have increased their numbers of contestants, which indicates greater enthusiasm.

Since the organization of 500 Bushel Potato Clubs in Ontario four years ago, much improvement has been accomplished by growers in specialization of the potato industry, says Mr. Goodin. The principle of a set objective in yield per acre has also been applied for improvement of other crops by the organization of several 500 Bushel Fall Wheat Clubs, 800 Bushel Turnip Clubs, 100 Bushel Corn Clubs, 100 Bushel Oat Clubs and 60 Bushel Barley Clubs. This year, there is also a 30 Bushel Pea Club organized for the first time by the Renfrew County Branch of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association.

With urgent demands for increased production per unit is a timely subject with the fact that cutting costs of production per unit is a timely subject, such products which feature not more acres, but maximum production of quality products per acre, should stimulate more efficient methods and assist in the development of improved cropping practices.

KING'S GUINEAS TO BE AWARDED AT WINTER FAIR

Announcement that the King's prize of fifty guineas will be awarded at the 1946 Royal Winter Fair to the exhibitor of the Champion Baby Beef Steer or grade heifer owned and exhibited by a qualified member of a Boys' and Girls' Baby Beef Club in Ontario is made by the Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, who has approved the regulations for the special Winter Fair Class in which this magnificent prize amounting to approximately $250, will be awarded. The prize is being placed on this class with the objective of encouraging the Boys' and Girls' members to take an interest in the breeding and feeding of higher quality beef stock in this Province.

The regulations provide that all exhibitors in this section must be qualified members of the 1946 Boys' and Girls' Calf Clubs of Ontario, and that exhibits in this section are not eligible to exhibit in any of the other classes at the 1946 Royal Winter Fair. All the eligible exhibits will be sold at auction during the Fair. All animals entered must be sired by a pure-bred bull and out of a cow of beef breeding. Cross breeds shall be considered as of the same breeding as the sire. The name and registration number of the sire must be given at the same time of making entry. Calves entered in this class must be born after September 1, 1945, and must weigh 650 pounds or more, live weight. Exhibitors must have fed, cared for and fitted the calves during the club season, and they must have been exhibited at the local club Achievement Day.

Further provisions for this important class at the Royal Winter Fair, announced by the Hon. Mr. Kennedy, include the payment of transportation expenses for the animals to the Fair, and also the housing and providing of meals for all exhibitors while in Toronto by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. All entries must be made officially by the Agricultural Representative in charge of the respective baby beef clubs.

The total prize money for this class is being provided by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and since the animals will have been selected as the top animals from their respective clubs, each entry will receive a prize of $25.00, irrespective of placing in the judging. To this prize list will be added the King's Fifty Guineas for the grand champion of the class.

The history of the King's Guineas prize is interesting. In the year 1860, the then Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII, placed at the disposal of the Board of Agriculture and Arts for Upper Canada, the sum of $800, desiring that it should be applied as prize money to promote the objects for which the Association was formed. The Board decided to invest the money permanently, and devote the income from it to the payment of premiums offered for such objects as might be deemed suitable and advantageous by the Board. The records of the Association through which the prizes were offered, show that this course has been pursued down through the years. In 1896, the Agriculture and Arts Association dissolved and this fund was turned over to the Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, to be paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund, and with the provision that out of the annual receipts of the Province the sum of $50 be set aside yearly as a perpetual prize to be given for the improvement of live stock, at the discretion of the Minister of Agriculture. At that time, the fund amounted to $872. During the war years, however, the award has been held in abeyance, and it is now being revived by the Hon. Mr. Kennedy, who, in his discretion, has this year decided that it be better class of beef cattle being raised in the Boys' and Girls' Calf Clubs. Throughout the years since 1861, when the prize, then known as the Prince of Wales Prize, was awarded to the best stallion for general purposes shown at the Western Ontario Exhibition, it has been awarded for various types and classes of live stock, including beef bulls, dairy cattle, sheep, swine, draught and Clydesdale applied to the encouragement of a stallions and mares, hackney horses and export hog carcasses. At Hamilton, in 1884, it was awarded to the individual exhibiting the best type of portable steam engine.

WINTER FEEDING OF BEEF CATTLE

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask., intensive investigations have been made into the winter feeding of live stock. With prospects of a limited supply of roughage this coming winter many farmers are wondering what amount of feed will be necessary to maintain beef cattle through the winter.

The investigations of the Station on winter feeding have provided the following information: To maintain beef cattle in normal thrifty growing condition, it requires from eight to ten pounds of hay per day for a calf; 12 to 14 pounds for a yearling, and 16 to 18 pounds for a mature cow or a two year old. The feeding period, if no pasture is available, varies from 125 to 150 days, depending on winter conditions. On the foregoing basis, it is a simple matter to estimate the supply of hay required if the cattle are in poor condition to enter the winter the amounts fed should be increased accordingly.

In the case of a dairy cow, or where the beef cow is also fed for the farm milk supply, a satisfactory ration is two pounds of dry roughage for every 100 pounds of the animal's live weight and concentrates at the rate of one pound of milk produced. Alfalfa hay and cover hay fit in very well with the cereal grains and prairie hay, and grain hays are more satisfactory with higher protein foods such as bran and oilcake.

Of the grain hays, all have approximately the same feeding value for the maintenance of beef cattle. Spring rye cut in the early dough stage has given good results. Some question has arisen as to wheat hay being too strong a feed for cattle, but no bad results have been found and it is considered one of the best feeds for wintering. It is important, says the Station, that plans should be made now to conserve suitable roughages for winter feeding from every possible source.

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS FOR GROWING OATS

New rust varieties now being introduced are destined to make oat growing in Canada a safer and more profitable occupation and thus place the crop as such on a still higher level among Canada's great natural assets, said Dr. L. H. Newman, Dominion Cerealists, in discussing Cereal Grains, in the latest issue of the Agricultural Institute Review.

While wheat remained the most important single grain by reason of its almost universal use as human food, oats and barley, and to a lesser extent rye held first place as a group from the standpoint of animal nutrition. In gross value, they actually exceeded wheat to a slight degree, Dr. Newman pointed out but they did not play a very important part in international trade as they were largely consumed in Canada by farm animals.

In feeding value for live stock, oats held a very high place. They ranked first in popularity as a horse feed and stood high as a food for cattle. They actually constituted the basis of most of the grain feeds used in Canada and might be regarded as the most important feed grain.

As human food, oats, chiefly in the form of porridge, have always enjoyed wide popularity as a nourishing and palatable food. Ranking high in vitamin B, they were in a position to make substantial contribution of the daily intake of this important vitamin. According to the latest milling returns available, oatmeal and rolled oats had a valuation of $3,743,738.

PRICES OF BEEF TO RISE 2 TO 6 CENTS MONDAY

The Prices Board announced Tuesday night its revised schedule of beef pricing and grading, designed to provide a more workable system of meat distribution, will become effective across Canada July 22.

The new system was announced on July 3 when the board disclosed that wholesale ceilings on top grades of beef would be raised two cents a pound effective July 20, with some isolated increases in retail ceilings.

The new system will replace the former pricing schedule, partially suspended from May 27 to July 20, when the wholesale ceiling prices were temporarily removed on red and blue brand beef to encourage marketings of top-quality cattle.

Forecast 2-6 Cent Increase

The board said the new wholesale schedules, while involving some slight increases to the consumer on the three top grades, should mean "substantially higher" returns to the producer of good quality cattle than was obtainable under the previous order. Board officials said the new pricing schedule will involve price changes to the consumer varying from two cents a pound below, to a maximum of six cents a pound above previous price levels.

Price Zone Unchanged

Under the new schedule, Montreal and Toronto will be placed on the same retail and wholesale price level for red, blue and commercial grades. The boundaries of all pricing zones will remain as at present with the exception of the Ottawa-Hull area, transferred from Zone 5 to Zone 4.

Following are the major changes in the new pricing and grading schedule:

1. Wholesale ceilings of red brand beef carcasses, basis Toronto, will be reimposed at a level two cents a pound higher than that in effect when the ceiling on this grade was suspended May 27. In other zones, the increase in the wholesale ceiling will vary from one cent to two cents a pound, so it will allow for the difference in freight costs between the various zones, and will provide more equitable distribution during periods of light slaughtering.

2. Blue brand beef is being removed from commercial quality and will constitute a separate grade with the wholesale carcass ceiling one cent a pound below that for the red brand. 3. The commercial quality will have a carcass ceiling one cent a pound lower than blue brand.

4. The grades previously designated cow and bull-beef will be changed to "utility" beef.

5. On red and blue brand beef the retail markup is being reduced by approximately one cent a pound from the previously authorized markup. The rest of the increase, in the wholesale price in the 10 zones, where it is in excess of one cent a pound is passed to the consumer.

6. As retail ceiling prices will be the same at all times in all parts of each zone, the new charts will not require retailers to use the price strips which have previously been attached to the pricing charts to cover price variations.

7. Wholesalers and slaughterers are required to invoice at not more than ceiling prices on deliveries made on and after July 22 and retailers are bound by the new retail ceiling on and after that date.

WHEAT CROP NEEDED

Poultry men are buying all of the old wheat they can get as chicken feed, according to farmers, and this year's wheat crop will be needed for this same purpose. Last fall wet weather cut down on the amount of acreage seeded with fall wheat, so that the amount of and with wheat is now barely two thirds the usual planting. Farmers started to cut this week, and the grain is ripening fast.

Cost of Egg Production

Statisticians have calculated that fifty-five cents of every dollar that you spend on your poultry flock goes to provide your hens with feed. The rest of the dollar is spent on taxes, interest, labour, replacement of stock, etc.

That is why you should pay particular attention to your feed selection problem.

We are proud to recommend our SHUR-GAIN Laying Mash to you.

SAFETY THEATRE ON RAILS:

Designed to give more than 20,000 men of the Canadian Pacific Railway on eastern lines "visual" education in general train, interlocking rules and safe practices, theatre on rails has begun its tour of lines from the Head of the Great Lakes to the Atlantic seaboard. When schools reopen children at divisional points will be invited to visit the car in which have been incorporated all the features of a modern theatre, and see films which will teach them to avoid trespassing on railways and to prevent crossing accidents. Here, J. C. McQuinn, general safety agent for eastern lines, is lecturing to a class of railroaders on the operation of block signals with the aid of light panels which give an excellent replica of the signal operation on the line. The rule in question is shown on the screen. Inset, N. R. Crump, general manager for eastern lines, who conceived the idea of such a car, is speaking over the car's public address system in describing the operation of the lighted panels to C. P.R. officials when the car was put on display in Montreal when it was turned out of Angus Shops after conversion from a World War II hospital

Joint Meeting Potato Club and Crop Improvement Association

The Hastings County Crop Improvement Association and the Tweed Boys' Potato Club held a joint meeting on the farm of Mr. Tom Kelly, Tweed, on Friday July 19th. Due to unfavourable weather conditions, the meeting that was to be a Field Demonstration on Mr. Kelly's thirty-five acres of potatoes, turned into a house meeting with about thirty district potato enthusiasts in attendance. Mr. H. L. Fair, Agricultural Representative for Hastings County, acted as chairman, Mr. R. E. Goodin, Potato Supervisor for the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, was the guest speaker.

Mr. Goodin gave a very interesting and educational address on Potato Culture, Identification of Disease and Insects and several methods of control. He stated that the potato picture is tending towards specialization, that the average cost of producing an acre of potatoes in 1945 was $127.00, that in order to get best returns for the outlay it is necessary to have suitable land and potato machinery, time to properly care for the crop as well as a ready market for a high quality product.

Mr. Goodin mentioned the fact that potatoes, being a cool weather crop, required deep planting to insure cool and moist conditions, that a soil of high organic matter or humus and well fertilized would produce the better crop.

Mr. Goodin, when referring to insects, stated that potato beetles are not now considered to be the most harmful insect to our potato crop, that Flea Beetles, Leaf Hoppers and Aphids attacking the foliage at different times were most harmful and that all insects could be controlled by spraying or dusting with DDT at the proper time.

In his summary of diseases, Mr. Goodin said that now is the time to spray for protection against blight. He specifically mentioned Bacterial Ring Rot as being one of our most harmful diseases of the potato crop and that it could be controlled by the exclusive use of disease free seed, crop rotation, seed treatment with one of the recommended dips, and formalin treatment of all cutting utensils, potato bags and machinery.

In conclusion, Mr. Goodin stated that the secret of success in potato growing was high yield of high quality product combined with a uniform market for the producer, that by the proper storage, grading and business management combined with co-operative marketing, the above could be realized.

Mr. Wilfred Forestell, President of the Hastings County Crop Improvements Association and Provincial Director, then outlined a few local improvements in potato production and some highlights of production in recent years.

Mr. Fair then thanked the guest speaker for his informative address

Cabinet Lineup

With the departure of Premier King and others of the Cabinet for assignments abroad, the temporary lineup now finds Justice Minister St. Laurent as Acting Prime Minister and Secretary of State for External Affairs; Defence Minister Douglas Abbott as Acting Finance Minister; Revenue Minister McCann as Acting Health Minister; and Veterans Affairs Minister Mackenzie as President of the Council and House Leader.

Ever since the final report of the joint parliamentary committee of the House of Commons and Senate has handed down its recommendation for "a suitable design for a distinctive national flag" for Canada, numerous stories have circulated on Parliament Hill about serious results likely to come over the French-English dispute on this choice. However, these stories are exaggerated, according to observations here, since it is pointed out that the recommendation of the joint parliamentary committee was based on a 2-1 vote after no less than 14 public sessions, examination of a total of no less than 2,698 designs received, and no less than 42,108 communications considered. Furthermore, the people of Canada should know that the joint committee of Parliament reported, in submitting the Red Ensign recommendation, that "in the discussion of all phases of the subject assigned to the committee an admirable spirit of tolerance and co-operation was reflected."

Better Preventives

It must be indicated that the Kellock-Tashereau Commission on Espionage which it is reported in Ottawa had cost about $16,000 has brought down a rather lengthy report after a long as well as arduous task in the course of which it sought "to investigate the facts relating to and the circumstances surrounding the communication by public officials and other persons in positions of trust of secret and confidential information to the agents of a foreign power." Now that the investigation has the situation which the Government ordered to be examined.

Moreover, it has been stressed strongly in Ottawa that notwithstanding the prosecutions and punishments according to law, yet it is felt that "publicity, education and full understanding are better preventives of any recurrence of any such state of affairs as that disclosed by the report of the Royal Commission," with the point being emphasized in no uncertain way in this capital that this is an extremely important angle which deserves the thoughtful study of all Canadians who feel that there is no place for espionage and underhand activities in the public life of this country, in the words of the official spokesman of the Government when this report was handed down.

Old Age Pensions Legislation

The Federal Government has stated that it planned to postpone until the next session of Parliament legislation to continue in force changes made in old age pensions under the War Measures Act and this delay has resulted from the enormous amount of business yet to be concluded at this session, with the changes being continued in force under a proposed extension of the National Emergency Transitional Powers Act.

Honors in The Fall

In order to answer the many questions which seem to be in the minds of people on the reasons why the investiture of the 1,190 Canadians receiving awards in the Civil Honors List has not been held, it should be indicated that reports in Ottawa show that this investiture would not take place most likely until late in the fall for two reasons. First, the Governor General and Lady Alexander, together with their family, are on a tour of Western Canada and later the Maritimes, this occupying them probably through most of the summer so that the investiture at Rideau Hall in Ottawa could not be held before that time. Second, medals for the Honors List are not ready for distribution and until these new medals are ready this investiture may not be held.

Service Gratuities

It is disclosed in this capital that, at the end of May 1946, the number of gratuity claims approved for payment reached a total of 502,743 and the aim of the War Service Gratuities Section of Defence Headquarters has been to put into the hands of every demobilized serviceman entitled to it his first gratuity cheque within 30 days of actual discharge.

Labor Troubles

The extent of the labor troubles existing in Canada is reflected in Ottawa in revealing that strikes or walkouts have involved unions such as United Steel Workers of America (CIO), Electrical Union, United Rubber Workers Union, United Textile Workers Union, United Auto Workers' Union, and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, these being approximately 50,000 workers on strike or engaged in walkouts due to disputes and influencing reduction of production schedules. Incidentally, the latest report in Ottawa shows that steel ingots and castings produced in Canada or total steel amounted to 1,334,778 in net tons of 2,000 pounds for the first five months of 1946 as compared with the higher figure of 1,338,503 for the same period of last year.

CWAC Disappearing

The Canadian Women's Army Corps, which served a most useful purpose in World War II, will disband Sept. 30 of this year. This has been disclosed in Ottawa where the largest concentration in any one centre of CWAC's originally existed on account of much clerical and supervisory work including four companies. Starting on "V-J" Day, the process of disbanding the CWAC has been going on according to plans, with a 25 percent out in January of this year, another 25 percent in March, in May and in July.

Smashing Black Market

Canada is smashing the black market in used automobiles and it is pointed out in this capital that as far there have been no less than 784 convictions for black market operations in used cars, these being 497 against buyers and 287 against vendors, with fines running all the way from $10.00 to $5,000.

Said in The Capital

"Canada is not seeking territory or reparations but we do want a lasting peace," said Prime Minister Mackenzie King in Ottawa before leaving for the Paris Peace Conference. "We should maintain our loyalty to the Union Jack," declared G. Russell Boucher, M.P., and many persons will want to fly the Union Jack and the new flag, if it is adopted. "The delegation felt throughout that officials of the Government were keenly aware of the serious nature of the situation and left impressed with the idea that it was the Government's intention to take steps to alleviate it," said in Ottawa, Mrs. V. R. MacMillan, president, Producers and Developers Association of Canada, in referring to a meeting between her Association's representatives and officials of the Federal Government how to help gold mines affected by the parity of the Canadian and American dollar. "We should be allowed to sit here in nice white" started to say a member in the House of Commons emphasizing the excessive heat of the place. "Pyjamas," prompted Veterans Affairs Minister Mackenzie. "Yes," agreed the member, "we would all be better off." "Perhaps I should not prophesy but I think it is fair to say that (the bonus of cost of living) will become a permanent part of the Government wage structure," declared Defence Minister Abbott, this being interpreted here as meaning that the cost-of-living bonus may be consolidated with the regular Civil Service salary scale.

Weekly Wind Up

Aiming to contribute towards increasing the supply of men's clothing now so short in Canada, War Assets Corporation is intending to market a quantity of used army uniforms with the insinuation that these would be useful for outdoor or work clothes, these likely appearing shortly on store counters across the country, though dyed brown and navy blue. A proposal has been made in Parliament that a general amnesty should be granted to deserters or that they be given a summary 30 days punishment, with about 14,000 such deserters said to be still at large in Canada. The network radio programme, "George's Wife" which has been so severely criticized both inside and outside of Parliament, being now discontinued, cost the CBC a weekly rate of $4,431.78 for the English broadcasts and $1,243.76 for the French. It was carried for the Wartime Prices and Control Board. A plea was being made in the House of Commons for an effort to avoid waste and extravagance in government expenditures in Ottawa and a member urged Finance Minister Ilsley to clear out some departments. "In fact some of them need fumigation," said the member to stress his point. Another member has claimed in Parliament that there were now almost as many civil servants in the three defence branches as were needed by all Government departments in the years immediately before the war with figures cited showing Army officers, 2,309; men 10,510 for the infantry force; civil servants, 13,701; Navy officers 1,601; ratings, 6,388; civil servants, 7,989; Air Force officers 3,633; men, 25,873. He also disclosed that before the war there was one major general and he was chief of staff but now there were 18 major generals of whom five were seconded to civilian government jobs.

HORSES BOLT FARMER HURT

Suffering a broken nose, possible fractured legs and head injuries when run over by an empty farm hay wagon, Andre Langstaff, 60, of Sidney Township, was admitted to hospital early Tuesday.

Mr. Langstaff, with his son, Clifford, was preparing to leave the barnyard for the hayfield when the horses became frightened and started to move away. Mr. Langstaff ran and grabbed for the reins but succeeded in catching hold of but one. The horses circled the yard and Mr. Langstaff was thrown under the wagon the wheels passing over his legs.

The horses were stopped by Clifford Langstaff, who eventually managed to get their heads.

THREE INJURED NEAR MARMORA

Two men and a boy were taken to the Belleville hospital by ambulance Saturday afternoon following an accident on highway 7, two miles west of Marmora. The injured persons were Gerald and Frank Hill and Donald Althouse, all of Havelock.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Gerald Hill was in collision with the rear of a sedan driven by Donald Althouse, throwing both vehicles into the ditch. The Althouse car was a complete wreck and the other vehicle badly damaged.

TWEED MAN KILLED BY LIGHTNING NEAR SCARBORO

Edwin Blake Badgley, of Tweed, was killed instantly by lightning while in a tent near Scarboro, Ontario, early Friday evening. Four months ago he left home to work for a construction company and it was shortly after the close of work for the day and he had returned to the workmen's camp that he was killed.

Born in Hungerford township, Edwin Blake Badgley was in his 25th year, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Badgley of Tweed. Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Iva Doran, Tweed, and Mrs. W. A. (Lillian) Byers, Toronto.

The funeral took place at Tweed on Monday.

Calf Clubs Inspected

The calves entered in the various calf clubs of Hastings County have recently been scored for care and management by Mr. Harry W. Burns, Assistant Agricultural Representative.

The individual clubs met in the evening of the day of Mr. Burns' visit for practice in the judging of dairy cattle and the making of an adjustable rope halter with which the members will show their calf at the Achievement Day.

The Madoc Calf Club met at the Farm of Mr. Fred Irwin, Cooper, on Tuesday, July 16th; the Sidney Calf Club at the farm of Mr. A. D. Thrasher, Centenary, on Wednesday, July 17, and the Rawdon Calf Club at the farm of Mr. George Sutherland, Stirling, on Thursday, July 18th.

In general the calves looked as if they had been very well cared for. In the majority of cases the calf is being stabled. Mr. Burns complimented the boys on their enthusiasm in club work and mentioned the fact that there would be some very keen competition at the various club achievement days.

Canning Sugar Coupons

Sugar preserve coupons $17 to $21 inclusive valid on July 4, meant the last of ten coupons allotted in each ration book for some canning. In addition, two regular sugar-preserve coupons, $22 and $23 become valid on July 18, and of course all of these might be exchanged for sugar. This can provide a modest amount for regular usage, plus a substantial quantity for canning purposes. By preserving as much of our perishable foods as possible for our use, more vital foods can be shipped to the hungry areas which are on such desperate need. Furthermore, fruits, dewy-fresh and appetite-teasing in gardens and on markets, are the answer to perfect summertime desserts, which can help to spare more sugar for canning.

Hello Homemakers! Waste not — want not! Come next winter you will be glad you stocked up on canned foods for the family! Tomatoes, rich in food value, are the easiest of all vegetables to can at home. But here are some precautions to take to prevent any spoilage whatsoever.

Look over the tomatoes carefully. One bad spot can spoil a whole batch when canned. Use only the finest tomatoes, freshly picked. Soft tomatoes not firm enough to can make excellent chili sauce or chutney.

Use thoroughly clean jars — scrub with soapy water, rinse and boil for 12 mins. Fill to top with blanched tomatoes. Wipe each jar rim with a clean, damp cloth. One speck of food may let in air and spoil the tomatoes.

Process quarts of tomatoes in a pre-heated electric oven of 300 degs. for 15 mins.; or submerge jars in a deep kettle of boiling water for 10 mins.

Place jars, top side up and well apart, on a folded cloth to cool. Prevent a draft across the jars which may crack them.

GENERAL DONT'S

Wilted, over ripe or partly spoiled food is dangerous to can. Food spoils if left partially prepared. Corn, peas and greens should not be packed tightly — fill jar within an inch of top and then pour in the precooking liquid to the brim. Follow timetables to the minute for successful canning. You may break the seal if you cool the jars by placing them on the rims. Pressure Canning is recommended for processing non-acid vegetables such as peas, beans and corn.

DIRECTIONS FOR PRESSURE COOKER

1. Use fresh vegetables. Clean thoroughly. Prepare for label servings. Cover vegetables with water and bring to boiling point. Put the product into jars to within 1-2 inch of the top. Add 1-2 tsp. salt to each quart. Push the blade of a knife down the inside of jar to remove air bubbles. Fill to top with hot liquid. Make sure there are no particles of food on the rim and put lid on as you fill each jar. Screw band tightly, then loosen about 1-2 inch.
2. Clean the openings on the pressure cooker lid (which is never immersed in water) with a toothpick or skewer.
3. Place filled containers in the utensil allowing an inch of space around each.
4. Pour warm water to depth of about one inch. Adjust lid of cooker and fasten securely.
5. Open petcock and keep open until steam escapes with an audible sound. This takes from 5 to 10 mins.
6. Close petcock and allow pressure to rise slowly until gauge registers the desired point. Keep heat constant to avoid change of pressure. Time the cooking from the minute the gauge records the desired pressure.
7. At the end of necessary period, remove the cooker from the electric stove and allow pressure to drop gradually.

WHIRLWIND

CHAPTER V

Airline stewardess Sally Alliston arrives at La Guardia field. Dashing First Officer Jimmy Kennedy offers to give her a lift to the city, but she says she already has a date. To his discomfort she walks over to a limousine, and is driven by a chauffeur to the Jethrup mansion where her mother is housekeeper. There she meets her mother and Phillip Jethrup, who is engaged to a society girl. Phillip admits to Sally that he is not happy. Jimmy takes Sally out to dinner and then to the theater, where he deserts Sally, kisses Drona Moore, stage star, and gets his picture on the front page of the morning paper as a "masher". Sally visits Jimmy's employer in an effort to save Jimmy's job but is unsuccessful. She meets Phillip, who asks her to lunch. While dining with Phillip, Catherine Wingate, heiress, stops beside their table and informs Sally that she is engaged to Phillip. Sally departs at once. Helen Stafford asks Jimmy Kennedy to go to a party. He is greatly surprised to see Drona Moore, stage star, at this party. On a previous occasion, Jimmy had kissed Drona, had gotten slapped and suffered the suspension of his job because of his act.

When Drona caught sight of Jimmy's face in the respectful crowd she smiled faintly and devoted all her glances to him. Helen flushed self-consciously, but kept a smile fixed on her lips. She wasn't in the least surprised when Jimmy, Drona's songs finished, darted out of the living room after her. Nor hurt. She was especially fierce about that. No, she wasn't hurt at all, she really wasn't!

Drona, aware of footsteps following her, grinned knowingly and continued on toward the upstairs bedroom, which had been made into her dressing room for the evening. She walked inside, leaving the door open, and was seated at the little stool before the dressing table when Jimmy, magnificently disdaining to knock, came sauntering in. He smiled at her happily.

"Hello, cherub."

"Hi chum. You mean you're looking for more punishment? I haven't a vase to throw at you, but there's a hard hairbrush."

"This time I'm not to be caught unaware, my pet. And remember that he who lives by the sword dies by the sword."

"A tough guy, huh? I cut my eye-teeth on tough guys on the East Side. No, not tough, Drona, just another man eating out of your hand. Or hoping to eat out of your hand."

She smiled. "I like a good line, chum. Your first one wasn't so good."

"I obeyed my impulse."

"Did you get fired?"

"Fired? Why should I have been fired?"

"Your gal came to make me lay off the publicity."

That took him by surprise. He sat down on the caned chair near the wall, tilting it back. "Girl?"

Green eyes flashed. "You mean you have forgotten a sweet kid like Sally Alliston already? You ought to get a pop in the nose chum."

"I did get a pop on the head," he said ruefully. "Had to take a stitch. Want to see it?"

He didn't give her a chance to decide, but got up and went over to her crouching before her and resting his hand partly on her lap. She chuckled as she surveyed the wound.

"Not bad. I wasn't even half trying. Don't you know better than to run around kissing people?"

"Can I help it if your beauty overwhelmed me?"

"Nuts pal, you've seen prettier."

He shook his head and his voice was fervent. "Never Drona, never in my whole life. Why, you're a dream come true. Hair like gold, dashing green eyes with glints of merriment and kindness in them, teeth like pearls and that....."

"Finished taking inventory," she inquired gently.

He seized one of her hands and kissed it reverently. "I haven't even begun to describe you, cherub. Your soul now, that could be dealt with, too."

"Maybe later on, huh, chum?"

"Later on?" He flung his head back triumphantly.

"Yeah, when we haven't got an audience."

He whirled and gulped as he met Helen's disgusted look. He had a sheepish air as he got up. "Hello Helen. I was wondering when you'd come back to add your congratulations to mine."

"On my knees, Jimmy?"

"Aw....."

"Tut, Jimmy, stop looking so disgruntled. I have no intention of making a scene. You threw me aside long ago, remember? I have no right to make a scene."

"You bet you haven't," shouted out Drona Moore. "Can I help it if this nut keeps pestering me?"

"No Miss Moore, you cannot. That is unless you stop wearing skirts. And speaking of skirts, Jimmy I think you had better skirt clear of Sally, eh?"

"Now, look here....."

but there was real menace in the gesture, for all her restraint. "No, Jimmy, you do the listening for a change."

She wagged a finger ever so gently, I do not want you to come to the apartment again. Nor do I want you to pester Sally again. You're not going to add her scalp to the others you've collected. Is that clear?"

He had regained his poise and laughed. "Tut, Helen, you know perfectly well that you can't prevent me from seeing her any time I wish."

Drona's doorbell pealed loudly and after a short interval Jimmy came bounding in looking like a collar and maul in the flesh. He was so shaved, pressed and creased that it was almost painful.

He took her hand, kissed it, then turned to the silent and watchful Bill Burke and the equally silent and distressed Tony Wyndham.

"Mr. Wyndham," Drona smiled dolefully, "this is Mr. James Kennedy. He's the pilot who got bopped on the bean with a vase."

"Oh you don't say?" Up from the chair came Mr. Wyndham and out-most interesting, Mr. Kennedy. How did you ever get the nerve simply to seize her in your arms?"

"Nerve is my middle name. All set for lunch, Drona?"

"Lunch?" Mr. Wyndham looked from one to the other, then sharply at Bill Burke, who promptly disclaimed all responsibility for this with an outward, upward fling of his hands.

Drona Rose, laughing dolefully again. "In just a few minutes Jimmy. I could have dinner with you tomorrow night, Mr. Wyndham; that is, if you really think you want to waste your time on me. I know you have other people who'd be worthier of you....."

"Nonsense," he cried, beaming. "Nonsense. Tomorrow will be splendid. Shall I come at six?"

"Yea, that'll give me time to get to the theater."

Now that he'd got what he'd wanted Mr. Wyndham was jovial. He shook hands with Jimmy again, smote Bill Burke in comrade fashion on the back and even beamed at the butler who arrived from out of the nowhere by a sixth sense to open the door for him. Jimmy considered the rug a second, then snorted.

"A pompous dope!"

"Mr. Wyndham is a brilliant man, Mr. Kennedy," contradicted Bill Burke. "He is one of Hollywood's more important producers."

"Then Hollywood must be filled with dopes. Nothing fancy, cherub," he called as Drona started for the bedroom. "We're going rowing in the Central Park after lunch."

"Indeed?" Bill's eyebrows came together. He excused himself hastily and went into the bedroom after Drona. He found her standing thoughtfully at the window, looking down at the traffic in the street.

"Well, are you pleased with yourself?" he shot out savagely. "You could have had a contract just like that, if you'd been smart. Why can't you be clever just once?"

"Maybe I should try to be." She turned, hands working nervously with the belt of her flaming housecoat. The patches which had been under her eyes were scarcely in evidence now.

"If I was clever then you wouldn't have to be."

"Go on," he barked.

"Bill I know what you were thinking back there when Mr. Wyndham said I should really become a woman who leads men to destruction. Maybe I ain't clever, but my eyes are good."

"Well, why shouldn't we use Jimmy?" he countered. "I'd say he's perfect. I always like to get back at those dashing wolves, anyway."

"He got suspended because of us, remember?"

"Because he had the nerve to get fresh with you. Don't forget that, Drona. We wouldn't even know him had he not got fresh. Well, let him take what's coming to him."

"Mind, I'm not saying that he hasn't a lot coming to him. The way he's treating Sally—yeah, and that Helen dame. Only I don't want to be the gal who gives it to him, Bill."

"Holy smoke, don't tell me you have fallen for him!"

"Nuts, chum, I don't fall for no man, but I'm not a heel, see?"

"You want to be a star, don't you?"

"Sure, but why smash a guy's career? There must be other ways."

"Then I walk out. Fast." He became excited. "Didn't I tell you that this guy would put you back on the East Side? Maybe you haven't fallen for him, but you certainly give a darn good imitation of a girl in love."

"You mean you'd leave me flat?" It was apparent that just the thought of his doing that was tormenting her.

"You generally get your way."

"And because I do you're practically on top."

"Oh, all right....."

Bill smiled and went back to the living room. Jimmy, seated at the concert piano, was playing lightly, a far-away expression on his face. He looked up as Bill took a chair, and nodded.

"Fireworks over?"

"No fireworks, Kennedy. Drona and I get along remarkably well."

"A nice kid, Drona, even if she did bust me one on the head."

"Utter nonsense!" his grandfather had flared when Philip had finally got the courage to tell him. "It is buck fever, nothing more. All men become frightened before they marry. But you'll get over it."

"I don't love her, Grandfather."

"Nonsense. Catherine is a fine girl. Sweet, kind, considerate, beautiful."

"So is Sally Alliston."

"A servant's daughter."

"The servant is a good one isn't that something in her favor?"

Questions and ? Answers

Readers may direct their questions, giving their names and address and mentioning the name of this paper to Information Branch, WPTB, 490 Sussex Street, Ottawa, Ont.

Q. I would like to know if my grocer was right in charging me 21c for a pound of lard? Where only recently he charged me 20c.

A. Yes. Your grocer was quite correct in charging 21c per lb. as this is the ceiling price.

Q. The other day I went into a store to buy some liquid wax. I was amazed to find that a container previously priced at 59c had increased to 63c and the size which formerly sold at 98c had gone up to $1.09. Is there no ceiling price on this wax?

A. The ceiling price on liquid wax has been suspended by the Prices Board. When price ceilings were taken off this along with many other commodities, the Board announced that if any undue price increases occurred that they would reimpose ceiling prices.

Q. I am expecting a baby in September. Will the baby's ration book contain rationing sugar coupons?

... If you apply for a new ration book on or before October 31 the book will contain this year's allotment of rationing sugar coupons.

Q. Where can I send some extra meat ration coupons which I do not use?

A. As you live in Ottawa you may mail them in a carefully sealed envelope to the local ration board, 50 Elgin Street.

Q. My son is being discharged from the Airforce next month and I am told he is not eligible for a suit priority certificate. Is there any way he can obtain a suit of clothes immediately?

A. You have been misinformed..... your son will be given a priority certificate for the purchase of a suit of civilian clothes. These permits are being issued up to October 31 of this year and must be honoured by retailers until the end of the year.

40 Days Dry Says Legend

If old superstitions are to be believed rainfall in this district during the summer months will be scarce. Why? Monday was St. Swithin's Day and according to legend and superstition, if it rains on that day, it will continue to rain for 40 days. Weather forecasts indicate "fair and warmer" although it did rain heavily Sunday with beneficial effect on crops in the district.

Basis for the superstition goes back to early English monks, and is believed to result from the death of Saint Swithin in 862. Bishop of Winchester Cathedral, England, he was adviser to Egbert and tutor to his son, Ethelwulf, who, on his accession in 852, made him Bishop.

Arranging burial of the respected Saint in the churchyard of Winchester monks conducted the service, but later in the year 971 decided to place the remains in the newly-erected cathedral. Here the superstition gets its origin. In the operation, taking the remains from the grave to the Cathedral, the monks were delayed 40 days. It rained on the date they proposed the removal, and continued with a downpour intermittently during the following 40 days.

Entered Into Rest

MRS. SAMANTHA SMITH
Mrs. Samantha Smith, widow of William Smith, Holloway, died in the Belleville General Hospital late Friday afternoon after an illness of a few weeks.

Born at Holloway seventy-five years ago the late Mrs. Smith was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Prest. All her life was passed in the district where she was born. She was a member of the Sidney Baptist Church.

Surviving her are four sons, Carl Smith of Rochester, N.Y.; Daniel Smith, of Holloway; Roy Smith of Ameliasburg township, and Ralph Smith at home. Her husband died about a year ago.

The funeral took place from her late residence at Holloway on Monday afternoon. The service there and at Guffin's cemetery was conducted by Miss Olive Phippen of the Sidney Baptist Church.

The bearers were Clayton Prest, Leonard Prest, Charles Prest, John Prest, Nathan Reid and Fred Carter.

FUNERAL OF MRS. ABIGAIL BURRELL

On Friday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. Abigail (Seeley) Burrell, wife of Mr. Robert Edgar Burrell, took place from her late residence in Stirling to the Standard Church at Ivanhoe where service was conducted by the Rev. George Kelly of the Standard Church, Madoc, assisted by the Rev. R. A. Hawley, of the Standard Church, Forester's Falls and the Rev. Lyl Elliott of the Ivanhoe Standard Church.

Interment took place at White Lake Cemetery. The bearers were Arthur Juby, Hamilton Donnan, Thomas McGee, Arthur Rogers, Hugh McMillan and Albert McMillan.

In Hymen's Bonds

MEIKLEJOHN-BRESEE

A pink and white arch, flowers and ferns formed the setting in the United Church, Salem, for the wedding of Morjorie Eileen Bresee, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bresee, to Rev. Grant Meiklejohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Meiklejohn of Campbellford. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. F. Townsend, of Deseronto, and the wedding music was played by the bride's brother, Mr. Claire Bresee.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was a lovely figure in her floor length gown of white silk bengaline, with full net skirt, deep net yoke, sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her embroidered finger tip veil was caught with lily-of-the-valley and orange blossoms from her mother's wedding veil. She carried a circle of American Beauty roses. Her only ornament was a gold heart-shaped locket and bracelet, gifts of the groom. Mrs. Stanley Norris, sister of the bride, wearing a white sheer floor-length gown with deep inserts of lace, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, was matron of honor. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Doreen Bresee, sister of the bride wearing a floor-length gown of pink sheer, and carrying Talisman roses, was bridesmaid. Both attendants wore waist-length veils held in place by coronets, trimmed with flowers. The pretty little flower girl was Lenore Montgomery, niece of the bride, gown in blue sheer and carrying a nosegay of sweetpeas.

Mr. Granville Meiklejohn, brother of the groom, was best man and the ushers were Cardwell Bresee, brother of the bride, and Ray Fry, brother-in-law of the groom. During the signing of the register Mrs. T. F. Townsend sang "O Perfect Love."

Following the ceremony the happy couple were greeted by many relatives and friends and showered with best wishes and confetti.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Mrs. Bresee received the guests wearing a mauve suit and a corsage of talisman roses. Mrs. Meiklejohn, mother of the groom, was attired in a dusky rose ensemble and wore a corsage of pink and blue sweetpeas.

Luncheon was served on the spacious lawn to about 50 guests. The bride's table, covered by the bride's own embroidered Irish linen cloth, was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake. Rev. T. F. Townsend proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom replied. The groom's father and brother also made appropriate remarks.

For travelling the bride donned a pink silk Jersey dress, white accessories and a blue shorty coat. Following a honeymoon through Yellowstone Park, the couple will make their home at Coleville, Sask. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

Northumberland School Wins Contest

The school of S.S. No. 23, Haldimand Township, in Northumberland County, of which Miss Isabel Campbell, R.R. 5, Cobourg has been awarded first place and the J. E. Carter Trophy in the annual competition sponsored by the Ontario Horticultural Association for the improvement of rural school grounds. This is announced by J. A. Carroll, superintendent of the Agricultural and Horticultural Societies Branch of the Department of agriculture. Interest in the competition, this year was very great, with 291 schools entering in local competitions the winners of which were eligible for the Provincial award. Mrs. D. A. Gillies, of Arnprior, President of the Ontario Horticultural Association, who is an enthusiast for beautification of school grounds, took a very keen interest in the competition, which was judged by John F. Clark, lecturer of the Association.

Coming in second place and winning the Hon. P. M. Dewan Trophy, is S.S. No. 1, Hamilton township, Durham and Northumberland, with Miss Helen Davey as teacher. Third place and the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., award, goes to S.S. No. 13 Cornwall Township, Stormont County. Keith Steven, Northfield Station is teacher of this school. Fourth prize and another award from the T. Eaton Company, goes to S.S. No. 9, West Mississauga, Middlesex County, where the teacher is Miss Ruby M. Perkin, Ettrick, Ontario.

Churchill On Language Question

Sometimes we hear protests in Canada about the fact that the people of Quebec speak French and do not speak English, at least not as readily as we do.

When Canada was conquered by the English, the French were allowed to retain their own language. Many years later when the British conquered the Transvaal in South Africa and took over that area they guaranteed to the Dutch the free use of their language so that in the Parliament of South Africa both languages are used. In 1906 Winston Churchill spoke on this question in the British House of Commons.

It is interesting, now, to see what he thought of a dual language. At the time of which I write he was speaking in the British House of Commons on the new Constitution of the Transvaal which shortly before had been occupied by the British forces. In the course of his remarks he used these words in regard to the language question:

"The recognition of their language is precious to a small people. I have never been able to work myself into a passion because there are in parts of South Africa Dutch people who wish to have Dutch teachers to teach Dutch children Dutch. I have not so poor an opinion of the English language, with its priceless literary treasures and its world-wide business connections, as not to believe that it can safely be exposed to the open competition of a dialect like the Taal. Therefore we have decided to follow the Cape practice and allow the members of the Transvaal Parliament to address that Assembly indifferently in Dutch or English."

He followed here a British tradition. "Magnanimity is not seldom the wisest course in statesmanship and great empires and little minds go ill together." These were the words of Burke in reference to relations with the American colonies one hundred and seventy years ago. They are still valid, not only in matters of language but in other ways as well.—H.G.N. in Canadian Countryman.

CANADIAN RED CROSS CORPS MEMBER RECEIVES BRITISH EMPIRE MEDAL

Mrs. F. O. Evans, of Toronto, Chairman of the Ontario Corps Committee, Canadian Red Cross Society, today announced that Miss Muriel Edith Robinson has been awarded the British Empire Medal, in recognition of services at Tilbury Docks where she was in charge of 35 ambulances conveying wounded to hospital. Miss Robinson is well known in Toronto, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robinson, 774 Third Avenue, Niagara Falls. She went overseas with the Corps for more than a year and a half, and for part of that time served on loan to the British Red Cross.

It was only recently that the honor became known, for in the official list, her address was given as England.

Has Voted Both Ways

In reference to his political career, Mr. Lott disagreed with the popular belief that he was a hard boiled "grit". Yet I will say that I have voted both ways oftener than anyone in this gathering.

Mr. Lott recalled his entry into municipal government back in 1895. He had defeated his opponent, the late James McComb, for the position as deputy reeve by a majority of 127, when that gentleman ordinarily gained a majority of approximately 300 votes. Mr. Lott stated he had held the position until he resigned to run for the provincial legislature.

It was a purely non-political gathering which assembled to pay homage to Mr. Lott, with stalwarts of both Liberal and Conservative parties joining hands to pay him tribute. Sportsmen friends were there in force to recall happy days in the hunting camp while members of the bee-keeping association were on hand to pay tribute to their former associate.
